For Strike

Postal Curb Today

OTTAWA (CP)—The post office department has announced an embargo on all first-class mail for out-of-town destinations effective at 5 p.m. local time today.

In an announcement Monday, the department said that in view of the nationwide postal strike threatened for 2 a.m. PDT Thursday, embargoes will go into effect today on all classes of mail.

The embargo on second, third and fourth class mail is effective at noon local time, five hours earlier than the first-class embargo.

Second, third and fourth class mail consists mainly of newspapers, magazines, other printed matter, and parcel post. The embargo on newspapers will not be imposed until 5 p.m. local time.

"As the embargoes will affect mail to and from other countries, as well as Canadian mail, arrangements will be made with other postal administrations for the necessary co-operation in the curtailment of their despatches to Canada," the statement said.

Cox Victor In Oak Bay

By JOHN MATTERS

Mr. Cox won easily over Social Crediter Peter Pollen and Mrs. Myra Yarwood, the NDP's entry.

The results of the byelection in the urban riding did not alter its political allegiance of the past 16 years.

The premier, whose capital residence is in the riding, called on Oak Bay voters during the campaign to at last send someone to the legislature who would not be a government critic. The response was clearly negative.

WIDER MARGIN

His predecessor, Alan Macfarlane, who resigned the seat for an appointment to the British Columbia Supreme Court, was elected with a majority of 54 per cent in the September, 1966, provincial election.

"I'm either two years behind my time or two years ahead of it," said Mr. Pollen, who reiterated a statement he made frequently during the campaign — the Liberals could fragment the political right and thus help bring into being an NDP government.

EVOLUTION BELIEF

"I believe in evolution rather than revolution. It will be an unstable political scene in B.C. if the trend continues."

Mr. Pollen also criticized The Daily Colonist for not involving itself in the byelection "in the depth you should have." The newspaper published only one editorial on the topic and "I think a responsible newspaper should have got much deeper into the thing but you weren't into it at all."

NET RESULT

Mr. Cox said the results showed the people of Oak Bay and North Vancouver-Capilano ridings were not accepting Premier Bennett's invitation to add to the government's Legislature strength.

"The Liberal support seems to be increasing," said the 40-year-old corporation lawyer, who resigned as Oak Bay's reeve last December.

Mrs. Yarwood said Mr. Cox's victory, even from the early returns, appeared undisputed. In the 1966 provincial election, she received 976 votes.

TWO OTHERS

She had hoped for more support this time but "that will have to wait until the next election."

The Oak Bay byelection, like the two others on the Mainland, had scarcely any momentum until after the June 25 federal

'Government Remains Strong'

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

The Liberals and New Democratic Party beat back a determined bid by Premier Bennett Monday night to win at least one of three provincial byelections — making the government score none for four at the polls so far in 1968.

The closest race was in Revelstoke-Slocan where William King won a narrow victory for the NDP. Liberals Allan Cox in Oak Bay and David Brousson in North Vancouver Capilano won handily to retain these two for their party.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in a telephone interview from Revelstoke, said when Monday's voting was considered together with the NDP victory in the Vancouver South seat previously held by the government last May 21, it spells major trouble for Social Credit.

STILL STRONG

Premier Bennett, speaking from Kelowna, said the government remains strong with 32 seats in the 55-seat legislature to 17 for the NDP and six for the Liberals. He noted the NDP made a poor showing in both urban ridings where Social Credit ran second to the Liberals and in Revestoke-Slocan the New Democrat won by only a narrow margin.

The premier repeated his earlier statement that there would be no provincial general election in 1968 and added that he felt such a statement added stability to the province. He said he knew of no further provincial byelections that might be coming up.

FURTHER PROOF

A spokesman for the leaderless Liberal party, Allan Williams, MLA for West Vancouver Howe Sound, said Monday night's results were further proof of the resurgence of Liberalism in B.C.

In both Oak Bay and North Vancouver, though admittedly Liberal strongholds, Social

WHITEHORSE, Yukon (CP) — Progressive Conservative Erik Nielsen retained his Yukon seat after votes were officially counted Monday—but his lead was narrowed by eight votes to 63. Nielsen had 3,111 votes compared with 3,048 for Liberal Chris Findlay, who said he will ask for a recount.

Out of Warsaw Summit

Red Letter Day for Prague

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four of its East European allies wound up a summit meeting here Monday by drafting a letter to their Czechoslovak counterparts, whose liberal movement has caused them concern.

The Polish news agency PAP announced the formulation of the letter to Prague without disclosing what it said.

However the participants—from the Soviet Union, Poland, Bulgaria, Hungary and East Germany—had publicly expressed fear that the Czechoslovak party leadership was losing control of the democratization process.

TELEVISION ADDRESS

(In Bucharest, the Romanian news agency Agerpress carried a report of a speech by party leader Nicolai Ceausescu in which he endorsed the Czechoslovakian liberalization drive, wishing the Czechs "all success from the bottom of our hearts." Ceausescu said there could be no justification for intervention "to bring Czechoslovakia on a particular Socialist road.")

TROOPS CAUSE CONCERN

The continued presence of these troops—part of 5,000 Russians committed to the manoeuvres—had caused concern among some Czechoslovaks.

The troops began leaving Saturday, but then the movement halted. Official Czechoslovak news media said the interruption was because of heavy weekend traffic. But the delay

Talks Break Off, Walkout Certain

OTTAWA (CP) — Efforts to prevent a nationwide postal strike Thursday appeared doomed early today when government negotiators broke off last-minute bargaining talks through the services of a mediator with union officials.

A government spokesman told reporters that treasury board representative will return to their suite at a midtown hotel later today to resume efforts to avert what now seems an almost certain countrywide walkout at 2 a.m. PDT Thursday.

These were the developments in the dispute Monday:

● Judge Rene Lippe, a crack labor mediator, re-entered the dispute as the personal representative of Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board.

● The 24,000-member Council of Postal Union and treasury board, which represents the government, sent their negotiators to separate rooms at the Skyline Hotel to allow Judge Lippe to flit between the parties in an effort to resolve their differences.

Bill Paying Pedestrian Affair

Runners, Wires Carry Load

Victorians will have to play the postal strike by ear if it comes to pass, according to information gathered Monday by the Colonist.

At least one bank has stopped sending mail to customers. Urgent information will have to be phoned. Bank-to-bank mail will be handled by bank messengers.

Businesses which have accounts payable in other towns may arrange for customers to make deposits in branch banks. The banks can then transfer the money by phone or by wire.

A CPR telegraph spokesman said business would probably double.

"It did during the 1965 strike," he said. "Of course we're very busy right now since we took over CN telegraph business here on June 1."

Other businessmen said they would just have to wait and see what happened.

"We'll probably have to play it by ear," said Gordon Dunaway of A. W. Jones Insurance Service Ltd. "It's a case of goodwill. We'll do our best to make sure people with new automobile insurance policies are looked after. We're not expecting any problems."

A lot of people are going to be taking to their feet to pay bills they usually mail.

Water bills are out for this month, Victoria city comptroller James Bradley said Monday. If the strike goes on, he said residents would be expected to bring their payments to city hall. If this isn't possible, water won't be cut off, he said.

B.C. Hydro and B.C. Telephone bills can be paid at their offices and at pay stations in various stores.

Pearson's Cabinet Leaked 'Like Sieve'

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., (CP) — Secret information leaked from former Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet "like a sieve," Judy LaMarsh said in an interview Monday.

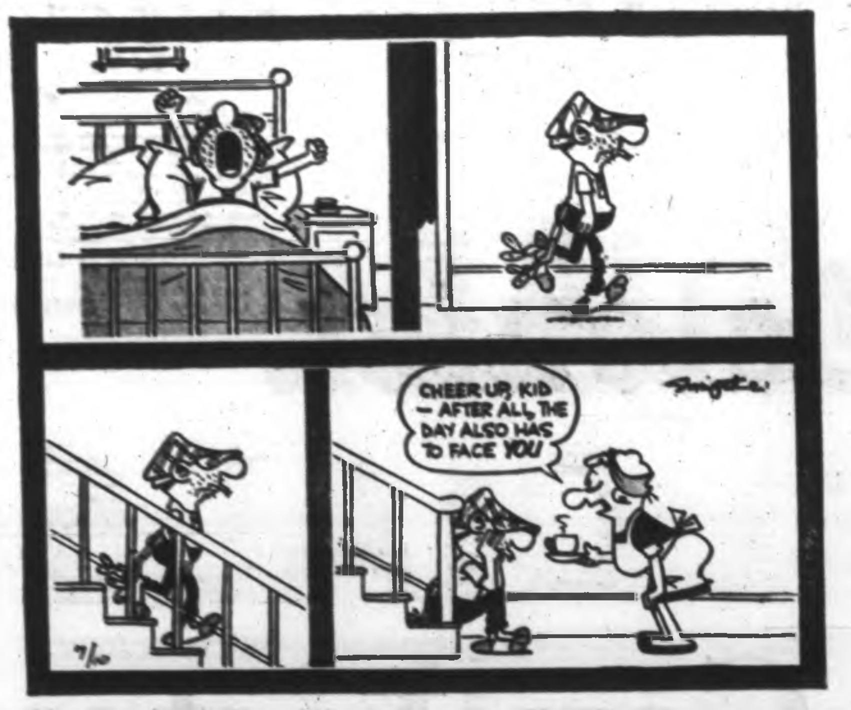

Miss LaMarsh, former Liberal secretary of state, said cabinet members were afraid to speak frankly at meetings, lest their views became known to newspapers.

At one point, it was suggested the RCMP be called in to plug the leaks, she said.

She said she supports a warning by Prime Minister Trudeau to his cabinet ministers that leaks to the news media will not be tolerated.

election. That gave the campaigners only three weeks.

Mr. Cox won at each of the 82 polls except the one at the Veterans' Hospital. There, the count was 28 for Mr. Pollen, 23 for Mr. Cox and 13 for Mrs. Yarwood.

NOT ONE

Polling Division 22, which generally was the Uplands, did not return Mrs. Yarwood a single vote.

The turnout at the 32 polling stations was far below that of the 1966 election. On Monday, 59.5 per cent of the 22,526 eligible voters went to the polls, compared with a turnout of 76.83 per cent in the previous election.

Compared to that of his Social Credit opponent, Mr. Cox ran a quiet campaign that was directed more at the premier and what he called the "big green machine" than at any single aspect of the government.

MONEY SENT

He claimed Mr. Bennett sent money and troops into the riding to capture it for Social Credit.

Mr. Pollen denied suggestions of massive support from the outside. But he put on one of the most vigorous mailing and sign campaigns of any election in the area.

Mr. Pollen also raised most of the policy issues and had the support of such well-known figures as George Chatterton, who was defeated as Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal election.

Talks Broken

The key wage issue was expected to get a thorough airing for the first time in the dispute. Negotiations between the parties, which began about Feb. 1 and broke off April 24, never touched wages.

The council applied for establishment of a conciliation board. It was appointed and submitted a 10,000-word report Wednesday that made no wage rejected it and called a strike recommendation. The council for 2 a.m. PDT. Thursday.

Adding urgency to Monday's talks was a statement by postal union leaders that it will take at least two days, possibly three, to call off the strike if a settlement is reached.

The council would have to telegraph its locals, of which there are some 400, with the settlement package. The locals would conduct secret-ballot votes on acceptance or rejection and the results would be telegraphed back here and the totals tallied.

The council has been seeking a flat 75-cent-an-hour wage increase. Applied to postal clerks now earning a maximum of $2.75 an hour, this increase amounts to 27.2 per cent. Applied to all categories, the increase would range from 26.1 per cent to 39.1.

'UNREASONABLE'

The treasury board has branded the council's wage demands "unreasonable." It said in a statement Sunday that if the council accepted the conciliation board report and made "significant adjustment" to earlier wage and job classification demands, "the board will move quickly to wage negotiation."

As well as higher wages, the council is seeking improvement in working conditions.

NDP Rebels Introduce Informality

TORONTO (CP) — Precedent was established in the Ontario legislature Monday when a rebellion by nine members of the New Democratic Party led to approval for members taking off their jackets except on formal occasions.

The nine appeared after the luncheon recess in shirt sleeves, protesting that "actions, not dress," are important in conducting public business in the stifling-hot legislative chamber.

The members voted approval of a compromise proposed by John White (PC—London South) that shirt-sleeves be allowed when the legislature is in committee of the whole, but jackets be required on more formal occasions when the Speaker is in the chair and the mace is on the table.

Skipped Heartbeats Serious When Occurring Too Often

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: The other night I was frightened when my heart beat normally for about a minute, then gave a hard beat, and then skipped a beat.

This continued for about 20 minutes. I had experienced skipped beats before, but never that long.

Can this occur when one is extremely tired, or is it caused by gas, or by high blood pressure? — A.C.

These skipped beats, which actually are extra beats, or extra systoles, may or may not be serious. Ordinarily they are not, but if they continue, and especially if they increase in frequency, an examination and electrocardiogram are in order.

What happens is that the heart gives an extra beat, which is followed by a brief but noticeable pause. Instead of a regular thump, thump, thump, the heart goes thump, thump, thump and a short pause.

Being tired can cause it. So, certainly, can nerves. Excessive coffee, tea, or tobacco can do it. So can an overactive thyroid.

A change in position sometimes causes it. Certain stimulating drugs and high blood pressure also can be involved.

All some patients need is a reassurance — but the doctor cannot honestly reassure a patient until he has examined him and can say that in that particular case the irregularity is not the result of some faulty heart condition. For occasionally — not often, but occasionally — it is a sign that the heart needs attention.

If the periods of extra beats increase in frequency or duration, see your physician.

There's one curious fact that often shows up: these attacks are more likely to occur when you are at rest, and disappear when you are active.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is 83 and when he smells strong odors such as paint, gasoline, shoe polish, and so on, he says it makes him sick. He thinks it affects his lungs. I would appreciate your view on the subject. — Mrs. D.E.

Call it an eccentricity. Odors do bother some people, but merely the smell — as opposed to deep inhalation of fumes — of such substances is not harmful. The best suggestion I can make is to try to reassure him that his lungs are not being harmed.

I would suspect that somehow he has acquired such a fear, and what he really needs is to be gently told — probably repeatedly — that the odors can't hurt him.

Liberals Take Two Seats, NDP One

Credit mounted major campaigns and put up outstanding candidates, yet had still lost by a larger margin than in the 1966 provincial general election, said Mr. Williams.

'OUT OF TOUCH'

"The provincial Liberal organization takes this as a rejection of the premier and his policies and a clear indication that this Social Credit government is out of touch with the voting public," he said.

The urban Oak Bay and North Vancouver ridings were won by the Liberals by larger margins than in 1966. Mr. Brousson, a 48-year-old electrical engineer, had a majority of 2,474 over his closest opponent, Socred Peter Robinson, whereas former provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault won North Vancouver-Capilano in 1966 by 2,450.

BIG SPREAD

In Oak Bay, Mr. Cox built up the largest winning margin—3,205 votes—ever recorded in the riding since its formation in 1941. He polled 7,877 votes, compared to 4,671 for Socred candidate Peter Pollen.

In Revelstoke-Slocan, 38-year-old locomotive fireman, Mr. King, had 2,432 votes to Socred Burton Campbell's 2,267, a margin of 165 votes after 55 of 59 polls had been counted. An upset appeared unlikely because the outstanding polls have few voters.

In 1966, Randolph Harding won the Interior riding by only 135 votes over the same Socred candidate.

GRIT WAKE

In the wake of the Liberal victories there was, inevitably, talk of a carryover of Trudeaumania. However, while the party increased its share of a smaller turnout of voters in Oak Bay and North Vancouver, it did little to improve its position in the Revelstoke riding.

This prompted Mr. Bennett to comment that the Liberals won "in two of their three little pockets of strength—the other one being in Point Grey." The Liberals have no strength in the rural areas and the NDP has proved once more it has a limited appeal to urban voters and by its narrow margin of victory left doubt in many minds that it can win in the interior.

BOUQUETS GIVEN

The premier congratulated the winners and said he didn't want to take anything away from them. He added: "I would liked to have won one seat but it's always difficult for the government to win byelections, particularly when they are held in opposition ridings."

Mr. Bennett said the byelection's results ensure that the legislature will be a good one "with a strong government and an opposition that should make itself heard." He added the only reason the opposition MLAs resigned these seats to create byelections was that they knew them to be safe.

Mr. Strachan, however, accused the premier of "most brutal" treatment of voters in all three constituencies where byelections were held Monday.

"The premier threatened voters in each of these ridings with dire consequences unless they supported Socred candidates," the NDP leader said. "This exposed the panic that is gripping this government.

'VERY CONFIDENT'

"I would say that today's byelection results, added to the Socred loss to the NDP in Vancouver South, indicated that in the next provincial general elections, when they have an opportunity to select a new government, more people than ever will vote against Social Credit."

Mr. Strachan said the election in Revelstoke-Slocan was an "up-and-down" struggle, hard fought throughout, which featured "tub-thumping by the premier that surpassed even the 1966 provincial general election campaign."

He added the premier had used language to describe the NDP which he termed "unbelievable" yet had failed in his attempt to prevent New Democrats from picking up one seat in the series of byelections.

Quebec's Leaders Downed by Health

With Premier Daniel Johnson, 53, already off the job recovering from a mild heart attack, acting premier Maurice Bellemare, 56, was admitted to hospital suffering from an internal hemorrhage.

However, Bellemare, labor minister in the Union Nationale government, said in an interview Monday that he will be out of hospital to preside at a cabinet meeting here Thursday.

A statement issued by Johnson's office said:

DENIES REPORT

Meanwhile, Premier Johnson's secretary, Paul Chouinard, denied a newspaper report that the premier underwent surgery for throat cancer last August.

"I can say with all firmness possible that there has never been any question of cancer."

Chouinard said in an interview.

Red Letter Day

was considered a new pressure on the new leadership in Prague.

In this connection, Maj.-Gen. Vaclav Prchlik, a top Czechoslovak defence offical, was quoted as saying during a Prague press conference restricted to Czechoslovak journalists that his country will seek a revision of the Warsaw pact that would prevent members from forming blocs within the alliance.

Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin attended the Warsaw conference, which was originally expected to end Sunday.

COMMON LETTER DIRECTED

A PAP communique said the delegates exchanged information "on the situation in their countries and the development of events in Czechoslovakia and directed a common letter to the Central Committee of the Communist party of Czechoslovakia."

They were reported to have "turned particular attention to the activization of aggressive imperialist forces aiming by subversion at undermining the Socialist (Communist) system in various countries and weakening the alliance ties linking Socialist states."

Although Czechoslovakia was not mentioned by name in this passage, it seemed certain that country was meant.

The communique said there was an exchange of views on the "most important problems of the international situation." The absence of a statement that there was agreement suggested there was some disagreement on the issues.

Politcial analysts speculated that Hungary, which has represented a softer line on the liberalization process in Czechoslovakia, may have opposed the tougher stands of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany and Bulgaria.

Coinciding with the end of the summit meeting, a top Czechoslovak defence official said on Prague television that the Soviet Union would delay by five more days the departure of a large contingent of its troops from Czechoslovakia, arriving at the Soviet border July 21 instead of July 16.

The Czech news agency had said earlier that Soviet units involved in Warsaw pact manoeuvres in Czechoslovakia last month resumed their departure during the night for Poland and East Germany.

Biafran Woes Grow

By REUTERS

A cloak-and-dagger operation in which plane-loads of food and medicine were smuggled into Biafra was disclosed Monday as politicians and churchmen in five countries spoke out on the plight of thousands of starving refugees in the breakaway Nigerian region.

In London, Christopher Mojekwu, Biafran home affairs minister, told a press conference that between 300 and 400 tons of food had reached Biafra in the last two or three weeks by flights from nearby islands.

"As I am speaking now, certain quantities of supplies — 10 to 20 tons—are getting into Biafra every night," he said.

Biafra was opposed to relief by land because it would involve trucks entering its territory, the minister added.

In Rome, sources close to the Roman Catholic relief agency Caritas said planes were flying nightly from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome to emergency air strips hacked out of the Biafran jungle.

The airlift likely will continue despite a federal Nigerian offer to open a highway mercy corridor for relief supplies, the sources said, because the Biafrans fear any food sent through Nigeria may be poisoned. One official said:

LIKE PHOBIA

The planes—Super-Constellations chartered from a private company operating from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome—have been flying every night to emergency air strips hacked out of the Biafran jungle, the sources said.

Caritas has smuggled about 315 tons of urgently-needed aid into Biafra since March, they added.

FEW NIGHTS

Shipments at first were spasmodic but for the last few nights two planeloads have been flying into Biafra every night.

Bishop Joseph Whelan, of Owerri, Biafra, chairman of the bishops welfare department, reports there are nearly 4,000,000 refugees in Biafra, including 1,800,000 Ibo tribesmen who fled from tribal clashes in the North two years ago.

"Help is being sent in from overseas but it is only a trickle in view of the huge numbers of refugees," another missionary said.

He said a recent consignment of salt from Caritas worked out at one cup for 10 refugees, just sufficient for a few days.

Caritas, founded in 1951 by national Roman Catholic relief agencies to co-ordinate their work, is not an official Vatican agency but it works closely with the Vatican. It also has sent relief supplies to Vietnamese and Middle East war refugees.

'Coffee' Talks Real

From AP-Reuters

A North Vietnamese spokesman agreed Monday that representatives of the United States and North Vietnam sometimes discuss "serious questions" at private coffee breaks in the formal sessions of the Paris peace talks.

U.S. officials hope that through these informal talks something may be accomplished to get the deadlocked talks moving.

NO PROGRESS

But the spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le, said "not one millimetre of progress" had been made at either informal or offical sessions of the negotiations, which began May 13. He also accused the U.S. of spreading false rumors of "rays of hope" regarding progress at informal session.

U.S. Ambassador Averell Harriman said in a televison interview released Saturday that "serious matters" were touched on during the breaks.

PULLED BACK

Meanwhile in Saigon, U.S. sources said red units had been pulled back from the Saigon area, apparently cancelling plans for a full-scale offensive allies had expected this week.

One highly-placed U.S. offical said there was "no immediate threat to Saigon," but added that the situation might change rapidly.

South Vietnamese intelligence had said the reds would attack Saigon anytime between Monday and Friday, but the U.S. source speculated "perhaps they are not ready."

TWO UNITS

"Either they are weak, our sweeps have been successful, they plan to attack at a later date, or it is a combination of all three," he said.

South Vietnamese sources said two North Vietnamese regiments evaded B-52 bombers and reached the Cambodian border after a 250-mile march from the central highlands.

Fast as Possible

THREE MONTHS ago the Canadian government announced its policies on the establishment of domestic space satellite communications. A government white paper released by Industry Minister Charles Drury proposed an immediate start on a $100,000,000 system that would make television, telephone and data communications available from coast to coast and into the far north. The policy paper was the result of several months of study by the government of a report prepared by a task force working under the science secretariat.

Immediate cannot be expected to mean today or even tomorrow in government, especially when an election intervenes. Nevertheless it is somewhat disturbing that since the white paper was issued, there apparently has been no progress in turning policies into plans. There may even have been some regression. This is the indication, at any rate, in Prime Minister Trudeau's declaration that Canada must enter the communications satellite field but that it is necessary to determine not only how far, but how fast. Answering these questions, he said at the weekend, will be the responsibility of the new communications minister, Mr. Eric Kierans.

The questions, one would have thought, were largely answered in the policy statement at the beginning of April. The paper called for a system involving two satellites in "parked" or seemingly stationary orbit over the Equator, relaying signals back to ground stations. Government and private industry would combine in the program in undetermined proportions, and Canada could have a domestic satellite system operating by 1971 or 1972, almost all of its components Canadian-made, although the satellites would have to be launched into orbit by the United States.

Thus "how far" seemed to have been spelled out except as to the precise degree of sophistication of the system and the exact nature of the government-private industry corporation to build and operate it. But "how fast" was even more clearly established.

The white paper, said a report at the time, "conveyed a strong sense of urgency on the whole question. It noted that there is limited space available for the satellite parking orbit that Canada needs over the Equator and that international regulation of frequencies and other communications matters tends to be on a first-come, first-served basis." Waiting, it also noted, would only help the further development of foreign industrial capability and "the prospect for later entry into the market diminishes rapidly with time."

In brief, Canada could miss the boat. Prime Minister Trudeau should not be wondering at this time how fast the program should be undertaken. As fast as possible is the obvious answer.

Hope for the Best

IF READERS are confused when they attempt to follow the course of events in Vietnam, the predictions and the military assessments, it is little wonder. It is very likely the authorities in Saigon and the United States headquarters there are equally baffled by conflicting reports from various intelligence sources.

Admittedly, the sifting and weighing of intelligence in all the circumstances must be most difficult. But what clouds the situation for the onlooker is the positive appraisal of one day's despatches followed so closely by a contradiction, and a complete reversal of appreciation by the same authority.

Sunday's summary of the situation warned of the approach of the biggest battle of the war, a concentrated attack on Saigon, already infiltrated by Viet Cong commandos, to coincide with the July 20 anniversary of the Geneva accord of 1954 which saw the French withdrawal from all Indochina.

The Associated Press correspondent in Saigon on Sunday reported 15 Viet Cong battalions within 15 miles of the capital and quoted "a highly placed South Vietnamese source" to the effect there are at least 1,000 guerrillas in the city. He noted confidently that the elements of four divisions had been able to penetrate the allied patrol and defensive ring, involving troops of nine divisions, and poise themselves for assault.

Radio Moscow, at the same time, was predicting a major attack on Saigon, between July 15 and 20.

Within hours, United States sources reported at least a partial withdrawal by some Communist units.

"They don't have the capability to attack except in a very small way," said an American spokesman. "There isn't any forward movement at all. Some elements of the major units have physically (sic) pulled back. It is not a general withdrawal. But if you are going to mount a major attack you don't pull back anybody."

And then the authority qualified this optimistic report by admitting the situation could change rapidly.

The United States Secretary of State Clark M. Clifford is in Saigon to make an assessment of the military situation. There is certainly no lack of information available. But what to accept or to reject, what to doubt or to judge with reservations poses a pretty problem.

The best advice in the circumstances is to prepare for the worst and hope for the best.

Positive Approach

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE at Kelowna wants to get rid of the word "pollution" from the name of the Okanagan Watershed Pollution Control Council. The businessmen of the city would rather have it called the water control council. Their reason is a good one, though it couldn't be approved if it were based on sham and deceit. The dirty word is harmful to the tourist trade.

In the south of the Okanagan the Osoyoos Times is similarly perturbed. Misleading reports on the coast and the prairies of lake pollution have had an adverse effect on tourist traffic, and "communities all up the valley are concerned with this adverse publicity and rightfully so. They feel that just because they have shown the initiative to try to protect their water from possible pollution they are running into this unfair publicity".

"Pollution control" suggests that pollution has already taken place or that a certain amount of it is permissible. Where the effort is to prevent pollution, the word could well be dropped from the names of responsible agencies. In fact, the positive approach, and one that should commend itself to the Okanagan Valley towns, would be to have a water purity council or a clean water council. Then the name would be not bad nor indifferent advertising, but good.

Trudeau Must Face a Formidable Battery When Stanfield Teams with Diefenbaker

ALTHOUGH Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau heads Canada's first majority government in six years, it could be he really won't know what he's up against until it hits him.

The hitting will come in Parliament and it could hurt.

Let all the opposition groups, Conservative, New Democrat, Creditiste, gang up against the government and the Liberals still have a 44-seat edge.

How much safer can a government get?

Not much, until you remember what a supposedly puny combined Opposition of only 57 Liberals and New Democrats did to former Conservative Prime Minister Diefenbaker's mightiest - power base of all governments, that 208-horde of Tory MPs who tidal-waved in from the 1958 election.

It can work both ways, as it did just the year previous, in the '57 election, who a combined Conservative-New Democrat-Creditiste Opposition of 95 upset the 170-seat-strong St. Laurent government and ended 22 unbroken years of Liberal power.

It's all up to the Opposition, and the secret weapon is the quality of its manpower.

The Opposition doesn't have to be large numerically — although it helps — but it must be good.

It must possess the instinct for the political jugular and the will to kill.

The election carnage of its potential frontbench talent was gruesome, with Mike Starr, Earl Brownridge, Dalton Camp, Roger Regimbal, Wallace McCutcheon, Alvin Hamilton, George Chatterton, Davie Fulton all slaughtered.

But Robert Stanfield easily survived the massacre and so did Dief.

And what a one-two wallop they could have together for socking it to Pierre.

The impact is in the contrast.

Robert Stanfield . . . quiet, reasonable, wedded always to the responsible, so full of calm, compelling integrity as to be able to erode the great inheritance of trust and affection left the Nova Scotia Liberals by the well-beloved Premier Angus L. Macdonald.

And John Diefenbaker . . . noisy, unreasonable, flirting often with the irresponsible, so full of wild, imperative excitement as to be able to topple the 22-year tower of Liberal power and hold its humbled occupants captive of fear of further disaster through 10 more years.

Between them, with their change of pace, they should be able to keep even the supposedly imperturbable Pierre off balance.

Being the sort of public person he presented on the shopping plazas — a theatrical performer, a kind of cross between an aging Steve McQueen and a youthful Charles Boyer—he romped through the frolic he made of the election campaign.

But the pressure cooker of the prime minister's office and of Parliament is no fun-place for play, neither being a motel swim pool nor supermarket kissing-mall.

The few times the new prime minister has appeared under anything approaching pressure, he has been edgy, brittle, prickly, even petulant.

Can you imagine what may happen as Impetuous Pierre has to sit there in the Commons, impatiently listening to Robert Stanfield, who can simply reek with rectitude, reading him a lecture?

Will he blow?

The old chief, more than ever the Mad Hatter since they stripped him — no, correction, skinned him—of his leadership, is rumbling about "illuminating," as he puts it, some of the corners of the prime minister's past he considered as "shadowed" if not altogether "dark."

You can almost hear the acid drip.

Elusive Client

Credit Card Is Nice, But Credit's Nicer

By FRANK LOWE

GERRY Gray, according to a sales pitch put out by a large credit card firm, is an account supervisor for a Toronto advertising agency. And the reason I know this is because this large credit card firm wanted to tell me the sad saga of Gerry Gray in order to convince me that I, too, should become a carrying member of their credit card clique.

Gerry, so the story goes, on his very first visit to a client forgot to carry any cash with him. The client wanted to be fed lunch. Gerry, to put it mildly, was embarrassed.

Now Gerry, so the sales pitch goes, would not be without this particular credit card which is honored in over 150,000 restaurants, hotels, motels, fine stores, car rental agencies, travel agencies and airline counters, in Canada and the U.S.A.

My reason for mentioning poor old Gerry Gray and the credit card pitch is that the entire sales letter is wrapped around the philosophy that today without a credit card a guy is little better than a bum. There is also the fact that this sales letter, directed personally to "Mr. Lowe," ended with this P.S., "If you've ever had an experience like Gerry Gray's I'd love to hear about it."

In other words, these people not only want me to join their credit card club. They also want me to contribute (for free) copy they can use in another sales pitch.

Well, for what it is worth, I have had experience even more terrifying than the one related by Gerry Gray.

One night, for instance, an old friend wanted to say a fleeting hello before he caught his plane. So we adjourned to a friendly bar in a friendly hotel which had given me its friendly credit card.

About 1 a.m. my friend had to leave to catch a 2 a.m. plane. He then confessed that he was in need of about $35 to pay cab fare to the airport, tips, cab fare from the airport to his home — you know, stuff like that.

So I took my friendly credit card to the cashier's desk in the friendly hotel and asked to cash a cheque for $35. The cashier shifted her gum from port to starboard and told me this was impossible. So I showed her my credit card — a special one, with all the correct marks on it.

Only $25 to a customer she said, stifling a yawn.

When I insisted, she said I would have to see the credit manager. "Of course," she added, "the credit manager isn't in at this hour."

With that I asked to borrow a pair of scissors. When the clerk gave me the scissors I carefully cut up my friendly credit card and asked her to make sure the credit manager, when he arrived, got the pieces. With my personal business card.

My friend was getting a little worried. "My plane," he kept saying. "It's leaving in 45 minutes. Why didn't you take the $25?"

"Never fear," I assured him. "I have something better than a credit card."

With that I led him to the entrance where the doorman in his Cossack-type uniform stood on guard. "Charlie," I said, "I need $35. Are you heavy tonight?"

Charlie handed over the $35. My friend got into a cab and left for the airport. I then told Charlie that if he could forward me another $10 I would buy him a drink — and then take a cab home myself.

As I said, credit cards might be nice. But real credit is nicer.

First World War: Fifty years ago today — in 1918 — French forces stood firm east of Reims as Germans advanced towards Epernay from the Marne in severe fighting on the Western Front; French and American troops regained the Marne heights. Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today — in 1943 — the Canadian 1st Division struck deep into central Sicily, capturing strategic towns of Caltagirone and Grammichele. Despite Tough Talk

Middle East Parley Nearer Achievement

By COLIN LEGUM from London

LAST week's talks in London involving the United Nations' special envoy in the Middle East, Mr. Gunnar Jarring, were sufficiently encouraging to suggest that some progress has been made at last towards negotiations to end the crisis left by last year's June war. However, no dramatic results from the talks are expected in the next few weeks.

Both the Jordanians and the Israelis have indicated that there is sufficient common ground for considering a return to the idea of talks between the two sides, with Mr. Jarring acting as the go-between along the lines actually agreed in early March.

The earlier negotiations came to nothing as a result of guerrilla activities and counter-measures along the Jordan-Israel frontier which involved the Jordanian and Israeli armies. Another factor was the tension over Israel's military parade in Jerusalem to celebrate the state's 20th anniversary.

As a result the hawks in the Jordanian government were able to deter King Hussein and his foreign minister Mr. A. Rifai, from exploring a possible detente with Israel over the occupied territory of the West Bank of the River Jordan.

Now Mr. Rifai's staff in London has given some encouragement to the hopes that contacts with the Israelis, through Mr. Jarring, might begin before too long. The Israeli director-general of foreign affairs, Mr. Gideon Rafael, who is also in London, saw Mr. Jarring July 9. The result of their talks helped to strengthen the feeling that the UN envoy might be making progress in getting the Jordanians and Israelis to sit down in the same capital — if not, at first, in the same conference room.

Mr. Jarring, however, is optimistically pressing forward with the idea of getting the Egyptians to come to talks at the same time. There is no reason for discouraging this idea because of the line taken by President Nasser during his Moscow visit last week, or because of the "corrections" put out by Cairo to the implications of the statement by the Egyptian foreign minister, Mr. Mahmoud Riad, that he recognized the "reality" of Israel's existence.

It is felt that just as the Israeli leaders need to talk toughly in public, so, too, the Arab leaders must reassure their public while at the same time discounting the propaganda of the more extreme centres in the Arab world about the possibility of a sell-out.

What matters most is what the Jordanians, Egyptians and the Israelis say in private to Mr. Jarring. His is the role of the bee which collects the pollen in the various Middle Eastern capitals and by spreading it around is able to produce a cross-fertilization of ideas.

Mr. Jarring, who is due to report back to the UN Security Council at the end of this month, is understandably anxious that he should be able to produce something positive before then. He may well be lucky.

Certainly, the Jarring mission has had a considerable shot in the arm from the Russians who, in recent talks with the UN envoy in Moscow, indicated in very clear terms their desire that his mission should not collapse.

This, too, is the hope of the British. Mr. Michael Stewart, the foreign secretary, is not playing any independent British role in the current talks in London. The fact that they are taking place here at all is fortuitous. It happened to suit the Jordanian foreign minister, who has been in Europe, to come to London for a rendezvous with Mr. Jarring. And once the Jordanian visit was arranged it was found convenient for Israel's Mr. Gideon Rafael to make the trip at the same time.

But the Israelis see no prospect of any decisive move being made in the near future — certainly not so far as the Egyptians are concerned. Their feelings about the possibility of getting talks started with the Jordanians through Mr. Jarring, are of modified confidence.

Mr. Jarring, who is very shy of meeting the press, is reported by those who have seen him in London as being "by no means in any despair" about the chances of his peace-making mission succeeding. However, those closest to the negotiations insist that because of the complexities and deep-seated difficulties of the problems of the Middle East, the process will necessarily be a slow one. As things now stand, it would be surprising if positive progress towards some kind of talks were not achieved before the end of this month.

Nuclear Plane Nearer

From The Oregonian

After Sunday's successful test flight of the giant new C5 Galaxy, the world's biggest airplane, officials of the U.S. Air Force and the Lockheed-Georgia Corporation told a New York Times reporter they now see "no technical limit to the size of airplanes."

It is intriguing to speculate on the meaning of that. There have been theoretical limitations on aircraft size, mostly because until quite recently we did not know how to build jet engines with enough power to push along anything as monstrous as the C5. Were they talking about even bigger engines for bigger planes? Or some new type of powerplant?

Work on a nuclear-powered aircraft was abandoned several years ago when, after the expenditure of a great deal of federal money, research scientists came to the conclusion that the weight of an airborne nuclear reactor with the necessary shielding would be so great that the plane needed to carry it would be impractically huge. But the C5, which weighs 750,000 pounds and can carry 200,000 pounds of cargo, comes pretty close to the million pounds it was thought the N-plane might weigh. Maybe we'll get it yet.

Doughnuts And Dollars

From The Oregonian

One bushel of wheat will make about 82 dozen doughnuts, says the Agri-Business Council. The retail value, at 69 cents a dozen, totals about $56. Of this, the farmer gets $1.75 to $1.80 for his bushel of wheat.

This shows how small a part of the consumer dollar the grower receives. Naturally he wants more and, if he got it, the cost of the finished bakery product would not be affected much.

But, just for fun, let's see what Oregon's prospective 30-million-bushel, pastry-type wheat crop, valued at $53 million in the raw, would be worth if converted entirely into doughnuts.

You'd have 2.46 billion dozen "fried cakes" worth an astronomical $1.576 billion.

Taxes on so large a sum would go far toward balancing the federal budget. There'd be a surplus of doughnuts for export and this would improve the balance of payments. Coffee growers in South and Central America would prosper from the demand for brew in which to dunk.

Unfortunately such figuring, like doughnuts, is full of holes. The farmer still wouldn't get any bigger dab of the consumer dough unless farm wives baked the doughnuts themselves in great vats of fresh lard. This is mouth-watering but hardly practical thought.

Futility of War

History's Fearful Lesson

From the Montreal Star

THE return of Iwo Jima to Japan after 23 years of United States occupation is more than a symbolic gesture of friendship between two former enemies; it is a reminder of the futility of war.

One of the best fortified of all outlying Japanese defences, this eight-square-mile volcanic island was highly prized by U.S. military strategists as a staging point for fighter planes escorting B-29 bombers to Japan, and for the psychological effect its fall might have on the enemy. Thus in February, 1945, the Americans landed and for the next 36 days engaged the dedicated Japanese defenders in the bloodiest of all Pacific battles of the war. By the time the few Japanese survivors were taken prisoner, the two sides had lost an estimated 27,000 men.

Now the island has been handed back in a simple ceremony; and it is not to denigrate the valor of those of both sides who died on that lonely outpost that we ask in retrospect whether any piece of real estate is worth such a toll. The Stars and Stripes has been replaced by the Rising Sun, and the Japanese hope to restore agriculture and fishing to the island. They might well leave it untouched as a grim monument to all war. It would be particularly appropriate at a time when hundreds of thousands of other men have been committed to questionable battle on the Asian mainland itself.

Iwo Jima may be the stuff of which unsung heros are made; but one Iwo Jima should be enough to convince even the most loyal of men that no nation's pride is worth such a price in human lives.

Russian-backed Workers' Militia Spearhead of Anti-liberalization Forces

Courageous Czechs Fearful of Reprisals

By EDWIN ROTH, from Prague
Special to the Colonist

"In recent months, we have learned not to be afraid any more," a Czech journalist told me proudly.

This courage has not been lacking in freedom-loving Czechoslovakia since the sensational and historic liberalization began early this year. But now, under open Russian threats that this liberalization might be ended by Russian military force, fear has returned to Czechoslovakia.

Since June, the people of Czechoslovakia still triumphantly enjoying freedom of speech and press freedom for the first time since 1948, have been subjected to a terrible war of nerves from Russia. They are pressured, threatened, intimidated, and blackmailed.

Russian troops entered Czechoslovakia "for Warsaw Pact manoeuvres" — and the Russian government deliberately created terror by refusing to withdraw them at the agreed time.

Journalists, politicians, and others publicly fighting for liberalization and democratization are receiving vicious anonymous letters which threaten them with horrible revenge after the "conservative" Communists take power again with the Russian army's help.

All this has had a terrorizing effect. Despite the courage of those fighting for liberalization and even for the restoration of full democracy, Prague today is a city of fear.

This mixture of courage and fear is unique — and immensely moving.

The war of nerves now being fought by Russia against little Czechoslovakia is similar to the war of nerves which Adolf Hitler's Germany fought against Czechoslovakia 30 years ago.

Many people with whom I have talked in Prague, including idealistic Socialists and even Communists, have said to me: "Please write how much we love freedom. And please don't identify me, because if the Russians put the old regime back, I might be imprisoned and even killed."

In Czechoslovakia today, the political terms "liberal" and "conservative" have special meanings. No one who does not know these meanings could begin to understand what is happening in Czechoslovakia — which is a tremendously significant historic development.

★ ★ ★

The liberals, led by the Communist party's 45-year-old new party secretary Alexander Dubcek, a Slovak, support (and fight for) liberalization, freedom of speech,

Novotny

Dubcek

complete press freedom, and the abolition of all totalitarianism.

Opposing them are the conservatives who want the return of rigid Communist censorship, strictest Communist political controls, and unconditional obedience to Russia because they personally benefited from the totalitarian system — or because they fear that increasing democracy would get them removed from their jobs. They are supported by the enormous Russian pressures.

Antonin Novotny, the 63-year-old former Stalinist dictator, who was thrown out by Dubcek from his job as party secretary in January, and as president of Czechoslovakia in March, is the conservatives' leading political figure.

But much more important than Novotny is the conservatives' own armed force — the well-armed, well-trained workers' militia consisting of specially privileged Communist factory workers.

The members of this privileged workers' militia, which Dubcek has not dared to dissolve, have neither forgotten nor forgiven that when they arrived in their uniforms with their weapons on May 1 for Prague's Communist May Day parade, hostile crowds prevented them from marching.

For the first time since 1948, the Prague May Day parade was held without the workers' militia. Instead, it became a festival of liberation, in which even American and British flags were carried — while Dubcek was cheered and kissed by deliriously happy crowds.

The (until now) completely bloodless Czechoslovak revolution which put Dubcek in power and has given Czechoslovakia political and personal freedoms which never before existed in any Communist state, is a revolution of journalists, authors, artists, students, scientists and other university graduates, technicians — and former political prisoners of the Novotny terror dictatorship.

Its most active leaders were and are the journalists of press, television, and radio, who have completely restored press freedom, and have exposed in all gruesome details what 20 years of terror have meant.

Throughout this year, the Czechs and Slovaks (Czechoslovakia has 14,000,000 citizens) have read in their own newspapers or seen and heard on their own TV and radio, how during the past 20 years in their small state more than 160 people were hanged for so-called political crimes — many of them after "confessions" obtained through torture supervised by Russian torture experts.

Since 1948, more than 130,000 Czechoslovaks were imprisoned for so-called political crimes. Altogether more than 1,000,000 people were personally harmed by the terror.

But under the terror systems, untalented and mediocre people could become executives in Czechoslovakia's civil service, nationalized industry and commerce only by "good" Communist political records.

The workers were given special advantages over the middle class. These are today's "conservatives" — and they knew they have Russian support.

★ ★ ★

Russia's press, TV, and radio are telling the Russian people, and the Russian radio broadcasts in Czech and Slovak to Czechoslovakia, that the Czechoslovak workers' militia guard Communism against the anti-Communist forces threatening it.

According to Russia's propaganda, Russian workers and farmers have held many meetings from which they sent messages of support to the Czechoslovak workers' militia.

The worst threat from Russia against Dubcek and his liberal supporters was an immensely menacing article in the Russian Communist party newspaper Pravda, accusing them of tactics even more treasonable than those of the rebels in the 1956 Hungarian uprising.

This Pravda article, which is in fact a Russian government statement, threatened that Russia and Czechoslovakia's other Communist neighbors are keeping a vigilant watch on Czechoslovak "counter-revolutionary" developments.

In most hostile and violent language, Pravda attacked "those forces who, under the cover of talk about "liberalization' and 'democratization are trying to discredit the Communist party of Czechoslovakia, and to subvert the friendship of the Czechoslovak people with the peoples of fraternal socialist countries."

Deliberately reminding the Czechoslovaks of what happened to Hungary in 1956, Pravda threatened: "The peoples of the Soviet Union and of other socialist countries clearly realize that the actions of certain anti-socialist forces can inflict serious damage to the further successful development of fraternal Czechoslovakia."

The meaning is very clear.

★ ★ ★

Those who are fighting for Czechoslovakia's liberalization are now very frightened.

An immensely moving love for the precious regained freedom and the courage to defend it is mixed with the nightmare horror that the Russians might impose a dictatorship again.

I believe the liberals would fight for freedom. But they know that if the conservative Communists and their workers' militia — backed by Russian military force — would take power again and re-establish a tyrannical police state, those Czechs and Slovaks who love freedom would be alone.

Exactly as alone as Czechoslovakia was when Hitler's Germany occupied it in March 1939. And exactly as alone as the Hungarians were in 1956.

Paris Negotiators Hold Trump Cards

North Vietnam Playing for Time

By JOSEPH KRAFT, from Paris

The Vietnamese peace negotiations here have so far been a piece of cake for the United States. But the optimistic talk out of Washington about a settlement being in sight is about as realistic as the old talk about a victory in the war being in sight.

Long conversations with high-ranking members of the North Vietnamese delegations make it plain they are working against a strategic background and timetable that does not promise an early or easy settlement.

The North Vietnamese, while not unmindful of recent propaganda gains made by the United States, have plenty of assets left, and they are prepared to bring them into play in their own good time.

To be sure, for the moment the talks are hung up in a classic stalemate that works to the American advantage.

The North Vietnamese have partial cessation in the been demanding that the American bombing of their country be made complete before the talks move on. The United States had indicated willingness to end all bombing only if Hanoi gives some sign it will not use the let-up to mount new attacks on American and allied troops.

That hang-up is favorable to the United States because the last major concession on Vietnam was President Johnson's decision of March 31 to order the partial bombing halt and take himself out of the presidential running.

On the basis of those concessions, the United States is now widely believed to have shown a disposition to make peace.

Accordingly, the hostility to American policy in Vietnam which had reached fever pitch before the president's speech has been gradually subsiding.

None of this has escaped the North Vietnamese.

They acknowledge that progress toward a detente in Soviet-American relations will diminish the urgency of the Vietnam issue even further. And they even admit, while insisting on the basic support of the Chinese and Russian peoples for their struggle, that there have been difficulties in moving supplies through China.

But against these immediate problems, the North Vietnamese proudly assert their long-term assets. The first of these is the political evolution in Saigon.

The North Vietnamese are not impressed by the changes in personnel centring around President Nguyen Van Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, and Premier Tran Van Hong. But they do believe that in time events will of their own weight force further changes.

As one North Vietnamese official put it:

"When business is going well, there are no family quarrels. When business is going badly, there are family quarrels. The fact that there have been fights in the Thieu-Ky regime only means that business has been going badly. It will not get better."

Secondly, there are the pressures working on the United States. Not, let it be said once again, the short-term political pressures of the election year.

The North Vietnamese disclaim any interest in whether the American election is won by a Republican or a Democrat or by Nixon, Rockefeller, McCarthy, or Humphrey.

On the contrary, they think the war is linked up with serious "objective" problems in the United States. They cite the problems in the cities, problems with trade and international balance of payments. They believe the longer the war goes on, the more acutely these problems will assert themselves.

Finally, and most important, they seem confident they can go on fighting indefinitely. The North Vietnamese are extremely proud of the effort they have made. They talk ad nauseam about fighting a "just war."

They cite assertions by Ho Chi Minh of a willingness to lose Hanoi and Haiphong if necessary. They claim they will go on fighting no matter what happens.

Set against that background, the present tactics of the North Vietnamese are not as self-defeating as they might at first seem.

They know they can break through the stalemate of the Paris talks at any time, that there are waiting in the wings issues bound to embarrass the United States — issues like the role of the National Liberation Front, or Viet Cong.

But the North Vietnamese negotiators are in no hurry. They figure time is on their side, and that sooner or later their assets will mature in a way that affords maximum pay-off.

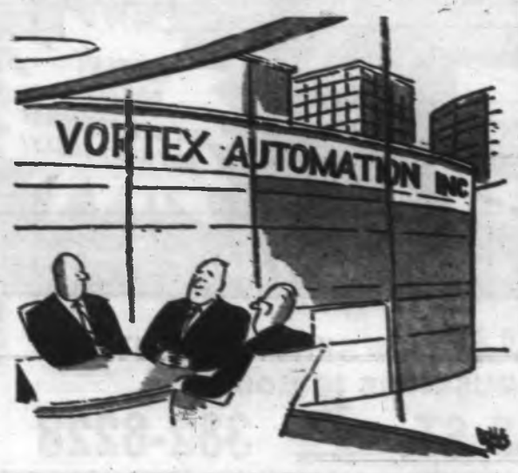

N doubt there is much propaganda in what the North Vietnamese have told me. Maybe they misjudge the situation. Still I am inclined to take them seriously. Among other things, what they are saying now in Paris is precisely what they were saying two years ago in Prague.

I think, in other words, that they are intelligent men making serious calculations about the long-term future. And if the Johnson administration wants to reach a settlement, it will have to do more than merely pour out confident noises soothing to the president's concept of his historic role and to the vicepresident's candidacy.

The U.S. administration will have to show, as it has not yet shown, that it too is prepared to think seriously and intelligently of the long-term future.

'Some Voices Raised . . .'

IWA Feeling Unknown At First Poll

The first of the votes that are expected to ratify a mammoth forest industry agreement have been cast in Victoria, along with some harsh criticism.

But opposition locally isn't seen as a threat.

Murray Drew, president of the Victoria local of the International Woodworkers of America, said some voices were raised against the agreement during a Sunday meeting at the Victoria Curling Club but he wouldn't guess at the number.

NOT 'REAL SERIOUS'

About half of the members in Mr. Drew's relatively small 1,800-member local turned out for the meeting.

VACATION PROBLEM

The settlement involves some 26,000 to 28,000 forest workers and 114 companies on Vancouver Island and the mainland coast. It offers 35 cents more an hour over two years on top of a $2.76 basic rate, but falls short of the vacation demands made by the union.

The 6,000-member New Westminster local also voted Sunday, but there has been no indication as to the sentiment of the men.

Voting will continue until the end of the month.

UNSEATED SHORTLY

Mr. Drew said Monday that he hoped internal union politics wouldn't influence many votes.

The IWA negotiating committee was split on the question of the settlement and claims have been made that regional president Jack Moore will have to be unseated at a Vancouver conference in September.

TWO CONTENDERS

Weldon Jubenville, president of the 4,000-strong Duncan local, has indicated that he may seek Mr. Moore's job. He has said he would urge his local not to accept the settlement. Syd Thompson, who heads the 7,000-member Vancouver local, has taken the same stand.

Said Mr. Moore, in answer to a question:

"Of course it's a matter of politics. And I don't like to see union politics used at the expense of a worthwhile settlement."

Strike May Force Closedown

Bakery Ailing

The outcome of a strike that entered its 17th week Monday could dictate whether Weston Bakeries Ltd. is to put an end to its Vancouver Island operations.

"Let's just say we don't want to see this happen," the company's British Columbia manager, G. Eric Moir, said in Vancouver.

He said, however, that the strike could lead to it.

LEAVE DRIVERS JOBLESS

Where the Island is concerned, such a move would close a depot and put 19 employees out of work in Victoria, and would leave another 10 bread delivery drivers jobless in Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Courtenay and Duncan, Mr. Moir said.

The company at one time manufactured some of its B.C. products in Victoria, but Mr. Moir said the plant was closed five years ago "because of union demands."

SETTLEMENT OPTIMISM

Despite the length of the current strike, he said he was optimistic that a settlement might be in sight. His enthusiasm, however, was not shared by George Thomson of Vancouver, secretary-treasurer of the Bakery Salesman's Union, Local 189 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Mr. Thomson said a recent two-hour meeting of union and company officials with a provincial government mediator did not have encouraging results.

STUDYING LAST OFFER

Mr. Moir said he was still under the belief the union was studying the company's last offer and that further meetings might result.

As things now stand, the pay package is no longer an issue in the strike, involving driver salesmen on the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island.

This means the drivers would get $15 a week in a two-year contract on top of the present basic wage of $115 a week.

Victorian Fourth

Winner Due Today In Hawaii Sailing

The first of the 14 boats in the 2,300-mile Victoria-to-Maui yacht race is expected to reach the Hawaiian destination shortly after noon today.

The Killam brothers from Vancouver continued to hold the spotlight, with Bill's 47-foot Porpoise III reported to be in first place, about 80 miles ahead of his second-place brother, Lol, who is skipper of the similar-sized Velaris.

While a third Vancouver boat, Paul Cote's Jeunesse, held third place, there was a lot of attention being paid the fourth-place Tiffany from Victoria.

The 40-foot Tiffany, guided by Dave Angus, had an exceptionally good run Sunday, moving up from ninth place.

Back in sixth place was another Victoria boat, the Potlatch, sailed by Wally Meakes. In recent days it had been moving between third and fifth place.

Trailing with three other craft about 400 miles behind the leader was HMCS Oriole from Esquimalt.

Floorlayers Agree Tentatively

Late Effort Successful

A last-ditch effort appeared Monday to have removed the threat of a strike that could have crippled construction work in Greater Victoria.

Negotiators for the carpenters' union and contractors, meeting with provincial government mediator Jack Sherlock, agreed on a tentative settlement covering 35 floorlayers.

The floorlayers' local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters in Victoria has been seeking a 35-cent-an-hour boost that would give workers parity with their Vancouver counterparts, who earn $3.90.

The tentative agreement arrived at Monday will be presented to the floorlayers for approval at a meeting scheduled for the Union Centre on Quadra at 7 p.m. today.

A separate strike action by the floorlayers that lasted a week caused a postponement in the official opening of the $8,000,000 provincial museum.

Some 600 dignitaries who had been invited to attend opening ceremonies July 19 have been informed that the opening won't be until Aug. 26.

The strike, which ended last Thursday, brought a stoppage of work by other finishing trades.

All construction trades were prepared to honor picket lines set up by the floorlayers had the strike spread this week.

Seaway Strike Over

Backlash Seen For 10 Days

MONTREAL (CP) — The St. Lawrence seaway came back into operation Monday, but shipping companies, port administrators and seaway officials estimate that the direct effects of a 24-day strike will continue to be felt for a week to 10 days.

Shipping companies began the redeployment of their vessels. Seaway workers began handling the downstream traffic of more than 250 vessels trapped in the Great Lakes during the strike and the upriver movement of almost 100 vessels waiting below Montreal.

Workers Monday accepted a 19 per cent wage increase spread over three years.

BULK CARRIERS FIRST

The first ship to enter the seaway at the St. Lambert locks in Montreal was the giant laker Quebecois, a bulk carrier with a cargo of iron ore for Hamilton, Ont. About 20 vessels moved up and down through the locks in the first 12 hours after the locks opened Monday.

Of the ships that had waited out the strike at Montreal, most were bulk carriers, whose cargoes could not have been moved easily by alternative methods of transport from Montreal to ports on the Great Lakes.

Montreal, where ship traffic this season has been sluggish, appeared to be moving into a boom in the final week of the strike while Great Lakes ports were talking disaster.

SHORTAGE ACUTE

But it was only in the last few days before Sunday night's settlement that ocean-going ships were reported waiting for wharf facilities and shortages of longshore gangs became acute.

The 32 member companies of the Canadian Carriers' Association, operators of 200 lake vessels, estimate their losses to date at between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000. As the effects of the strike continue the figure will increase.

Losses to operators of ocean-going vessels were not easily estimated immediately.

At this time of year — a valley period between spring and fall — the port normally handles 40 to 45 vessels a day.

All-Time Mark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The earnings of U.S. factory workers reached an all-time average high of $3 an hour in June.

Ale Talks May End Walkout

TORONTO (CP)—Talks aimed at ending Ontario's 25-day beer dispute adjourned to 10 a.m. today, but a spokesman for the brewing industry said a new company offer was under discussion all day Monday.

Robert Woolvett, spokesman for the breweries involved in the strike-lockout which began June 21, said he could not comment on the newest wage offer, or chance of an agreement today because it's "too tricky at this time to make any statement."

Offices Ready To Disburse Welfare Cash

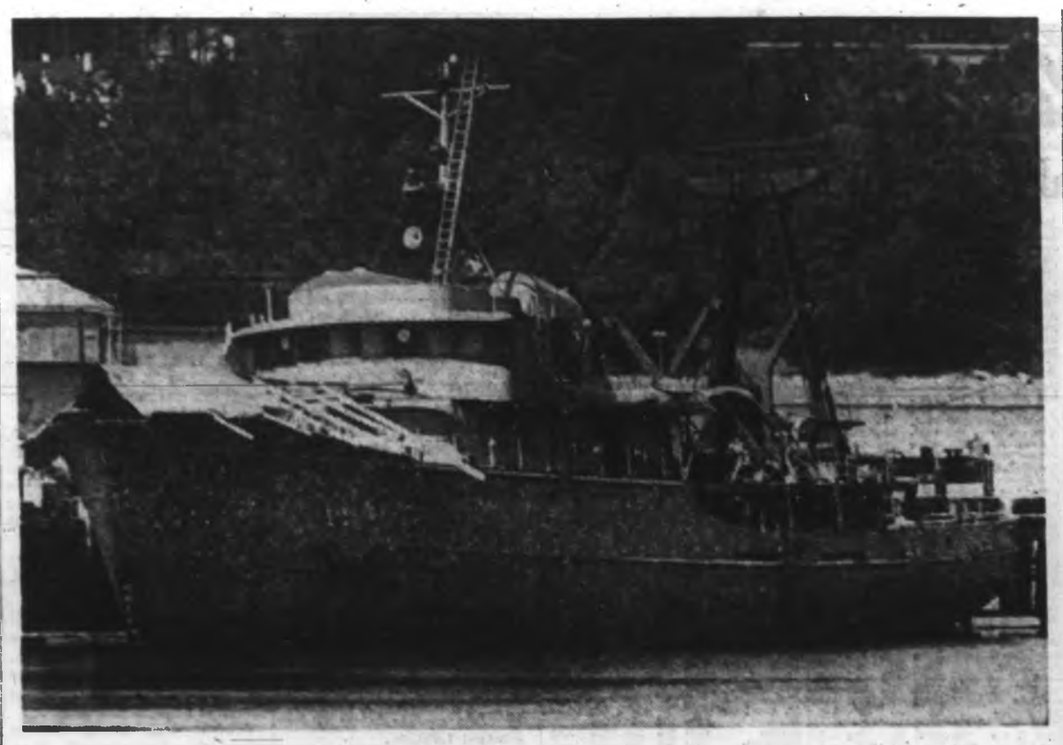

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Unemployment Insurance Commission Monday announced temporary service offices at strategic locations throughout British Columbia and the Yukon will be set up to handle business in the event of a national postal strike.

Duncan Young, director of the Pacific Region, said Canada Manpower Centres and other allied offices are co-operating with UIC officials in an effort to continue services such as processing claims already filed and maintaining contact with claimants.

People already receiving benefits will be able to report to the centres to deposit their bi-weekly declaration and make arrangements to pick up benefit cheques.

Mr. Young said there are 465,000 persons contributing to the commission in the Pacific Region, plus 44,500 employers. There are 32,000 active claims and another 6,500 under review. The number of weekly payments throughout B.C. and the Yukon is about 15,000.

He said "we intend to use all reasonable means to maintain the service."

Negro Vote Parity?

Rhodesians Moderating

SALISBURY (Reuters) — The executive of the ruling Rhodesia Front party hammered out the broad outlines of a new Rhodesian constitution Monday after giving a vote of confidence to Prime Minister Ian Smith and his government.

The proposals, details of which are secret, were sent to local party branches throughout the country for study. They are expected to be published in about two days.

Originally drafted by a joint committee of the parliamentary caucus and party divisional chairman, the blueprint constitution has the official blessing of Smith. It is said to call for eventual political parity for Rhodesian Negroes.

The vote in favor of Smith, who was under fire from far right-wing critics of his constitutional policies, represented a great victory for him. The vote was 97 to 2 with three abstentions.

The vote means Smith has overcome a major hurdle in his campaign to press for—in Rhodesian political language—moderate constitutional reform" in the face of criticism from the right wing.

Party Chairman Rolf Nielson said no formal vote was taken on the constitutional proposals.

"The whole issue is completely wide open," he said.

"We want a general debate throughout the country on our future constitution.

"There are only one or two ministers who envisage no African in Parliament—everyone accepts that there will be African representation there."

One-Week U.S. Toll: 192 Fatal Shootings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A total of 192 fatal shootings took place in the United States last week.

More than 80 per cent of the killings resulted from deliberate firing of a handgun, shotgun or rifle. There were 121 homicides, 40 suicides and 31 accidental shootings.

The count was taken in an Associated Press survey from midnight Sunday, July 7, to midnight Sunday, July 14.

WEEKLY AVERAGE

The FBI reported the weekly average of homicides numbered 125 in 1966, the last year for which figures were available.

Last week, California had the highest gun death toll: 21 homicides, 10 suicides and one which was accidental.

The Boy Scouts of America said Monday they may abandon its marksmanship merit badge as one step in reviewing its policies toward weapons.

Hijacking Explained

EDMONTON (CP)—The driver of a mail truck hijacked on a regular run between Edmonton and Peace River, Alta., said Monday night his truck was stopped by four men wearing hoods.

Girl, 4, Found Dead in Fridge

Berry Pickers' Child 'Sexually Assaulted'

LYNDEN, Wash. (CP) — An autopsy has disclosed a four-year-old British Columbia girl found dead inside a refrigerator near here Sunday morning was sexually assaulted.

The child was identified as Joanne Marie Moses, daughter of Abraham Scheena and Ruth Moses of Merritt. The couple, in its 20s, had been living in a migrant workers' camp at a berry farm just northwest of here.

Whatcom County chief deputy Gus Johnson said, "There is no way for the girl to have shut herself inside the refrigerator."

SEX ATTACK

An autopsy showed she had been sexually assaulted and died sometime Saturday evening. Cause of death had not been established Sunday.

Four men were being held without charge by the sheriff's office in connection with the death, Johnson said.

County prosecuting attorney Stan Pitkin ordered the 30 residents of the camp fingerprinted.

BY RELATIVES

The body was found by the girl's brother and cousin, both 12, in the refrigerator near her parents' cabin. The sheriff's office said she had disappeared just after 7 p.m. Saturday.

The refrigerator had been put outside the cabin after it became faulty and was replaced by another unit.

Workers at the berry farm are all inter-related and go to Washington State from B.C. each year to pick berries, the manager of the farm said.

Birth Control 'Unacceptable'

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — The fourth assembly of the World Council of Churches split Monday on the issue of birth control.

A strong contingent from the Orthodox churches objected to a report that would have the council endorse family planning.

REPORT SUBMITTED

The endorsement was contined in a report on "world economic and social development" submitted to the 700 voting delegates for approval.

It said:

"The implications of the world's unprecedented population explosion are far-reaching with regard to long-range economic planning, the provision of food, employment, housing, education and health services.

ENRICHMENT

"We urge the WCC and the member churches to consider family planning as an enrichment, not as a restriction, of human life. An ever-growing number of parents want to exercise their basic human right to plan their families. The churches should respond by promoting family planning programs.

This was described by Orthodox spokesmen as "completely unacceptable." Several of them said it was contrary to the teachings of their churches.

COMPLICATE RELATIONS'

They also said that adoption of the endorsement by the WCC would complicate future relations with the Roman Catholic Church.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Chicago Newspaper:

Letter Proves Ray, Sneyd Same Person

CHICAGO (A P) — The Chicago Daily News says in a copyrighted story that a letter written by James Earl Ray to a brother removes any doubt that Ray and Ramon George Sneyd are the same person.

The Daily News says the letter was written to John Ray and was signed, "Lord R. G. Sneyd."

LOTS OF NAMES

John Ray said the handwriting was his brother's and he added: "I don't know where he got the name of Sneyd, but he had lots of names."

Asked about the title "Lord," John Ray said, "That's probably his idea of a joke."

The Daily News made a copy of the letter which in part read, "I could appeal my extradition hearing but I am getting tired of listening to these liars so I might close it up about Tuesday."

There was no indication which Tuesday the letter referred to. John Ray said he interpreted the letter as evidence that his brother did not kill King, who was shot to death on the balcony of a Memphis hotel April 4.

"If he really did it," John Ray said, "he wouldn't be thinking about signing those extradition papers, would he?"

The letter was mailed to a married sister who lives in a suburb of St. Louis, the Daily News says. It was not dated.

U.S. officials working on obtaining Ray's extradition have said they are convinced that Ray and Sneyd are the same person but the fact that the alias was used caused a point of legal confusion during the extradition hearings.

Police said that Ray, when apprehended in London, carried a Canadian passport in the name Ramon George Sneyd, which also is the name of a Toronto policeman.

FUNDS THERE

The letter received by John Ray implied that Ray would have sufficient funds to finance his defence when he is returned to Memphis to stand trial.

"If you could," the letter said, "I would like for you to give the attorney, Arthur Hanes, $600; you can get some of it off Jerry (another brother) and I will straighten it up with you when I get back."

Hanes, of Brimingham, Ala., is representing Ray in proceedings in Memphis, if and when Ray is returned there for trial.

Negro Church Dynamited

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) —A rural Negro church was destroyed by what officials described as a four-stick dynamite bomb. There were no injuries in the blast at the small frame Mount Zion Baptist Church which is used about once a month. The dynamiting was the sixth in Warren County in the last 18 months.

Close Adviser:

Kennedy Plan Public Soon

HURON, S.D., (LAT) — Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) will make an announcement in the near future about his personal political plans, Theodore Sorensen said Sunday.

Sorensen, a close adviser to the late John F. Kennedy and the late Sen. Robert Kennedy, was here to address the South Dakota delegation to the Democratic national convention. It endorsed Sen. George McGovern as a favorite son, a move Sorensen had encouraged.

Asked later what Edward Kennedy might do, Sorensen said, "Let Edward Kennedy speak for himself, which he will." And, he added, it will be soon.

HE KNOWS

Sorensen indicated that a decision already had been made and that he knew, but would not disclose, what it is.

California Democratic figure Jese Unruh, who also attended the caucus, later echoed Sorensen's comments and said, "'I believe I do" know what Kennedy has decided to do.

"Ted Kennedy would have great support among the California delegation," he added. "There is great dissatisfaction with the two announced candidates and their stands now."

Unruh said he might accept additional invitations similar to the one which brought him to South Dakota.

ALL TOGETHER

Sorensen described the McGovern candidacy as "a move to keep all the Kennedy people pulling together and feeling that all their hard work hasn't been in vain." The idea apparently got its first impetus from William Dougherty, a Sioux Falls cattle dealer and leader of the successful primary campaign here for Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Small Gains Made

Trading Pace Slower

TORONTO (CP) — The market closed with small gains over a wide front. However, volume was the lightest in nearly three months.

Advances outnumbered declines 277 to 226, and all four major indexes were up.

In industrials, Leigh Instruments rose 2⅛ to 46⅞, Peel Elder 1⅞ to 30, Falconbridge ⅝ to 104⅝, Calgary Power ⅝ to 23⅝ and Alcan ⅛ to 26⅜.

Among the heaviest traders, Revenue Properties jumped 1⅞ to 34, Seaway Hotels and Silverwood Dairies A 1⅛ each to 14⅞ and 20⅝. Interprovincial Steel ⅝ to 6⅞ and Walnoco 35 cents to $2.00.

* * *

VANCOUVER — Industrials were less active and in some cases lower, although B.C. Tel, Cunningham Drug, Captain International and Doman Common showed plus signs.

Brenda rose to 10 among mines for an advance of .40 on the day. Smaller gains were posted in Granduc, Lytton, Ibearne and I.P. Silver.

* * *

MONTREAL (CP) — The market moved up narrowly as the market's indices fluctuated mildly on the plus side in moderate trading.

Among industrials, Museens climbed 1⅝ to 18, Harding Carpets A 1⅝ to 13⅞ and Ogilvie 1 to 34.

* * *

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market went through another of its equivocal sessions. Volume was the lightest in nearly two weeks.

Strength in industrial blue chips pushed up the Dow average by 1.36 to 923.72, but it didn't tell a well-rounded market story.

Conglomerate and other glamor stocks were set back sharply. The whole market tone seemed indecisive and cautious. Of 1,550 issues traded, 731 declined and 614 advanced.

The conglomerates were jostled by news that the U.S. Federal Trade Commission had challenged more than 40 acquisitions made by Maremont since 1953.

Maremont dropped 2. Whittaker fell 5⅝, Gulf and Western 3⅛, and Walter Kidde and Co. 3⅝.

Ottawa Scores with Bond Issues

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

The government of Canada experienced no difficulty in raising $275,000,000 in its offer of three short to medium-term securities Monday. Giving yield of from 6.65 to 7 per cent, they were quickly snapped up and the issues went to a premium.

Brokers said the quick response was a favorable test for the bond market which in recent week has been strong, particularly on the short end.

The issues offered were 6½-per-cent bonds due Dec. 15, 1968, at 99.80 to yield 6.65 per cent; 6¾-per-cent bonds due Oct. 1, 1970, at 100 to yield 6.75 per cent, and 7-per-cent bonds due April 1, 1973, at 100 to yield 7 per cent.

The Bank of Canada is taking up $90,000,000 open as to maturity and the remainder is for cash purchase.

HIGHER TAX HURTS

Tax surcharges imposed this year in both Canada and the U.S. are blamed by Anthes Imperial for a 4.3-per-cent drop in net earnings for the first half of the year.

The company, about to merge with Molson Breweries, had sales of $52,300,000, up 13.7 per cent but the earnings dipped to $1,990,000 (84 cents) from $2,007,000 (88 cents) in the corresponding period of 1967.

In addition to the higher burden of taxation, Anthes also found margins squeezed by lower selling prices.

PACT PAYS OFF

Its Owen Sound, Ont., plant, built a year after the pact was signed, is producing polyurethane parts for cars, and 85 per cent of production is sold on the U.S. market.

Polyurethane is the spongy material used to pad instrument boards and other fittings, and is being used more extensively as car makers place increased stress on safety.

LINK FOR KEMANO

A 22-knot launch to carry 30 passengers and four tons of cargo is being built for the community of Kemano where Alcan employs 425 persons.

The ship, powered by United Aircraft of Canada gas turbine engines, is 73 feet long and made of aluminum.

It will be used to connect Kemano with Alcan's other centre of operation at Kitimat. The 65-mile stretch between the two points will be covered in under three hours given favorable conditions, and the present service will be stepped up from a once every second day to a daily schedule.

PART FOR CANADA

A small portion of the new Lockheed tri-jet airliner ordered by a number of the world's leading airlines will be made in Canada.

Lockheed announces United Aircraft of Canada will produce the auxiliary engines for the plane's integrated pneumatic system. The order is worth about $20,000,000.

The jets for the Lockheed will have Rolls Royce turbofan engines for their main power.

RECORD FOR CHRYSLER

Chrysler Corp. sales and earnings for the first half of 1968 were $3,700,000,000 and $148,800,000 ($3.20 a share) — both a record for the company.

Sales were up 29 per cent from the corresponding period of 1967 and earnings were more than double the corresponding $66,000,000 ($1.45) a year ago.

King Fisherman

Lohr Youngsters Shine in Derby

Ten-year-old Verlane Lohr caught an eight-pound salmon in Saanich Inlet Sunday and won the Ronnie Sadler Trophy for the junior Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association member with the heaviest fish and also a transistor radio.

But Denise Rollier caught a bigger fish in the Junior Derby and won a transistor radio with her 8.5-pounder. But, as she wasn't a VSIAA member, she couldn't claim the trophy, although she upheld the honor of the fair sex.

The Lohr youngsters had a field day in Saanich Inlet. Eleven-year-old Leta won a flashlight for her 3.14-pounder and four-year-old Marlin Lohr caught a two-pounder to win swim and theatre tickets in the hidden weight draw. Cousin Mike Lohr also won swim and threatre tickets.

FISHING RODS

Third prize winner was Ernie Stockman with a 5.14-pounder and fourth was James Scroggie with a 5.8-pounder, both winning fishing rods.

Darryl Hamilton won a travel alarm clock for his four-pounder; Richard Jones won swim fins for his 3.10-pounder, and Bobby Caldwell won a car model for his 3.6-pounder.

SPORT SHOP

Trophy winner in the eighth week of the VSIAA qualifying derby was Jack Rowe with a 23.3-pounder. Hidden weight winners were J. Elliot, Bert Humphries and Mrs. V. Reid.

Russian Snobs Checkmated By B.C. Team

By RAY KERR

Anyone suggesting four years ago that B.C. chess players could compete on even terms with some of the top Russians would have been laughed right out of the World Chess Federation.

But three Vancouverites — two of them well known on Vancouver Island — have done even more than that.

The trio, all University of British Columbia professors and leading provincial chess players, have just finished defeating a University of Moscow team in a correspondence match.

The two-game match started four years ago, with the teams drawing the first contest in 1966.

Included on the UBC team were Elod Macskasy, who finished fourth in B.C. Open in Victoria last year, and colleagues Nathan Divinsky and Tim Anderson. Anderson placed seventh in the same B.C. Open.

When the University of Moscow accepted the challenge in 1964, its captain, Vasiliy Estrin, patronizingly said in the Soviet Chess Magazine, which he edits: "Such chess encounters against underdeveloped countries should be good against them, although they're not going to do us much good."

Estrin, who holds a Russian title of Professor of Chess, changed his tune a bit when his team was forced to accept a draw in 1966.

"Although Canadian players are still far from our level in chess skill, they should be given credit for drawing against such strong opposition," he wrote in the same magazine. "However, class will probably tell in the second game."

It did.

Negro Leader Defies Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, who was released from jail here, led 500 Poor People's Campaign marchers around the Capitol the rent day. The marchers now have completed five Sunday circuits of the Capitol. Seven are planned. Abernathy spent 20 days in jail for leading a demonstration on the Capitol grounds, where they are prohibited.

Damage Soars In Polish Fire

WARSAW (UPI) — Fire swept through the village of Lubowidz in central Poland, damaging 302 buildings and leaving 440 persons homeless, the Polish news agency PAP reported. One woman was killed in the blaze which caused damage estimated at $308,500.

Hiram Walker's Crystal Gin.
The one made for good mixers.

Whether partying, or serving drinks, Canadians are good mixers. And we like to serve gin with good mixers, from tonic and ginger ale to fruit juices and vermouths.

So the gin right for good mixers must have the right amount of flavour, bouquet and dryness to stand up in some drinks and sit back in others.

Hiram Walker's Crystal is the gin made for good mixers. Like you and you. And you and you.

Owners Agree To Pension Settlement

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League club owners and the NFL Players Association agreed on a new pension plan Sunday, ending a dispute which threatened to wreck the 1968 season.

The agreement will cost the club owners $3,000,000 for 1968 and 1969.

The settlement, which broke a stalemate of several weeks, came in fourth-down-and-one-yard fashion — the main NFL training camp activity is scheduled to get under way this week.

POTENTIAL EFFECTS

Further delay could have affected the exhibition schedule, knocked out the college all-star game and produced negative effects on the regular season.

Following a meeting of about 4½ hours at a midtown motel, the agreement was announced at a news conference by NFL president Arthur Modell, owner of Cleveland Browns, and Detroit Lion guard John Gordy, head of the NFL Players Association.

OWNERS TO PAY

Part of a statement read by Modell said:

"Under this agreement, the league club owners will contribute a total of $3,000,000 for the years 1968 and 1969 for pension benefits, administrative costs, and the cost of a joint study to be conducted in anticipation of the merger of the NFL and AFL pension plan by 1970."

ESTIMATES COST

"It is estimated that administrative costs will amount to $144,000 and that the joint study will cost about $40,000."

No commitment was made by the owners either expressly nor by implication regarding pension contributions beyond 1968 or 1969, the statement added.

Gordy said he was proud "that we, as professional athletes, can settle our differences across the bargaining table as gentlemen."

PLAN RETROACTIVE

Gordy said the new pension plan is retroactive to 1959 and guarantees 10-year-old veterans $1,600 a month after the age of 65. Under the old plan, a 10-year American Football League veteran, under an agreement reached last Wednesday, gets $1,132.

A breakdown for five-year and 15-year veterans under the new NFL plan was not available.

The pension agreement was the last of 21 points to be settled by the negotiations which started last March 19.

Buck Kinney Wins Feature

Kinney finished with an elapsed time of 12.19 seconds at 115.08 miles per hour to defeat John Boden's SS/CA Plymouth.

In other events, Bill Egland won competition eliminator, Jim Loiselle won in street eliminator and Clayton Wright took stock eliminator honors.

Next racing at Van Isle will be July 28.

Golden Retriever Tops Dog Trials

Bob Harman with his golden retriever Angus of Stillrovin won top honors in the Vancouver Island Retriever Club invitation trial at Gerry Bicherton's farm at Nanaimo Sunday.

Second spot in the open all-age stake went to Hunter Smith with black Labrador Boomer of Nascopie. Two other black Labradors, Mossbank's Radar Jet, owned and handled by Sid Tomlin placed third and Mossbank's Lucky Seven, owned and handled by Frank Albany, placed fourth.

TWO TOP SPOTS

Ken Fulton, of West Vancouver, handling Gleneagle's Lady, a black Labrador owned by Joe Adair of West Vancouver, placed second in the junior event.

Fourteen dogs in the puppy stakes put on an entertaining show with black Labrador Mossbank's Little Flirt, owned and handled by Tom Moss, gaining a convincing win. Chesapeake Keno won second place for J. Horst. Roger Margetish with golden retriever Sand, and Keith Vessey with golden retriever Reddy, placed third and fourth.

Four Britons receive supply drop from RCAF

* * * * * *

Everest of Ice Calls

Nick Lees of the Edmonton Journal accompanied a Canadian Forces plane that dropped supplies Saturday to a British expedition camped on the Arctic ice, 765 miles from Point Barrow, Alaska. Here is his story.

By NICK LEES

EDMONTON (CP) — They call it the Horizontal Everest. It's nearly 2,000 miles of frozen snow and ice.

Trying to make the first surface crossing of the Arctic Ocean is a four-man British expediton.

They have covered about one-third of the distance and are camped on an ice floe 765 miles north of Point Barrow, Alaska. They still have 1,191 miles to cover before they reach their destination, Spitsbergen Island in the Greenland Sea.

SUPPLY DROP

I flew to drop supplies to them with the crew of a C-130 Hercules of 435 Transport Squadron from Edmonton.

The men and their 37 huskies had been living on half rations for 10 days in case of a missed rendezvous.

They had not been able to give their position for three days—they had not seen the sun and a solar storm had blocked radio communications.

We flew to where the party was last reported and began a search lasting six hours and covering 2,500 square miles.

'SOMEWHERE'

"They're out there somewhere," said Capt. Clare Agar of Provost, Alta., who had been flying in the Arctic for 15 years.

In places the ice had cracked and great black pools of water could be seen.

We tried to locate the party but the cloud was too low.

Several times, and from different directions, they reported hearing our engines.

FUEL GAUGE

But the captain, with an eye to the fuel gauge and the weather, said there was no point in continuing the search and risking the drop going astray. We returned to base after more than 12 hours in the air.

"Glad you finally got us," expedition leader Wally Herbert, 33, reported by radio to the aircraft.

HAVE RIFLES

"We have three hunting rifles and enough ammunition to stop an army," he said.

Asked what they missed Mr. Herbert replied: "Nothing, absolutely nothing.

"We have a full scientific program to conduct. We have plenty to do."

WET SUIT

Packed among the food, clothing, mail and reading supplies was a wet suit complete with flippers and mask and a rubber dinghy.

The other members of the expedition are Ray Koerner, 35, glaciologist and meterologist; Alan Gill, 37, geophysicist; and Captain Ken Hedges, 32, a British Army doctor.

Herbert said the expedition was about 100 miles behind schedule and was having to make up to 40 per cent detours because of difficult terrain.

POINT BARROW

The group, which started from Point Barrow Feb. 22, will have to cease travelling in October because of cold and darkness. They will resume their trek in February with the return of light.

The men are studying the distribution of wildlife in the central Arctic basin and assessing the effects of prolonged Arctic journey = humans.

Nationwide Strike U.S. Phone Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The threat arose Monday of a nationwide telephone strike that could hamper the Republican national convention and leave the Democrats with no place to go if they abandon Chicago because of a local telephone walkout.

Reports that negotiations for a new contract covering 23,000 employees of the longlines division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. were in trouble, raised the prospect of a nationwide walkout.

MANY SNAGS

The strike would affect nearly every big city in the country and halt the installation of all television and teletype circuits and long distance telephone lines needed to provide news coverake of the conventions Longlines workers instal and maintain such equipment.

The contract with the Communications Workers of America expired July 8 and a strike could come at any time.

Marijuana Seller Sent to Jail

A 21-year-old Victoria man, Paul Durrell of 959 Maddison, was sentenced Monday in Central Magistrate's Court to one year in jail for trafficking in marijuana.

He was found guilty last week and remanded for a pre-sentence report. Court was told at an earlier hearing that Mrs. Joan Livesey arranged to buy some marijuana from Durrell May 1 and notified police of the arranged meeting place.

Court was also told that Constable Gerald O'Neil saw Durrell arrive at the assigned place. He spoke to him and Durrell ran off, dropping a package later found to contain marijuana.

Robert Mandam of 1750 Derby pleaded guity to possession of marijuana and was remanded to July 23 for sentence. Det. George Denison said Mandam took him to his home July 9 and produced two plastic bags containing about 1¼ ounces of marijuana.

Det. Denison said several butts were also found which Mandam said contained marijuana.

"I don't know what happened to them," he said in court. "Somebody must have taken them from me."

Sneddon pleaded guilty to theft over $50 and was remanded to today for sentence.

Constable Ivan Purdy said two citizens saw Sneddon take the garments from a car parked at the Century Inn and followed him to 1319½ Broad where Sneddon had a room.

Constable Purdy said he searched the room and was unable to find the clothing.

Watson, a recent arrival from Nova Scotia, pleaded guilty to false pretences and to obtaining lodgings by fraud and was remanded to July 23 for sentence.

Det. Jack Perry said Watson bought the car for $1,080 from Ensign Motors July 5 and put the car up for auction at Port Alberni. Also on July 5 he gave the hotel a $30 cheque for his rent and left three days later, receiving a $20 refund.

Frank Ellis, no fixed address, was sentenced to consecutive sentences of 30 days in jail for vagrancy and 30 days for consuming liquor in a public place. He pleaded guilty.

Court was told he drank liquor June 29 in a Blanshard Street alley and was found sleeping early Monday morning in Centennial Square.

□

Sarwan Singh Johal, no fixed address, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for vagrancy. He pleaded guilty and court was told that he threatened to put his foot through a Johnson Street window Sunday unless he was arrested.

□

Brian Holden, no fixed address, was sentenced to one day in jail when convicted of vagrancy. He was arrested Thursday and said he had spent a "couple of nights sleeping in the bush."

□

Judy Hale, 45, of 711 Rockheights was fined $100 when she was found guilty of stealing a $4.99 dress June 19 from The Bay. Court was told she had the dress folded in her purse.

□

Fined for impaired driving: Margaret Amos, 754 Kings, $300, prohibited from driving for six months; Robert Lawson, 1625 Richmond, $350, prohibited from driving for six months except during certain times.

□

Alan Graham, 1919 Lee, was fined $150 and had his licence suspended for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

40,000-Copy Study

Mediators Eye Files

The government's new mediation commission is going to delve into 40,000 files made available to it for research purposes by the department of labor, Labor Minister Leslie Peterson said Monday.

The minister said chairman John Parker had requested access to the files because the commission is about to embark on a study of bargaining units in the province.

Mr. Peterson said he not only agreed readily to the request but offered assistance by his department in carrying out the research.

LABOR UNITS

"The importance of the project," he said, "is that it will permit members of the commission to have a thorough knowledge and understanding of the bargaining units which have been set up over the past 25 years, either by the Labor Relations Board or by the labor minister under wartime legislation."

(During the Second World War, the B.C. labor minister was empowered to establish bargaining units under compulsory powers.)

MEDIATION ACT

Mr. Peterson said it was essential for the commission to have this knowledge and achieve this understanding so that it can "adequately carry out its responsibilities under the Mediation Commission Act."

He made the announcement Monday as a progress report on establishment of the mediation commission, for which the chairman and two members were appointed May 30.

IN VANCOUVER

The commission, the minister said, now was working in temporary quarters in Vancouver and hopes in a few weeks to move into permanent quarters there.

"The commission reported they are setting up their administrative organization and carrying out various duties required to obtain space and select the necessary expert technical staff," Mr. Peterson said.

He added that as soon as the research program and administrative setups are sufficiently advanced, additional sections of the Mediation Commission Act would be proclaimed.

LAST SESSION

Under the powers in the act, approved last session as Bill 33, it is the commission's job to investigate labor management disputes and recommend settlement terms. In cases where the cabinet believes the public interest is threatened, it can order the commission's recommendations be made binding.

In Parliament

At Least Two Vying For NDP Command

OTTAWA (CP) — At least two men will fight it out to succeed T. C. Douglas as the New Democratic Party's parliamentary leader.

Stanley Knowles, NDP MP for Winnipeg North Centre, said in an interview Monday that Andrew Brewin (Toronto Greenwood) and David Lewis (York South) have indicated they will try for the job.

Knowles, who said he won't be in the contest, said others may enter. The decision will be made by the party's parliamentary group of 22 at a Winnipeg meeting next Sunday.

NATIONAL CHIEF

While remaining as national leader, Douglas relinquishes the parliamentary leader's post because he lost his Commons seat in the June 25 election. He is expected to retire as national leader within a year.

Knowles said it would be wrong to suggest the important parliamentary post will become a launching pad for somebody who wants to succeed Mr. Douglas as national leader.

The disposition of the party caucus is different, Knowles said. The caucus does not wish to give anybody an inside track in the leadership contest that will develop later.

YOUNGER MAN

Neither Lewis, 58, nor Brewin, 60, have leadership aspirations, Knowles said. Both have said so and there seems to be a feeling the big job should go to a younger man.

"I don't think either will take exception to what I have said," Knowles said.

Besides the "friendly ballot" to decide a parliamentary leader, the caucus will also choose other caucus officers. Knowles, 60, said he will seek only to retain his dual post of party whip and House leader.

We tried to ignore Double Distilled whisky

but it wouldn't go away

For over 63 years our distillery has produced many fine whiskies . . . for all parts of Canada and 116 other countries. So why produce one whisky just for British Columbia? That's what we asked ourselves. So we decided to let Double Distilled die. Stop promoting it, we reasoned, and it will disappear. Then replace it with a national brand. Logical. But it didn't work that way. Even though we tried to ignore Double Distilled, we found that several thousand British Columbians were still demanding it. Now this is popularity you can't ignore, so we're going to make the most of it. From now on you'll be hearing about the unsurpassed quality and value of British Columbia's own whisky — B.C. DOUBLE DISTILLED.

Penicillin Cheaper

TORONTO (CP)—One of Canada's largest drug companies, Eli Lilly and Co., Ltd., said Monday it will reduce the price of penicillin for the fifth time in the past 10 years.

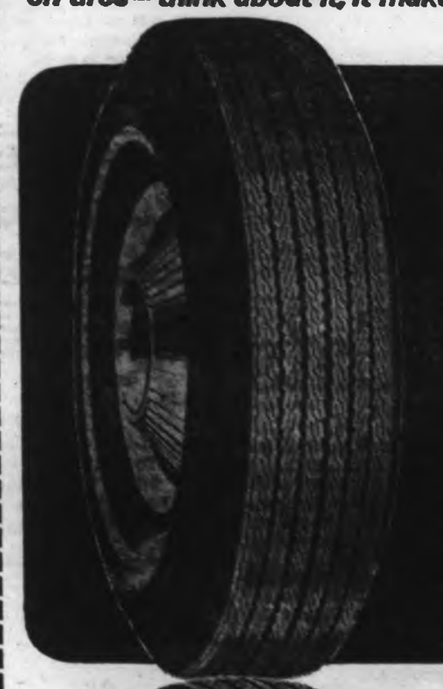

President V. H. Hakes, said the reduction in the price of capsules and tablets of the antibiotic was between 13 and 20 per cent. The new price is effective today.

A bottle of 50 capsules that sold for $14 in 1957 will cost $4.78, Hakes said.

Cliff-Hanger Ending

Lions Bow to TiCats

HAMILTON (CP) —British Columbia Lions and Hamilton Tiger-Cats experimented their way through a Canadian Football League exhibition game Monday night and the Tiger-Cats formula came up good for a 24-22 victory.

The Grey Cup champion Tiger-Cats tried out two quarterbacks and the Lions went with three in a game that suddenly turned into a cliff-hanger in the last five seconds.

Quarterback Pete Ohler, the best of the three Lions tried, scored the B.C. club's only touchdown, near the midway point of the first quarter.

Ted Gerella, the home-grown kicker with the sweeping soccer action, accounted for 14 points on four field goals, a single and the convert. Bob Hoskins, a rookie defensive end from Wichita State, fell on Hamilton quarterback Bill Redell in the end zone for the safety that supplied the other two points.

DEEP TROUBLE

B.C. went with Hank Schichtle and Paul Brothers at quarterback in addition to Ohler. Both Schichtle and Brothers appeared to have trouble hitting deep receivers.

Lions led from the eight minutemark of the first quarter when Ohler plunged over from the one-yard line, until 13:53 of the fourth quarter when Bethea caught a Zuger-pass and Coffey converted for the 24-22 Tiger-Cat lead.

B.C. bounced back and Ohler directed the club to midfield but Gerella who had kicked field goals of 22, 32, 53 and 41 yards, missed by inches on another 53-yard attempt on the final play of the game.

Small Home Crowd As Bombers Lose

WINNIPEG (CP) — Quarterback Charlie Fulton broke out of the pocket for a brilliant 72-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter Monday to wrap up a 24-13 victory by Edmonton Eskimos over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Western Football Conference exhibition game.

Fulton found his way blocked to the right and cut back to his left, eluding a swarm of outside tacklers on his way to paydirt.

His long run climaxed a second-half comeback for the Eskimos who trailed 10-0 at half time.

Don Lisbon and Art Perkins got the other Edmonton touchdowns on bursts from three yards out. Peter Kempf converted all three and kicked a 35-yard field goal to open the third quarter.

Halfback Butch Pressley scored Winnipeg's only touchdown on a seven-yard slant in the first quarter. It was converted by Pierre Guindon who also kicked two 28-yard field goals.

Only a smattering of fans, estimated by reporters at 5,000, turned out to see the Bombers absorb their third straight exhibition loss. Edmonton now has two victories in three starts.

Stamps Top Als On Liske's Arm

MONTREAL (CP) — Pete Liske, Calgary Stampeders' all-Canadian quarterback last season, showed he hasn't lost his passing touch as his aerial attack overwhelmed Montreal Alouettes, 30-11, in an exhibition Canadian Football League game Monday night before close to 17,000 fans.

The win left Calgary undefeated in three pre-season starts.

Liske threw three touchdown passes—10 yards to Pat Claridge, 29 to Terry Evanshen and 26 to Gerry Shaw.

Lemon Must Be Wondering When His Turn Will Come

Even if he isn't worried about his job with the perennial losers, he certainly knows how to make a new manager feel at home, and a little bit secure.

SAME FOR LOPEZ

Then Al Lopez came out of retirement to take over the Chicago White Sox from Eddie Stanky.

Lopez' first day as manager came Sunday against the Senators and Lemon had a hunch something else was going to happen to his team that wasn't good.

"I just lost three straight to the new manager in Baltimore," Lemon said to Lopez prior to the doubleheader. "What are you going to do to me?"

The Sox swept the doubleheader, 7-2 and then 6-5 in 10 innings, and made it three in a row on Monday with a 3-2 victory over the Senators.

FIVE FOR WEAVER

The Orioles, meanwhile, boosted their record to 5-0 under Weaver by breezing past New York Yankees, 8-2, for their sixth straight victory.

In the National League, Pittsburgh Pirates know something of Lemon's frustration. Chicago Cubs handed the pirates their 10th straight loss, 2-1, Monday on winning pitcher Ferguson Jenkins' two-out single in the 10th inning.

Most of the attention in the majors was focused on the National League on Sunday. Hank Aaron of Atlanta Braves became the eighth man in history to hit 500 or more home runs while Don Wilson of Houston Astros tied two modern major league strikeout marks.

Aaron joined the elite ranks of Babe Ruth, Willie Mays, Jimmie Foxx, Mickey Mantle, Ted Williams, Eddie Mathews and Mel Ott with a three-run blow off Mike McCormick—his 19th homer of the season—to lead the Braves to a 4-2 victory over San Francisco Giants.

He hit his home run in the third inning, after having missed in the first inning when his long drive curved one foot foul, and rain delayed the game throughout and for a while it looked like the record would be washed out.

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter against Atlanta last season, struck out 18 batters to tie Cleveland's Bob Feller, who set his record 30 years ago, and Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax, who tied it in 1959 and 1962, as Houston downed Cincinnati Reds, 6-1.

EIGHT IN A ROW

Wilson walked the second batter to face him and then struck out the next eight to tie the record set first by Max Surkont of Milwaukee in 1953. It has been tied twice.

The all-time record is nine batters set by Michael Welch of the New York National League club in 1884.

Wilson said he was aiming for the record after the third inning and like Aaron, had to worry about the rain before putting a called third strike behind Johnny Bench for the final out.

In Babe Ruth Tourney

Saanich Hosts Win First Start

The host Saanich Evening Optimist team made good use of the squeeze play Monday at Reynolds Park to defeat Kelowna, 4-1, in a first-round game of the double-knockout provincial Babe Ruth Baseball championships for 13-year-olds.

Vancouver Fraserview and Vancouver Intercommunity battled to a 4-4 tie in Monday's other game as Intercommunity, who defeated Chilliwack, 10-3, in the opening game of the tournament on Sunday, tied the game in the bottom of the seventh inning on a pinch hit single by Tom Mason.

The game was called because of darkness and will be completed today starting at 12 noon.

In today's other games, Nanaimo, who defeated North Vancouver Capilano, 2-1, on Sunday, plays Saanich at 2 p.m. while Capilanos meet Kelowna in a losers' bracket game at 6:30 p.m.

Next game: Tonight—New Westminster at Detroit.

Peterborough Lakers won their first game against a Western Division team to move into a tie for first place with Detroit Olympics in the Eastern Division of the National Lacrosse Association.

The Lakers turned back the visiting New Westminster Salmonbellies, who hadn't lost in an Eastern team, 17-10 on Sunday.

John Davis regained the scoring lead in the NLA, picking up three goals and six assists to lead the Lakers.

HELD EARLY LEAD

Paul Parnell scored twice for the Salmonbellies, who took a 6-3 lead in the first period but trailed, 7-10, going into the final 20 minutes.

Ken Oddy, Ian Bull, Mac Tyler, Dave Tory, John Shmyr, Wayne Goss, Ken and Larry Henry scored the losers' other goals.

At Montreal on Sunday, the Canadiens handed the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs their seventh straight loss, 17-10. Brian Ahearne, Ken Crawford and Terry Davis each scored three goals for the winners.

Shutouts Feature Playoffs

Greg Schaefer of Oak Bay and Dave Pimlott of the American All-Stars both hurled shutouts Monday as the three Greater Victoria area Little League Baseball area finals — double knockout affairs—got underway.

Schaefer threw a three-hitter as the Bays stopped Layritz, 11-0, in an Area II game while Pimlott had a two-hitter as the Americans downed Peninsula, 6-0, in an Area IV game.

O'Dell Tops Field In Memorial Race

Rick O'Dell, who held the track record for stock cars briefly during Saturday's time trials, captured the featured Roy White Memorial 50-lap race Sunday at Western Speedway.

The race was put back one day because of rain and O'Dell, who placed second to Gary Kershaw, the new track record holder, in the trophy dash, gained revenge in the main event.

O'Dell took over on the 13th lap as he, Kershaw, who finished second, Neil Montgomery and Bob Mawle came close to lapping the rest of the field before the finish.

Jim Gilbert took a spectacular spill in the third heat, rolling over twice before ending up on his wheels again. He was not hurt.

Results:

"A" dash—1, Gary Kershaw; 2, Rick O'Dell; 3, Neil Montgomery.

"B" dash—1, Tom Eardley; 2, Bruce Akinclose; 3, Ray Reimer.

Mexican Hurdler Will Make History

MEXICO CITY (AP)—For the first time in history of the modern Olympic Games, a woman will make the last dash through the stadium and light the Olympic torch with a flame brought from Mount Olympus.

The Mexicans, hosts for the Summer Games in 1968, have chosen Norma Enriqueta Basilio Sotelo, a 20-year-old hurdler, as the Mexican athlete whose lighting of the torch will be most symbolic of the spirit of the Games.

The Mexicans are adding other fillips to the torch ceremony. After a land voyage in the hands of runners through Greece, Italy and Spain, and a boat voyage with a brief stopover in the Bahamas, the Olympic flame will arrive in Vera Cruz harbor.

The Organizing Committee said that for the first time the flame will then be carried by a swimmer. On Sept. 29 the destroyer Durango will anchor 850 metres from the dock and 17 swimmers will be needed to carry the torch to land in relays.

From the port of Vera Cruz, the flame will be brought by runners to Mexico City for keeping until the Games.

Victoria Golfers Lead Field In B.C. Junior Tournament

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP) — Victorians dominated first-round play of the British Columbia junior golf championships Monday by placing four in the top five finishers.

Tied with one-under-par 71s over the 6,538-yeard Capilano Golf and Country Club were Cee Ferguson and Brian Stott, clubmates at Victoria's Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Three others were only one stroke back going into today's second round of the 54-hole tournament.

Matching par were Dave Mick, another Gorge Vale member, Dave McCall of Victoria's Uplands course and Alan Defoe of Vancouver's Point Grey layout.

Stewart, who captured his second straight junior title by nine strokes last year, will have a difficult time running away from the field this time around.

Only four strokes separate the top 16 and another nine are just five shots off the pace.

Stockton Wins Easily In Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Californian Dave Stockton fired a three-under-par 69 Sunday for a 72-hole total of 275, 13 under par, to win the $40,000 first prize in the $200,000 Greater Milwaukee open golf tournament.

The 26-year-old, five-year pro from San Bernadino, Calif., had four straight birdies on the front nine to go 14 under par for the tournament and coasted home to his second major victory in three weeks.

FIFTH IN WINNINGS

He won the Cleveland Open two weeks ago with a 72-hole total of 276, but skipped last week's Buick Open to visit his wife, who is expecting a baby shortly. The $40,000 first prize money boosted his 1968 earnings to $86,159 in 19 tournaments.

That moved Stockton into fifth place in the PGA money list. He was 24th going into the Milwaukee Open.

SNEAD HOT AGAIN

Sam Snead, the 56-year-old veteran from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., shot a five-under-par 67 — the best round of the day — on the 7,155-yard North Shore Country Club course to finish second, four strokes off the pace. He picked up $24,000.

Dave Marr, the 1965 PGA champion, and Tom Weiskopf both made belated bids to catch Stockton but faded in the 90-degree heat. Both finished at 281.

'IT FELT SUPER'

"Every time I stroked the ball, it felt absolutely super," said Stockton.

But he said he didn't feel secure until he birdied the par four, 395-yard 14th hole, following bogeys on 12 and 13, which had cut his lead to three strokes.

"I knew Snead was in the clubhouse nine under par, but after the birdie on 15, I knew I'd won it if I didn't have a coronary," said Stockton.

Next game: Wednesday — Ingraham Hotel vs. Greaves Movers, 6:45 p.m., Topaz Park.

Greaves Movers swept a doubleheader from Transport Workers, the Senior Amateur Baseball League leaders, with two 5-4 victories Sunday at Topaz Park.

Both games provided exciting finishes, with Transports falling short in a last-inning rally during the first game and Greaves coming from behind on Gary Bishop's two-run single in the last inning of the second game.

Les Brice, who also drove in a run with a single, and Bob Bowles hit solo home runs for Greaves in the first game.

Art Worth put Transports ahead, 4-3, in the top of the seventh inning in the second game with a two-run homer but Bishop's blow with one out and the bases loaded in the bottom of the inning completed the sweep.

Red Jet Lands in New York

Moscow-U.S. Route Open

NEW YORK (AP) — The long-awaited Moscow-New York direct flight service was inaugurated Monday, when an Ilyushin 62 jetliner landed at Kennedy airport—almost an hour late because of an aerial traffic jam.

The big plane with 54 Soviet officials among its 93 passengers was due at 1:30 p.m. PDT. But it got stacked up in traffic above the airport and touched down at 2:27 p.m. Eleven other passengers disembarked during a stopover in Montreal.

Eastward flights to Moscow were to get under way Monday night when Pan American World Airways dispatched a special inaugural flight, to be followed a few minutes later by the first scheduled take off.

BY AEROFLOT

The IL-62 was operated by the government-owned Soviet Airlines Aeroflot, which bills itself as the "world's largest and busiest airline."

The plane arrived over New York on time, only to become ensnarled in the world's biggest and busiest air traffic control complex—the three metro New York airports.

SEVEN YEARS

The beginning of direct air service followed more than seven years of negotiations, interrupted from time to time by various Cold War crises. Agreement was reached earlier this year on weekly service by Aeroflot and Pan American.

Aeroflot will fly from Moscow to New York on Mondays with a brief stopover at Montreal. The flight will return to Moscow on Wednesdays. The IL-62 has a capacity of 186 passengers, but will carry only 122 on regular flights.

Crowd Chants Support As Death Trial Opens

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Twenty five hundred chanting, sign-carrying demonstrators ringed the courthouse where Black Panther leader Huey Newton went on trial Monday on charges of murdering a policeman.

Heavily armed sheriff's deputies stared impassively from beneath riot helmets as the marchers, about half negro, chanted Free Huey and brandished signs threatening, Anything happens to Huey, the sky's the Limit.

Marchers who tried to gain access to the courthouse were turned back at the entrances. Armed guards sealed off the floor where the trial is being held to everyone without seat passes.

Inside the packed courtroom, Newton sat beside his attorney, Charles Garry, as the lawyer began a series of arguments designed to stop the proceedings.

Degree For Inmate

MESSINA, Sicily (UPI) — Gabriele Mastroianni, an inmate of an asylum for the criminally insane, graduated Monday from Messina University with a degree in law.

Mastroianni, 27, was accompanied to the university by two plainclothes police. After discussing his thesis and winning the degree, he went back to the asylum in nearby Barcellona Pozzo di Gotto.

A Catania court sent him to the asylum in 1963 after acquitting him on grounds of insanity of a charge of murdering housemaid Maria Riggio, 54, with a hammer. The Italian justice ministry gave him special permission to complete his studies.

Tourists Stage Sit-In

ATHENS (UPI) — Sixty-eight University of Colorado students stranded in Athens by the bankruptcy of a Greek shipping line staged a sit-in Monday to win a resumption of their Aegean cruise.

Stirred into action by the protest, Greek government officials said they would put the students aboard another cruise ship.

They were taking a tour organized by the university's classics department and were supposed to sail on the steamer Elektra for Crete, Rhodes, Turkey, Patmos, Delos and Mycenae.

Power Pact Signed

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union signed a 1968-69 cultural and technical exchange agreement Monday after some tough bargaining. Both sides expressed enthusiasm.

The agreement provides for continuation of a 10-year-old program for scientific, technological, educational and cultural contacts between the two countries. The previous agreement expired last December.

Negotiations on the new cultural agreement were delayed partly by poor relations resulting from the war in Vietnam. But the main reason was a reorganization of the Soviet system for handling cultural relations.

Jazz Group Here Soon

Canadian Broadcasting Corp. will bring Lance Harrison's Dixieland band and singer Eleanor Collins to Victoria for a free concert July 29.

It is one of 11 planned throughout British Columbia this month. They will be recorded for a later program series on CBC radio.

Called Jazz on Tour '68, the show will start at 8:30 p.m. in the McPherson Playhouse.

Japan Goal for Four

Trudeau Bids 'Sayonara'

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau bade an appropriate "sayonara" to four young Montrealers who completed the first leg of a two-year journey to Japan's Expo 70 in his East Block office on Parliament Hill Monday.

Francois Prevost, his wife Louise, and Jean-Pierre Ranger and Marie Feriand, all in their early 20s, plan to travel through 90 countries in five continents collecting messages of good will from heads of state to the Japanese people.

SYMBOLIC LINK

Aided by funds from Montreal businessmen, the purpose of their trip is to "create a symbolic link between Montreal, the site of Expo 67 and Osaka, the site of Expo 70."

A world traveller of the knapsack variety in his youth, Trudeau chatted enthusiastically with the foursome, all dressed in the official guide's uniform of Expo 67, and signed a blue log book that will be presented to the commissioner-general of the Japanese world's fair.

MORE SIGNATURES

The young ambassadors have already got the signatures of Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec and Mayor Gilles Lamontagne of Quebec City.

After their visit with the Prime Minister, the foursome were scheduled to set out for the United States in a German-made bus equipped with a camper.

When they arrive in Japan in late 1969 or early 1970, they will work as hosts and hostesses in the Quebec Pavilion at Osaka.

Picnic Spans Two Centuries

VANCOUVER — Almost 150 descendants of Manoah Steves, founder of Steveston at the mouth of the Fraser River, gathered at a city beach for a family picnic.

It was the first social gathering of the Steves family of British Columbia, a branch of a nationwide family that claims 90,000 members throughout the world.

"We are al descendants of a German dirt farmer, Heiarich Stief, who came to New Brunswick in 1766," said the family's B.C. spokesman Ralph Steeves.

"Stief came with his wife Rachel, and seven sons. Now there are thousands of Steeves in the east," he said. At least 15,000 of them had turned out at New Brunswick's bi-centennial reunion in 1966.

□

NEW YORK — The U.S. Court of Appeals refused to slow down billionaire Howard Hughes in his efforts to acquire control of the American Broadcasting Companies. The three-judge panel denied ABC's bid to hold up Hughes' purchase of 2,000,000 shares, or about 43 per cent, of ABC stock.

□

RED DEER, Alta. — Robert Thompson, former Social Credit leader elected June 25 as a Progressive Conservative, said he will move his residence from here to Ottawa.

□

VANCOUVER — The crew of the New Westminster tug Swiftsure II plucked Jack Cave off his burning 27-foot sailboat in a rescue off Bowen Island in Howe Sound. The sailor was uninjured but the boat burned to the waterline and sank.

□

NEW YORK — Robert Chee Rogers was held without bail on a triple homicide charge in connection with a wild shooting incident last Thursday on a street in the South Bronx. At about the time the 31-year-old building superintendent appeared in criminal court for a bail hearing, one of the three shooting victims, Efrain Castro, 21, was buried after Roman Catholic funeral services. Funerals of the other two, Angel Figueroa, 19, and Jose Rivera, 18, are scheduled today.

□

PRINCE GEORGE — Punishment should fit the individual, said Selwyn Rocksborough Smith, director of corrections in British Columbia, during a weekend visit here. "We hope to have a little effect on people with reforms of the penal system but we can only go as far as the people want these reforms," he said. One of the reforms is the need to recognize that the punishment of a person should fit the individual if any rehabilitation is to be achieved, he said.

□

MOSCOW — Viktor Korchnoi won his semi-final series for the World Chess Championship against fellow Soviet player Mikhail Tal. Korchnoi achieved a draw on the 61st move in the 10th game Monday, giving him a final score of 5.5 points against Tal's 4'5 points. Korchnoi will meet the victor of the semi-final series going on in Sweden between Boris Spasky of the Soviet Union and Bent Larsen of Denmark.

BROCKVILLE, Ont. — Patricia Taylor, 30, former secretary to crown attorney Robert A. Barr, was given a two-year suspended sentence and ordered to pay $772 in restitution after pleading guilty to 27 charges of theft totalling $1,890 from Barr's office. The thefts occurred between Oct. 5, 1966, and last May 16, when she was dismissed from her job.

AMMAN — Jordan announced the engagement of Crown Prince Hassan, King Hussein's youngest brother, to Tharwat Ikramullah, 20, of Pakistan. The girl is the daughter of the late Mohammed Ikramullah, a top career diplomat who helped in the founding of Pakistan.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson announced he will nominate Harold Linder as United States ambassador to Canada, succeeding Walter Butterworth. Linder is president of the U.S. Export-Import Bank.

□

LONDON — Alan Winnington, a journalist who covered the Korean War from the Communist side for the London Daily Worker, returned home after 20 years in exile. "I am British, and my roots are here, whatever people may think," Winnington said.

□

□

NEW MILFORD, Conn. — Westbrooke Van Voorhis, voice of The March of Time, died after a long illness. He was 64.

□

□

LONDON — Sir Hugh Carleton Greene will retire as director-general of the British Broadcasting Corp. next March 31 after holding the position nine years, the BBC announced. Greene, 57, subsequently will be appointed to the BBC board of governors.

Garden Notes

Peonies Attacked

By M. V. CHESNUT

Peonies started out in fine fashion this year. The somewhat variable weather we had in early spring seemed to be just what the doctor ordered for these plants, which made vigorous and healthy growth. The flower buds formed on schedule and started to swell normally.

Then, in some gardens hereabouts, trouble appeared. When the peony buds got to be about the size of a marble, they stopped swelling. The buds grew no bigger, and after doing nothing at all for a week or so, they simply dried up, and of course, there were no flowers.

In a few cases reported to me, the buds continued to swell to normal size and started to open, but the flower petals inside were brown and rotting, and again there were no flowers.

These troubles stem from a fungus infection called botrytis, and when I use the word "fungus" I don't mean something that looks like a toadstool, but a disease more comparable to dry rot in wood, the mildew that forms on damp clothes, or the ringworm and athletes' foot infections that attack he human skin.

As with nearly all fungus diseases, botrytis is fairly easy to prevent but very difficult to cure once the inner tissues are invaded. Fortunately, it doesn't attack the peony roots but spends the winter on the stems of the old topgrowth, usually near ground level, emerging in the spring to re-infect the new young shoots as they poke their noses through the soil.

This gives us an excellent opportunity to control the spread of the disease; by preventing this re-infection, our plants can remain botrytis-free.

Fungicide sprays and dusts are useful here, but by far the most effective control is simply good housekeeping in the garden. The first thing to be done is to pick off and burn any little mummified buds which may still remain on your plants.

Any remains of flowers, either clean or with rotted petals, should go to the incinerator along with the diseased buds.

Follow this up by giving your peonies a square meal, and in passing, I might say the old belief that manure should never be used on peonies is a silly superstition.

I have used bone meal, wood ashes and chemical fertilizers, both dry and in liquid form, but by far the most successful has been spent mushroom compost. A medium-sized peony plant will take about three cupfuls, spreading it around the outside of the clump and scratching it into the soil shallowly.

These steps are all helpful in combatting botrytis, but the really important measure is taken during the autumn tidyup.

In October, scratch away a little soil from over the peony roots and cut away all topgrowth, making cuts about an inch below the normal soil level.

Don't go TOO deep, for the growth eyes which will produce next year's topgrowth are only two inches down, and these mustn't be injured.

The idea of taking off the spent topgrowth, just a little below the soil surface is to make sure no stubs are sticking up above ground, for these bits of stem could provide a winter home for the infecting spores of the disease.

Burn all this material — don't try to compost it or leave it lying around. Then clean up the ground with the rake, making sure there are no leaves, twigs or other litter. That bit of ground around each peony should go into the winter just as clean as your kitchen floor.

This clean-up job should do the trick, and the little red shoots should be able to emerge in the spring without becoming re-infected.

However, as an added precaution, I water the peony site in late fall with Lysol or a similar phenol disinfectant, two teaspoonfuls per gallon of water, and I repeat the dose at half this strength when the new shoots poke through in the spring.

ART BUCHWALD Disarmed by Law

Have Gun, Will Travel

PARIS — You would think after all the United States has done for Europe, the least the Europeans could do is make it easy for an American to buy a gun.

But such is not the case and in spite of their great claims to being civilized, the Europeans are still living in the dark ages when it comes to making firearms available to the public.

I discovered this accidentally when I was overcharged by a waiter in a Left Bank cafe. He claimed it was an accident, but I knew he did it on purpose.

I told my wife I was getting sick and tired of being pushed around and the only think to do was buy a gun and carry it with me at all times. Then if someone tried to overcharge me, I'd let him have it.

"Isn't that a bit strong?" my wife asked.

"It's the American way," I said. "Can you think of a better reason for using a gun than when you get the business from a surly cafe waiter?"

The next day I went to a gun store near the Paris Opera and told them I wanted a revolver.

★ ★ ★

"What do you want it for?" the dealer asked.

"I am an American citizen," I said, "And according to our constitution I am allowed to bear arms, any place, any time, anywhere. Now be a good man and give me a gun."

"We cannot sell a gun just like that, Monsieur," the dealer said. "We have regulations in France concerning guns."

"Regulations?" I said incredulously. "What on earth for?"

"The French government does not want everyone in the country to have a gun. There is too much chance of accidents."

"That doesn't bother us in the United States," I said with a certain amount of pride. "Do you know last year we had over 5,000 people killed by firearms alone?"

"Alas," said the dealer sadly. "We only had 12. The rules here are too strict."

"Don't you have a National Rifle Association?"

"We have something like it, but parliament tells them what they can or cannot do."

"In my country," I boasted, "The National Rifle Association tells Congress what it can or cannot do."

★ ★ ★

"Quelle chance," the dealer said. "Please sir, what can I do for you?"

"I want a gun to shoot surely cafe waiters."

"Tres bien, fill out these papers. Then go to your local police station with all you identification, and explain to them why you want a gun."

"Good, and then I can have it?"

"No, not yet. They will investigate you for three months. After that they will send their recommendation to the main police station, who will investigate why the local police station gave permission to let you have the gun. This will take three more months. If they agree, you can come back and buy the gun."

★ ★ ★

"Six months to buy one lousy gun?"

"That's for the gun. Buying ammunition requires another investigation."

"Do you know if we had red tape like that in America, almost nobody would be able to own a revolver?"

"That's why we don't sell too many ourselves," the dealer said. "Do you want to start filling out the papers?"

"No, I don't, and if the French had any sense they'd permit Americans to buy revolvers—just by showing their passports. How else can we protect ourselves from waiters while we're travelling abroad?"

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Sinatra Goes East

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Frank Sinatra has decided to make New York his permanent headquarters. He was telling a chum, "I've had it in California." Actors change their minds. But in today's jet age—in a few years the rip, and I mean "rip," from coast to coast will take two hours—it doesn't matter where you make your home base. You can report for work almost anywhere in a few hours. But Frankie's decision doesn't sound like a reconciliation with Mia Farrow, even though he did pause to pat her head in a London restaurant a couple of weeks ago. It was more fatherly than lovely.

★ ★ ★

It is one of those coincidences that Arthur Jacobs who is now producing the musical version of Goodbye Mr. Chips, was, until his recent marriage, living in a home in London's Three Kings' Yard, where Robert Donat died. Donat (and what a marvelous actor he was!) starred in the first "Mr. Chips." Peter O'Toole, who is playing the schoolmaster in the current version, had noticed that Jacobs was always swiping ash trays from restaurants. His wedding present to Arthur and his bride was a sawed-off plane-seat armrest that has the built-in ash tray.

★ ★ ★

Henry Fonda had to decline a good role with Gregory Peck in The Chairman because he previously agreed to do a tour of Our Town, starting in Mineola, Long Island. Which takes him through to October. Henry's work is his life. He has only just finished, or is about to finish, his big western. Once Upon a Time in the West.

★ ★ ★

They are talking of Diana Rigg of The Avengers, for the Gregory Peck picture. Greg, now in London to settle the details, will first have a vacation in his south of France home.

Maximilian Schell has played Hamlet more than any other actor alive. He is currently on the boards for the bard, in Munich. After he closes as Hamlet, which he also directs, Max stars as Simon Bolivar, in the Italian-Spanish production to be directed by Nanni Loy . . . And whatever happened to his enchanting sister, Maria Schell? We don't hear anything about her these days.

★ ★ ★

Britt Ekland has given her agents the full go-ahead signal on her career. She couldn't do too much while she was married to Peter Sellers. He would pout over her publicity. And the one film they made together, The Bobo, was a failure. Britt told a reporter in Rome that she will make London her home and that with no one bossing her around she feels deliciously free. It's my guess she will not remarry until she has become a top star.

Semantic Antics

SYDNEY HARRIS

Right-wingers are fond of pointing out that the institutionalized form of the United States is a "republic," not a "democracy" — while conveniently ignoring the fact that the three most repressive governments in the world today are also "republics": Russia, China and Spain.

It is equally true that the word "democracy" is as ambiguous as "republic" — for Russia calls itself a "people's democracy," even though it lacks any of the political liberties we would consider indispensible for the proper use of that word.

★ ★ ★

Throughout Europe, political labels are nearly meaningless in terms of what they truly stand for: "liberal" parties may be on the right; "Christian Democratic" parties may be neither Christian nor democratic; "socialist" parties may be anti-Marxian; and "conservative" parties may be to the left of what we would call "liberalism."

★ ★ ★

Our own political labels of "liberal" and "conservative" are likewise historically misleading, for a "liberal" in the classical, old-fashioned sense was a believer in laissez-faire and freedom from government interference — which is now considered the "conservative" position in U.S. politics.

Incidentally, "left-wing" and "right-wing" are wholly accidental terms, having nothing to do with positive or negative implications; it so happened that in some European legislative bodies, the more progressive group of delegates sat to the left of the presiding officer, while the more conservative group sat to his right — and this nomenclature has been transferred to modern times.

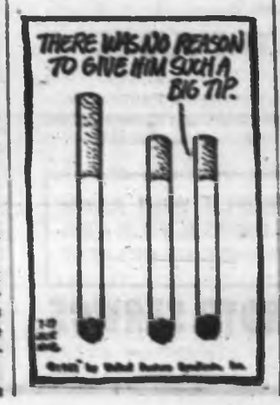

"Liberty" of course, is perhaps the most widely used (and misused) of all political words; our "Sweet Land of Liberty" implies individual freedoms above all else, but as used in Nazi and Fascist anthems, "liberty" meant the freedoms of the national or racial group to expand and overcome other racial or national groups, and was considered a collective, rather than individual, virtue.

As Prof. Mario Pei, the linguist points out, modern political terms are usually semantic smokescreens: we have "pacification" used in connection with the destruction of defenceless towns; "liberation" for indiscriminate bombings followed by forcible occupation; "transfer of populations" for mass deportations; and "elimination of unreliable elements" for imprisonments and summary executions without trial.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, one of the great new fears of modern man is "logophobia" — the fear of being labelled with a certain word, which deeply influences public statements and private conversations.

Nanaimo Helps Lacrosse

New Industry Starts

NANAIMO — A new home industry for Indian women has started on Nanaimo reserve which may replace the famous Cowichan sweaters as a main income source.

The women are finding they are a "natural" for lacing lacrosse sticks. Their long experience of weaving and knitting Indian sweaters is helping them to cope with interweaving the heavy leather thongs.

It is no easy job. The work demands patience, skill, dexterity — and a strong hand.

SMALL SLITS

A scalpel is used to make small slits in the thongs and a wooden awl enlarges the slits. The thongs are woven onto the sticks in an intricate woven pattern. About 18 feet of leather is used for each stick, plus an additional 11 feet of rawhide gut.

There appears to be a big demand for lacrosse sticks — sufficient, some believe, to keep the women busy for years.

There is a plan underway to train some women on the job after which they will be able to continue in their homes and teach others.

The first five are attending courses in the old schoolhouse on the reserve. This is their second week and already most have learned the art.

FULL SUPPORT

Jim Cole, the Indian affairs employment officer at Nanaimo, has given full support to the project. His department will subsidize up to 50 per cent of the wages for a maximum period of six months.

Lacrosse Offers New Industry

Mrs. Elaine Wyse, left, and Mrs. Hannah White, both of Nanaimo Indian reserve work on lacrosse sticks. Officials hope that new industry will provide a major source of income for Indian women and special classes on stringing sticks are being held in old schoolhouse on reserve. Eventually the women will be working at home and teaching others.— (Agnes Flett)

Cowichan Valley

Rock Hounds Show Work

DUNCAN — A total of 47 different varieties of petrified wood were some of the items on display Saturday at the Cowichan Valley Forest Museum.

The display was sponsored by the Cowichan Valley Rock Hounds, who have been active in the district for the past seven years. The organization has about 30 members.

Visitors at the museum were able to see a 98-pound piece of colorful rhodonite, a local rock, and displays of rough rock material, fossils and rock jewelry.

Also on display is the machinery which the Rock Hounds use in preparing their specimens. The machines include a tumbler, saw, grinder and polisher.

★ ★ ★

Behind the displays are rounds. Three depict the dinosaur age, panning for gold, and how the Chinese carried jade out of British Columbia rivers.

Two others portray grafts on rock-forming minerals and types of rock.

Youth Fined $30

LADYSMITH — Nineteen-year-old Allen O. Swartz of Ladysmith had his licence suspended for 14 days, and a $30 fine levied after he pleaded guilty to a charge of unnecessary tire squealing.

He was checked by police June 29 on Symonds Street, Ladysmith. Swartz also paid a voluntary penalty of $25 for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Operating a boat over 26 feet, and under 40 feet, without lifejackets cost Charles Herbert Lumley, 45, of Ladysmith, $25.

Police said he was recently checked when his boat was occupied by three persons.

He was fined an additonal $25 for being the owner of a boat with a motor of more than 10 horse power without markings on the outside of his craft.

He pleaded guilty to both offences.

Bissett in three-legged bathyfoil

Nanaimo Weekend Race

Fleet Tubs May Fly

By DON GAIN

The Fleet School's two entries in the Nanaimo bathtub race this weekend will fly through the air with the greatest of ease—or so they hope.

The bathyfoil, which looks like a three-legged grasshopper or a piece of farm machinery with a bright umbrella on top, is the foul weather beast. It's been nicknamed Not Too Safe, using the initials of the old Naval Technical School.

It will be piloted by Commissioned Officer Bill Bissett, officer-in-charge of the hull training unit at the Fleet School.

WO Earl Dalton, of the painter training section, will be skipper of the bathtub on skis. (It had been taken apart Monday and was not available to be photographed.)

★ ★ ★

The second craft was designed for flat surfaces, Mr. Wallace said, and is a little bit faster than the foil.

"I hope we have smooth weather," said its skipper, adding that it was nicknamed Less Safe.

"You should have heard some of the names they were given while we were building them," he said.

The comical but operable contraptions have provided experience over the past three months for nine men in the hull training unit.

★ ★ ★

There were four stages of development, and several versions, while performance and safety features were being worked out.

The hydrofoil is all aluminum except for the glass fibre bathtub and skipper's chair, three inflated inner tubes for buoyancy and the cloth umbrella.

It is steered by the forward foil. The two rear foils support most of the weight. Power is supplied by a 6-hp outboard motor and top speed is about 14 knots.

★ ★ ★

The ski boat will be powered by a five-horsepower outboard motor. It hasn't been painted yet but if it's anything like its family rival, it should add color to the pre-race parade.

Not Too Safe has red foils, a red skipper's chair and a red-and-white umbrella. It has two aluminum pennants with the insignia of Training Command, of which the Fleet School is a unit, painted on them.

It has a natty little ship's wheel and, for the parade, it will be decorated with six colorful beach balls.

★ ★ ★

Several other entries are expected from Victoria.

Continue Winter Works, Saanich Council Urges

The resolution, drafted by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, will recommend continuation of the $50,000,000 program for not less than five years, with adequate notice to be given municipalities of any changes.

Ald. Edith Gunning, in supporting the motion, said "in some years it has taken all the employable males off the welfare list."

The council's endorsement will be forwarded to David Anderson, Liberal MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, the manpower and immigration minister and the prime minister.

In other business council decided:

- To put on the market $1,900,000 in 7½-per cent debentures to finance various capital projects. The municipality has permission to market up to $4,000,000 worth.
- To buy a backhoe, tractor, mower and rotovator for a total of $32,290.
- To appoint, at the request of the regional district, Municipal Engineer Neville Life to a special technical committee to study solid waste disposal.
- To turn down an offer of 33 acres of the Layritz Estate on Wilkinson Road at a price of $4,000 an acre.
- To buy a pumper truck for $39,133.
- To appoint to the position of planner, Ashok Shahani of India, civil engineer and Master of Science (UBC), effective Aug. 16.

New Mainland Air Link

Public Response Pleases Firm

It looks like a winner.

This, at least, was the quick assessment offered after the first day of the seaplane service that links downtown Victoria and downtown Vancouver.

Only one seven-passenger Beaver was pressed into service Monday by Air West Airlines Ltd. and fares spread over three flights each way totalled only about 28.

But the airline reported that telephone inquiries made during the day were much heavier than expected.

Business firms wanting to move representatives quickly between the two cities were said to be showing the most interest.

There were three passengers on the first flight of the day which left Vancouver at 7:45 a.m. On subsequent flights passengers ranged from a low of one to a capacity of seven.

The airline has a second Beaver aircraft and intends to add a 12-passenger Otter when needed.

Air time from Victoria's Inner Harbor at Victoria to Burrard Inlet was to have taken 40 minutes, but averaged from 35 to 37 minutes Monday.

The flights leave Victoria at 8:45 a.m., 1:15 and 6 p.m. They leave Vancouver at 7:45 a.m., 12:15 and 5 p.m.

Ineffective, Unnecessary, Says Trustee

Grade 1 Strappings 'Must Be Abolished'

By NANCY BROWN

In fits of temper, principals and teachers have strapped Grade 1 children, says Greater Victoria school trustee John Porteous.

He wants the practice stopped.

His move to abolish strapping throughout the school district was made at Monday night's school board meeting and will be considered again at the Board's August meeting.

"There are children strapped in elementary school in Grade 1, very often in a fit of temper by the teacher or principal, and it is strictly unnecessary," he told the board.

★ ★ ★

"I think it is time it was stopped."

Mr. Porteous said he feels strapping is not the most effective way to discipline students.

He cited a recent questionaire sent out to students and parents from Reynolds high school, which this year has stopped all strapping in school. Asked if they agreed with the plan, 73 per cent of students and 91 per cent of the parents felt it was good.

Only 16 per cent of students, and three per cent of parents disagreed, while the rest had no opinion.

★ ★ ★

"Strapping," maintained Mr. Porteous, "doesn't do the child any good, and there are other forms of punishment and counselling, particularly at the elementary level, which will help the child."

Dr. A. V. Rogers said he felt alternative means of punishment would be longwinded.

"I think for the ordinary common or garden trivial offence we should still leave it to the judgment of the teachers or principals whether they should resort to corporal punishment — it is a relatively trivial thing," he said.

"I disagree one hundred per cent with abolition," he said.

Mr. Porteous observed that Victoria is not operating under the ages-old English school system.

"To abolish the strap completely is a ridiculous motion," retorted Dr. Rogers.

Trustee Leslie Karagianis said he has seen examples of children corrected by corporal punishment and children disciplined in other ways, and he would like to see strapping stopped.

Corporal punishment, he said, has been abolished in the navy because nothing much was accomplished by it.

Dr. Rogers maintained that children who do wrong expect to be punished. "They would rather get it over with by a strapping—then it is done with and they can forget it.

"To drag it out with meetings and things is making an awful issue of offences which are relatively trivial," he said.

"Strapping has value and has worked over the years, used with discretion and not with anger and temper."

Dr. Carron Jameson felt that a good teacher would never have to use corporal punishment.

"He should be able to get the students attention, and if this proves impossible the defiant student should be sent home to contemplate his misdoing. We can't condone this form of punishment."

★ ★ ★

"I am against strapping in school but not in my home," said Dr. Donald Shorting. "I think a lot of youngsters who get the strap in school are the ones without discipline at home. At home I use corporal punishment in the form of my hand in two areas."

Board chairman Peter Bunn said corporal punishment in school is very formal. "There are witnesses, a book, and great rigmarole. It is pretty outdated and medieval."

★ ★ ★

That doesn't necessarily make it wrong," said Dr. Rogers.

Assistant district superintendant A. J. Longmore calculated that abolition of strapping would mean tripling the budget for special services staff (counsellors).

He said strapping is permitted under the Act, but with formal regulations "not only for the protection of the student, but also for the protection of the teacher."

The reason for the punishment, and the number of strokes, had to be recorded in a book.

"From the administration we have made statements to school principals that we are discouraging this, and it should be used as a last resort only," said Mr. Longmore.

He said discipline in the schools should be related to discipline in society, and this has been undergoing changes particularly in the last decade.

"The school is an agent of society, and should be as society desires," he added.

Dr. Rogers did not think the school board should necessarily accept the standards of society.

"Society these days has relatively few or no standards, and if we go along with that we are perpetuating it," he said.

Mr. Longmore was asked to report on school records of punishments in readiness for a discussion at the next board meeting.

Although 93

He Observes Miniskirts Going Past

By DIANE JANOWSKI

Most people's eyesight becomes poorer as they become older, but a Victoria man who celebrated his 93rd birthday Monday said he can see a lot more now than he used to.

"When I was young, the girls' skirts were so long you couldn't even see their ankles.

"But I'm still single," he laughed.

Mr. Pearce was born in Marilla, Ontario, in 1875, but left the east for the western frontier when he was 24 years old.

As Herd Boy

"I went to Moose Jaw and homesteaded there. At that time the government would sell you 160 acres of land for $10 if you would live on it six months of the year.

"The rest of the year, I worked as a herd boy," he said.

It was the duty of the herd boys to ride out each day to round up the cattle which would stray all over the plains because there were no fences.

"Sometimes I'd ride 50 miles in one day. But we never slept on the plains at night because the mosquitoes were too bad.

"Before they dried the wet spots up, the mosquitoes used to be so bad that you had to cover the horses with blankets or you wouldn't have been able to see them for the blood from the bites."

One Occasion

Mr. Pearce recalled one occasion when his saddle turned under him, catching his foot and throwing him off the horse.

"I had broken ribs and was about four miles from the house, and had to walk back by myself," he said.

But horses seldom got the better of him.

After working as a herd boy for about 15 years, Mr. Pearce left Moose Jaw to serve in the First World War.

"I was gassed at Paschendale," he said, "and when they took me to the hospital, the only skin I had left was that on my face."

Mr. Pearce moved to Victoria four years ago to recover from an illness. He now is in good health and takes a daily walk outside when the weather is favorable.

Sergeant Kicked at Beach Party

Constable's Jacket Slashed 10 Times

★ ★ ★

The incident occurred when Constable Jim White and four other Saanich policemen were called to a beach party.

Constable White's overcoat and tunic were cut. He is the Saanich department's dog master but he did not have his dog, Rex, with him at the time.

Sylvia Cottam, 20, of 438 Government was charged Monday in Central Magistrate's Court with assaulting Constable White and Sgt. Stephenson and with possession of an offensive weapon, a straight razor. She was remanded to Thursday to select her method of trial and plea.

★ ★ ★

Her husband, Oliver, 22, of the same address, pleaded not guilty to assaulting Constable White and was remanded to Thursday to set a date for trial. Bail for the couple was $300.

Edwards, Margaret Robins and Cooper checking radio car

By DON GAIN

Maybe you were stuck on the road and one of them came along and radioed for help.

Maybe your boat ran out of gas in the straits in a dense fog and they plotted your position and sent someone to the rescue.

Maybe you're a Saanich fireman and you remember Sept. 7, 1968.

That was the day the bush fire ravaged Mount Douglas.

Fire Chief Joseph Sutherland said one of the biggest aids in battling the blaze was the work of members of the Victoria Citizens Band Radio Club.

★ ★ ★

"Without even being called, they just appeared and assisted tremendously in communication between fire personnel at the base of the mountain and those at the top," Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis said Monday.

"They've established an excellent reputation for public service in situations involving crowds."

What do the radio club members get out of it? Apparently a lot of satisfaction because they've volunteered for the second year to lay on fire patrols on Mt. Douglas, Mt. Tolmie and Bear Hill just north of Elk Lake.

★ ★ ★

The 50 members of the club will be taking turns at patrolling the areas until Labor Day or later, depending on the weather, president John Edwards said.

Members are licensed to operate the citizens band for emergencies.

"More than half of them are members of Civil Defence," Mr. Edwards said. "We've taken first aid, communications, radio-logical defence courses and some have taken auxiliary police courses."

Vern Cooper, organizer of this year's fire patrol, says it gives him satisfaction, as a Saanich citizen. A supply technician at CFB Esquimalt, he lives at 3385 Keats.

"It's a good thing," he said. "Our patrols give just that extra fire protection which is necessary in these sprawling, out-of-the-way locations."

Mrs. Margaret Robins, a housewife who lives at 4961 Georgia Park Terrace, says she got interested in the club because her husband, Cyril, her daughter and son-in-law were. There are about 10 women members.

Mr. Robins, who is retired, said it costs about $200 to get started on the citizens band and equipment can run as high as $700.

★ ★ ★

The club has worked with Saanich police for several years on Hallowe'en.

Mr. Robins recalled one year when a young motorist went around throwing eggs at cars.

"We were able to get a pretty good idea of where he was and we notified the police."

The culprit was caught by the police who identified him by the smashed eggs in his car. Apparently he wasn't too neat during his foray.

"He certainly had egg on his face," Mr. Robins said.

Mayor Curtis said there is any number of situations in which the club can be of help. He mentioned abandoned cars, persons in distress, lost children, any untoward incidents in the parks.

"But their main concern is fire patrol," he said.

Mountain Takes Life

NEW DELHI (AP) — A 10-member Japanese-Indian women's expedition to the Himalayas led by Nandini Patel topped the 18,566-foot Kailash Mountain in May but met with misfortune and has given up efforts to climb others. A message from Miss Patel said an avalanche killed a Sherpa guide and bad weather made further climbing impossible.

Raise Money

WINNIPEG (CP) — Thirty-six parrish councils of the Catholic Women's League in the Winnipeg diocese raised $63,287 in 1967. The bulk of the money raised, almost $40,000, was used in parish work with other contributions being made to seminarians, Indian, Eskimo and foreign missions, scholarships and bursaries and national league funds.

Computers Needed

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientific and technological advancement is producing so many new books that librarians of the future will have to be aided by computers to keep up with the flow. Fancy Male Faces Not Really So New

By SUE MAYSE

Male beauty aids, from false beards and eyelashes to facial masques, are not as new as the fashion world claims, according to Syrt Wolters, proprietor of Barber Syrt.

Mr. Wolters, who learned his trade in Holland before the last war, said that even twenty years ago in Europe men were taking greater care of their hair and faces.

★ ★ ★

But it is only in the last few years that North American men have started to follow the trend of their more stylish European cousins.

"Men here have thought this was feminine or sissy," he said.

Even so, Mr. Wolters pointed out, men have been indulging in beauty treatments for many years.

"When men used to go to the barber to be shaved, they would also get a massage, a facial. They didn't go just for a shave."

But, he said, this practise has died out — very few men come into his store now for a shave, and there are young men in their twenties who have never even seen a man shaved by a barber.

What about makeup for men?

★ ★ ★

"Here we have much more call for hair styling and coloring and even hair-pieces. But I think one of the reasons for makeup being used by men is that people now dare much more to be themselves, they dare to be cultured."

For the use of cosmetics and beauty aids in either men or women, Mr. Wolters said, is a result of culture.

"Of course men can carry it too far — so do some girls who use far too heavy makeup. Right now, the men who are using cosmetics are the people who are not living in reality — the common man may never use them. But it will take a while to catch on anyway here."

"I believe that what you have you should improve upon," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Let me give you an example. You have a pasture, in which sheep are grazing — and you have a lawn. The lawn is more beautiful because it is cultured."

Boiled Beef Fashion Look

By SHEILA WALSH

ROME (UPI) — Italian fashion designers, famed for their knack of producing happy contrasts by mating colors that usually mean dog-and-cat clashes, are changing their ways.

As the showings of fall-winter collections for international buyers and press went into their third day, the color picture was about as vibrant as a plate of boiled beef.

★ ★ ★

Antonelli, the first fashion house in today's program, announced beige and black as its favorite colors. Greys and browns were the favored shades in Patrick De Barentzen's collection on the opening day.

Valentino, the current king of Italian fashion and one of Jacqueline Kennedy's favorite designers, summed the whole trend up neatly in his collection Sunday night.

There were white, grey, brown, dark green and black. There were no contrasts—at least for day clothes.

★ ★ ★

Valentino let you pick your color but made you stick with it. He presented the collection in color groups and meant them. Green meant green from the big velvet beret down through the flared coat with narrow, marked shoulders, to matching textured stockings.

The hemlines were well above the knee. The cut was classic Valentino, slim and apparently simple, with emphasis on carefully understated detail.

THE FABRIC DOCTOR HAS THE ANSWERS

Question:

Do you recommend press-on bindings?—Mrs. A. R.

Dear Mrs. A. R.: On washable items, press-on bindings seem to be quite satisfactory but unfortunately they seldom withstand drycleaning. The solvent dissolves the adhesive and the hem will come undone. The best advice I can give is to sew hems of garments that require drycleaning. This is also true of badges and trimmings that are glued to a garment.

Sunglasses Old Hat

By EUGENIA SHEPPARD

NEW YORK — Pardon me, but we no longer call them sunglasses. Sunglasses are old hat.

They have become cosmetic glasses. The frames are designed to do the utmost for cheekbones. The lens colors are figured out to make sexy eyes. The whole production has to look as well pushed up on top of the head as across the eyes.

In order to get the right glasses on the right girls, English-born designer Bernard Kayman has just put directive labels on his collections. The little tags read: For square faces. For oval faces. For round faces. For long faces. For small faces.

Bernard Kayman's latest creation is for almost all kinds of faces, though the girls he has in mind are those who wear contact lenses and, or, false eyelashes and ride in windy open convertibles. The glasses are actually more like goggles, since they reach from ear to ear. Molded from plastic, they curve away from the eyes to keep lashes in place and dust out. Since they have no frames but just a molded edge and no bar across the noses, they give the wearer the illusion of no glasses at all.

Bernard Kayman calls them the Brewete. If I've seen them on half a dozen goodlooking women during the past week, it's no wonder, because 10,000 have already been sold. They look like the sun, sorry, cosmetic glasses of the summer at $4.

Just to show you how closely glasses follow fashion there are mini, midi, and maxi glasses in the Kayman collection. The mini glasses are made to be worn far down on the nose and looked over rather then through. Lots of very young girls find the grandmotherly look amusing.

Almost all the glasses are color-graded, dark at the top to clear at the bottom for reading a road map without having to take them off. Bernard Kayman is very car conscious. He also makes a headband that keeps hair in place and has a visor that pushes up and down. Some of the other glasses have two pairs of lenses. The extras that can be snapped in are for driving at night or in the fog.

Bernard Kayman has strong likes and dislikes about the way women pick and wear his cosmetic glasses. The new tags are mild compared to what he would say if he were in stores watching customers shop.

He hates harequin shapes. They cut right across the eyebrows and produce an expression of perpetual surprise. They also point towards the nose and make it look longer.

He hates rhinestones on glasses in any way, shape, or form. For evening he likes frosted frames that are almost invisible and lenses that are either the color of eye shadow or powder.

He hates to see brunettes with bangs wearing tortoise shell frames. They make her look heavy and absolutely formidable. Tortoise is too much for any woman with a small face. He thinks it's wonderful, though, for blondes.

Though most of the Kayman glasses are pretty and flattering and conservative enough to be almost inconspicuous, he's taking a flyer on something spectacular for next winter's vacation season.

His new butterfly glasses have been picked already for an October fashion magazine cover. They are made of two big wasp-shaped lenses without frames, and they project far out beyond the cheek bones.

★ ★ ★

All the Kayman glasses have one great virtue besides flattery. You can throw them at anything or anybody and there's no damage.

There are days when nothing does your soul as much good as throwing your glasses, Bernard Kayman believes.

He took off the pair he was wearing and heaved them in the direction of the white-painted bookcase in his office. They struck a corner and bounced off.

When the designer retrieved them, he straightened one slightly bent ear piece and wiped the lenses with a cloth. They were as good as new.

Carpet Covers Bottom

MONTREAL (CP) — Businessman Lou Packer has laid "wall-to-wall" broadloom on the bottom of the swimming pool at his suburban Town of Mount Royal home.

"The installation is something in the nature of a test," he told reporters at pool-side.

"The new indoor-outdoor carpets are cropping up everywhere. We know they perform well on outdoor patios, kitchen and bathroom floors, boat decks, and everywhere else. So why not on the bottom of a pool?"

Mr. Packer, president of Packer Floor Coverings Ltd, said:

"It feels better underfoot. It is safer than slippery pool bottoms and steps, and it adds a touch of luxury."

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've been staring at this piece of paper for 15 minutes, not knowing how to put my problem into words. Well, here goes: Have you ever heard of counting silverware when the company leaves? I never thought I'd have to do it, but I was wrong.

Several months ago we had dinner at the home of friends. I noticed Mrs. A. had at least five different patterns of sterling silver — service for two in one pattern, three in another pattern, and so on. She had service for four in the same pattern I have.

This woman is in our bridge club and she has been here several times for lunch as well as for dinner parties. Recently I was preparing for a buffet supper for 12 when I discovered I was short 3 teaspoons, 2 dinner forks, 2 salad forks, a sugar shell and a cake server.

Have you any suggestions as to how I can hang on to the silver I have left? Don't tell me not to invite her anymore. She is a close friend and her husband and my husband are business associates.—TARNISHED RELATIONSHIP

Dear Tarnished: The next time you are in the woman's home make a point of the fact that SOME of her silver is like yours. Ask her, too, why she doesn't settle on one pattern instead of trying so many. Do it privately and be sure to convey the message.

Fell Off Chair

Dear Ann Landers: I had to write and comment on your advice to "Countdown Mother" — the woman who confessed she hated her daughter and treated her shabbily from the day the child was born.

Several women at our card club discussed that letter and most of them said they couldn't understand how a mother in her right mind could despise her own child. I remained silent although I was well qualified to speak since I was such a mother myself.

One day I slapped my child so hard she fell off the chair. She had asked for a second helping of mashed potatoes and wouldn't eat it. Her nose began to bleed and I couldn't stop it. I called the doctor.

When he came I was petrified because the child had lost so much blood. He asked me what happened. I told him the truth. That wonderful doctor urged me to get psychiatric help. He offered to arrange for an appointment at the community clinic.

After 16 months of therapy I am a new woman. I now understand why I hated that child. Furthermore, with understanding has come complete acceptance, if not genuine love.

Please continue to tell all mothers who have hostile feelings toward their children to get professional help. It changed my life and saved my daughter. —COUNTDOWN MOTHER NUMBER TWO

Dear Mother: Thank you for your letter. It should give encouragement to other mothers who suffer with the same problem. Knowing that there is help, that such a situation is not utterly hopeless, can be immensely supportive.

8 CARD OF THANKS

Our sudden loss, the death of our beloved mother, Alexandra Lucinda George, has left an emptiness in our hearts that can never be wholly filled, but the many kind words and acts of sympathy from our relatives and friends have [illegible] ably. We are deeply grateful to the members of the St. Ann's Catholic Women's League, The Rev. Father H. D. MacIntee, O.M.I., the soloist Abel Joe; and Mrs. Silvestra Modeste, the pallbearers, and the Sands Mortuary Ltd., "Memorial Chapel of Chimes". — Walter, Ben and Hap George, Rita and Lila Sam.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our many friends for their kindness and messages of sympathy in the sudden loss of a beloved husband, father and grandfather. Our special thanks to Canon J. [illegible] and McCall Brothers.—Mrs. [illegible] Ever and family.

9 IN MEMORIAM

ASHTON — In loving memory of Mabel Grace Ashton, who died on July 15, 1962.

Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just, to the end of her days;
Sincere and true, in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories, she left behind.

ABOUTV

with Bruce Lowther

The recent fuss over Reach for the Top caused several people to ask if and why TV programs must be planned so far ahead of air time. The answer to the if is definitely yes, and to the why is this, in brief—the network-appointed producer needs months and even years to make sure the technicians, performers and equipment he wants will be available when he wants them.

If anyone still doubts, allow me to relay this Variety report—While you're enjoying summer 1968, CBS is planning its network schedule for 1969-70. The report says new programs may involve Stan Freberg, Minnie Pearl, Grand Prix racing, a university medical centre, U.S. naval intelligence, a lawyer-psychiatrist, a U.S. treasury secretary aide, several new comedies and 100 people whose plane lands on a desert island.

BUREAU OF USELESS INFORMATION: Saturday's senile answer—The Seven Wonders of the World, according to my sources, were the Pyramids of Giza, Temple of Diana, Tomb of King Mausolus, Hanging Gardens of Babylon, Statue of Zeus, Colossus of Rhodes and Lighthouse of Pharos. That's what the man said.

Today's question—I've Got a Lovly Bunch of Coconuts, right? How big are some of the coconuts? What did the showman say? And describe "me wife." Finally, what band and singer made the 1950ish hit recording? Answers Wednesday.

". . . Now, back to The Baby Game."

Tuesday Highlights

C-8:00 p.m.—The fair Showtime series has Don Knotts, Robert Morley, Erroll Garner, Julie London—2, 6.

8:00—PCL baseball, Seattle at Tacoma—11.

C-8:30—Showtime again (see 8:00)—7, 12.

C-9:00—Summer Music Hall trots out Paul Anka, Pete Fountain and the amusing Dick Cavett—2, 6.

C-9:30—Delicious timing: George Wallace for president and then, at 10, Part three of the seven-part CBS Negro series Of Black America, with Tom Mboya, Floyd McKissick and others—7, 12.

Tuesday Movies

8:45 a.m.—The King and Four Queens (poor 1956 western), Clark Gable, Eleanor Parker, Jo Van Fleet—4.

★ 12:00 noon—The Last 10 Days (1956 German-made Hitler story), Oskar Werner, Albin Skoda—11.

3:00—Blondie Goes Latin (1941 comedy, ditto)—7.

4:00—The Virginian (1929 version), Gary Cooper, Walter Huston. Interesting only because of its age—13.

5:30—The Lion and the Horse (1952 outdoors adventure), Steve Cochran, Sherry Jackson—12.

8:00—Valiant Is the Word for Carrie (1936 life-isn't-like-this-any-more), Gladys George—13.

11:00—Girl with a Suitcase (1961 Italian romantic drama), Claudia Cardinale. Who needs anyone else?—12.

11:00—Dishonored (1931 Marlene Dietrich disrupts the First War). Boy, is this ever funny!—13.

C-11:45—Revolt at Fort Laramie (no-names 1957 western)—2.

1:00 a.m.—It's in the Bag (good 1945 comedy), Fred Allen, Jack Benny, Robert Benchley, other great names—13.

Tuesday Radio

8:00 p.m.—A CBC evening about GBS includes a report on the first night of Pygmalion in 1914—CBU (690).

8:05—A fine agenda on Gala Performance: The Firebird, Lalo's Symphonie Espagnole played by Leonid Kogan, Traviata arias by Moffo, Tucker and Merrill—CFMS (98.5).

9:30—A recital by soprano Lois Marshall—CBU.

9:30—Showcase: the humor of Jules Feiffer—CBU-FM (105.7).

★—Recommended; C—Color.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

A correspondent challenged a proposition we put forward in a recent quiz: With two possible trump suits, both divided 5-3, one should tend to play in the weaker suit. Here is a quite common type of deal which supports our theory.

Vul: None

NORTH (D)
♠ J 7 5
♡ 8 4 2
◇ A 10 9

WEST
♠ A Q 2
♡ J 6 3
◇ 8 6 5
♣ K 9 5 4

EAST
♠ K 8
♡ 10 7
◇ Q J 7 3 2

SOUTH
♠ 10 9 6 4 3
♡ A K Q 9 5
◇ K 4
♣ 8

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	All pass

Opening lead: Club four

Suppose the bidding starts as indicated in the diagram. South can soon picture North with three cards in both major suits and he should therefore elect to play in the weaker suit, spades. The club opening is won by dummy's ace and a trump is led. Declarer ruffs the club return and plays a second round of trumps. A third club comes back but declarer ruffs and shifts to hearts, leaving the opponents with only the master trump to win.

Clearly, declarer makes the contract quite easily if both major suits are 3-2. He may even make it if hearts are 4-1.

By contrast, look what happens to a contract of four hearts. Declarer wins the club opening and plays a spade. (This is slightly better than drawing trumps.) The club return is ruffed and another spade is led. A third round of clubs reduces South to a A-K-Q of hearts and there is still a spade winner against him.

The contract is now dead, for if South draws trumps West will cash a club when he comes in with the spade ace. And if South knocks out the last spade before drawing trumps, a club return from West will establish a trick for the jack of hearts.

Hence our proposition. Weak suits make bad side suits. But they make very good trump suits, provided there is eight-card length in the combined hands.

TOYOTA COROLLA

"THE CLEANEST ECONOMY CAR EVER TO COME FROM THE OTHER SIDE OF THE OCEAN."

Who wants an economy car that won't get out of its own way and is left behind on the hills? The TOYOTA COROLLA has more power, a higher top speed and better acceleration than any other car in the 1100 cc class. And it still gets better than 40 miles on a gallon of regular gas.

PRICE ? ? ?
QUALITY ? ? ?

We sometime wonder which way we should shop. Shall we shop price or should we look at quality? Price gives us some satisfaction, because although we didn't get what we really wanted, we did supposedly save a couple bucks. HOWEVER, the SWEET TASTE of QUALITY does stay with us LONG AFTER the price bit is forgotten, especially in PRIDE OF OWNERSHIP, when it is

Smiles Of Success

Proud mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Roy George congratulate Bill White of Nanaimo Indian Band who has won coveted trophy in cook's course at Nanaimo Vocational Training School. Mr. White, who is first Indian to gain top honors at school, will keep smaller trophy and have his name inscribed on large one. He led a class of eight students to win trophy. Awards were presented to him during graduating dinner Saturday.

Cook's Course

Honors Go To Indian

NANAIMO — For the first time in the history of Nanaimo Vocational School, an Indian graduate has walked off with top honors in his class.

He is Bill White, of Nanaimo Indian Reserve who has named outstanding graduate during the school's graduating dinner Saturday.

'LEARNED MUCH'

Mr. Cooper said he had learned a great deal from his relations with the native people.

"While they don't say too much, they're the most communicative people I've ever met in my life. I learned a great deal from them," he said.

Mr. Cooper said that vocational training is not yet fully appreciated by Canadians.

"What has been accomplished by these young people tonight is real. These people have produced a memorable occasion, and have been justifiably honored."

"Vocational training is vital to education. It's measurable. There is instant assessment."

Southern Vancouver Island Tribal Federation is proud of Mr. White's accomplishments.

It sent him a congratulatory message saying "This honor . . . that has come to one of our members . . . is a moral victory for the Indians of Southern Vancouver Island Federation.

HIS ADVICE

Mr. White has definite advice for the young people of his band.

"They should try to finish high school like I did," he said.

"If I could do it . . . I know they could. But they all seem to be dropping out.

CALGARY JOB

"They are influenced by the older boys of our band who left school some years ago and are working and making good money. They persuade teenage boys to quit school. It's too bad."

Mr. White said he could never have won top honors at the vocational school if he had not finished high school.

He is leaving Thursday for a pre-arranged job in Calgary.

Artist Will Stage Two-Week Show

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Painter Mrs. Herbert Hammond is in the midst of preparing for her two-week show at the Silverbridge Inn starting Sunday.

Some of her paintings may not appeal to the general public, but painting to please is not Mrs. Hammond's intention.

NO PRETTY PICTURES

She said: "I don't paint for other people. I don't try to paint pretty pictures."

"I am interested in everything not only one line.

"The more I do, the more I realize how much there is to learn.

"I feel about things and I want to say something about them.

"Naturally, it is wonderful to sell because then I know I get my message across to someone."

She describes an artist as a person who wants to create "a tiny bit of life," and in the process, absorbs the things that matter.

Mrs. Hammond said: "As an artist you are more aware of color, form and of other people's feeling.

DISAPPEARING GOAL

"I cannot paint pictures on commission.

"I must paint as I see it or it is no longer my picture."

She said to paint is a continuous drive to reach a goal which sometimes seems to disappear in the distance. That in turn produces the urge to surge ahead and yet it never can be reached.

NOT EASY

"I don't think to be an artist is easy. It is a lonely road.

"I can see my limitations in myself. I feel so often that I cannot create what I want to create and I am never really satisfied.

"I am always searching and experimenting, and I think art is a way of life."

Three Escape Car Blaze

FULFORD—Three people were rescued from a wrecked car on the Fulford-Ganges highway Sunday, seconds before the vehicle burst into flames.

The car, driven by Running Saterno, 19, of Parks Drive, Ganges, had been travelling south when it left the road, hit a ditch, and rolled over twice. There were two passengers, Miss Merilee Sawyer, 18, and Fred Hall, 22, both of Ganges.

★ ★ ★

Two Fulford men, Roger Hughes of Burgoyne Bay and C. M. Gatley of Ganges saw the accident and helped the three from the car before it caught fire.

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Gatley called the fire brigade, police and ambulance.

Mr. Saterno's injures included a broken collarbone, Miss Sawyer sustained lacerations and slight shock and Mr. Hall received facial lacerations.

They were taken to Lady Minto Hospital where Mr. Saterno and Miss Sawyer stayed for treatment. Mr. Hall was discharged after being treated.

Durante Leaves Silently

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI — Successful Liberal candidate Richard Durante slipped quietly into Port Alberni late Saturday, and slipped away again Sunday without any of the fanfare or celebrations which many Liberal supporters had hoped to arrange for him.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Durante has been attending summer school at UBC, working toward his Master's Degree in education.

He says he hopes to finish this year's seven-week course before he has to leave for Ottawa.

Mr. Durante gained the Comox-Alberni seat after a judicial recount gave him a majority of nine votes over long-time NDP incumbent Tom Barnett.

Mr. Durante said he took time only to make a prepared statement for press and radio, and attend briefly to business matters, before dashing out to visit his family who are on vacation at the family's summer Island hideaway.

There he relaxed with his wife, Bernita, and two children, Mark, 15 and Nadine, six.

By early Sunday evening, he was on his way back to UBC where a heavy course of studies waits for him.

In his statement, Mr. Durante thanked his supporters, and praised his campaign workers.

★ ★ ★

He congratulated his opponents for the clean campaign they waged, free of the mud-slinging which, he said, so often mars a federal election.

Tanker Sold

PORTLAND (AP) — The tanker Mandoil II, one of two ships that caught fire at sea after a collision Feb. 28, was sold for scrap Monday for $33,000.

N. W. Kennedy, owner of N. W. Kennedy Ltd., Vancouver, made the winning offer for the vessel which is anchored off Nootka Sound, Vancouver Island.

Curtis Cottsford, Portland lawyer who conducted the sale for the tanker's owner, said before title could be transferred, a settlement had to be made with Island Tug and Barge Co., which has filed suit for towing and salvage charges.

Zidell Explorations, Inc., Portland, bid $52,000 and Leonard Sutzer, Portland scrap steel dealer, made a $46,000 offer which he said was for a Japanese firm. A $46,000 bid was made by H. Yamanaga of Mi Sui Co., Vancouver.

Mother Dies After Crash

A Langford mother of four died in Nanaimo hospital Sunday after her car was involved in a head-on crash with a truck Saturday night on the Island Highway near Nanaimo Golf Club.

Nanaimo Coroner Russ Inkster said an inquest into the death of Mrs. Donna Thompson, 28, of 332 Goldstream Road, would be opened Tuesday evening then adjourned until two other people involved in the accident could testify.

Both truck driver Randolph Hackett, 21, of Wellington and a passenger in the Thompson car, Patricia Warner, 18, of Campbell River, are in fair condition.

Mr. Inkster said as yet no funeral arrangements for Mrs. Thompson have been announced.

Mr. Hackett, who has serious leg and internal injuries, had to be pried from the wreckage of his truck.

Consumer Index Change Here Soon

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics hopes to introduce the first part of a two-stage revision of the consumer price index later this year and complete the task early next year.

An informant said the current index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, will be revised in an arithmetical way to reflect price changes since 1961.

Then, the basis of the prices survey—the buying habits of average urban families—will be brought up to 1967 from the present standard, 1957.

THIS SUMMER

The bureau had hoped to make the revision this mid-summer, but staff difficulties—the shortage of experienced statisticians, and lack of senior personnel in the prices division—has made this impossible.

On the basis of 1949 prices equalling 100, the consumer price index now stands at 154.7 for June. The index for 1962 was 129.2.

A straight arithmetical conversion would make this year's June index 119.6, though the bureau says there will be some refinement in the conversion it makes to the new 1961 base.

MANY OTHERS

The bureau has been converting many of its other indexes of basic economic trends to the 1961 base.

The current index was first published in 1952, replacing the old cost-of-living index. The 1949-based consumer price index was first based on family expenditure patterns prevailing in 1947-48, but this was revised in 1961 to a basis of family expenditure patterns prevailing in 1957.

The target group for the current index is composed of families living in cities with over 30,000 population, ranging in size from two adults to two adults with four children, and with annual incomes which ranged in 1957 from $2,500 to $7,000.

GOODS BASKET

The family expenditure pattern is the so-called basket of goods and services representative of what the target group families bought in the base period. The basket was revised in 1957 to bring it into line with family spending patterns prevailing then.

One of the biggest difficulties the statisticians have in compiling a consumer price or living costs index is measuring improvements in quality.

The goods and services in the basket must have a constant quantity and quality so that the index measures only changes in price. The fact that the housewife pays more for improved quality and service-washed instead of field-harvested carrots, for instance—shouldn't show up in the price index, according to the statistical ideal.

300 ITEMS

The consumer price index now is based on a survey of about 300 items in the basket. The more thorough revision of the index the bureau is planning for next year will reflect 1967 spending patterns.

It is not unusual in price indexes to have the final figure based on prices prevailing in one year and spending patterns reflecting another year.

Some economists criticize price indexes because they reflect sales and other direct taxes. The consumer price index jumped upwards this year when federal and provincial governments raised taxes on tobacco, alcohol, and retail sales generally.

The critics say that many wage negotiations are based on the consumer price index and attempts by the government to dampen inflation in the economy by raising indirect taxes are frustrated. Higher taxes mean higher prices and higher wage demands as a consequence.

But a price index expert at the bureau said tax changes have contributed only 10 per cent to the over-all increase in prices in the country and have contributed only about one-half of 1 per cent to the increase in the consumer price index. In June, the index stood 5.9 index points or 4 per cent higher than in June last year.

Price indexes frequently add fuel to political debates. This was part of the reason for changing the name officially to "consumer price index" from "cost of living index" in 1952.

In fact, the statisticians say, the index only measures changes in consumer prices—not the cost of living. People don't have to buy some goods and services covered in the index to live.

For Quebec

Baby Boom Suggested

QUEBEC (CP) — French-Canadians had better produce more babies if they want to survive in North America, says a private organization devoted to the preservation of the French culture.

In a 40-page pamphlet entitled The Crisis of the Quebec Birth Rate, the Council on French Life in America suggests that the provincial government should adopt a new family policy and give bonuses to productive parents.

HANDED TO MINISTER

The pamphlet says that Quebec's birth rate started to fall in 1959 and that the decline has accelerated since, perhaps because of controversy in the Roman Catholic Church and an easing of strictures upon birth control.

STUDY FRANCE

To combat a fall in the provincial birth rate from 142,000 births in 1959 to fewer than 100,000 in 1967, the Quebec government should send a delegation to France to study methods used there to encourage family life.

The pamphlet also comes up with a series of practical methods for encouraging family growth, including a suggestion that parents should be given at least $100 on the birth of their third child and $100 for each subsequent child.

Also recommended are payments given as rewards on the fifth and 10th anniversaries of successful marriages, with the amount to vary according to the number of dependent children.

The council says that improving the birth rate seems a better method of preserving French culture in America than a policy of encouraging immigration from French-speaking countries.

The experience with immigration during the last 10 years has been, the council says, "that most immigrants go to Ontario or the United States after a period of adaptation in Quebec."

"It was by producing babies more than immigration that New France was built," the pamphlet says. "Only by keeping up the birth rate will French-Canada survive."

Shawnigan Break-In

Youths Caught By Roadblock

Three young Victorians were arrested Sunday night at a roadblock at Goldstream by Colwood RCMP, half an hour after they had broken into a handicraft store at Shawnigan Lake.

Monday afternoon, the three pleaded guilty to breaking, entering and theft before Magistrate James Roberts, at Shawnigan Lake.

David Brian Mitchell, 20, his cousin, Dennis Richard Mitchell, 18, and Donald Harper, all of 32 Dallas Road, were fined $250 each. Police said the three had no previous records. They were ordered to post $500 bonds to keep the peace for one year.

Police were notified of the break-in about 10 p.m., when a car drove away from C. E. Whitfield's Canadiana Crafts Shop. Roadblocks were set up on the Trans-Canada Highway north and south of Shawnigan Lake.

Police said $100 worth of handicrafts were recovered.

Woman Hurt Near Duncan

DUNCAN—A rear-end collision involving two cars and a pickup truck has sent one person to hospital with minor injuries. Total damage amounted to about $1,500, police said.

Mrs. Dorothy Ward of Victoria, a passenger in one of the cars, was treated for leg and other injuries and then discharged from Cowichan District Hospital.

Police said the three drivers involved in the accident on the Trans-Canada Highway, south of Duncan, were Edward Baechler of Victoria, W. H. Ward, also of Victoria, and G. E. Amsden of Duncan.

Shotguns Supplied

MONTREAL (CP) — The five patrol cars of suburban Dorval police force have each been equipped with rapid-fire lightweight shotguns which are locked into the dashboards to prevent theft.

The compact weapons, designed for short-range use and riot control, were acquired "not only for the protection of our staff and citizens but to permit us to cope with criminals who today are armed with everything ranging from sawed-off shotguns to M-1 sub-machine-guns," said police director Alderic R. Noel.

Magistrates' Inquiry Hears Taped Talks

TORONTO (CP) — Taped telephone conversations introduced at a judicial inquiry Monday showed Magistrates Fred Bannon and George Gardhouse had connections with Vincent Alexander, and linked Alexander to court cases involving gambling, liquor and narcotics offences.

The inquiry, before Mr. Justice Campbell Grant of the Ontario Supreme Court, was called by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart to investigate the two Toronto magistrates' "behavior or misbehavior" with Alexander.

The beginning of the inquiry brought the surprise resignation of Magistrate Bannon. It was read by his lawyer as another copy was being delivered to Attorney-General Wishart.

He said in the letter he had been indiscreet to continue his association with Alexander after being appointed a magistrate in December, 1967.

For Strike

Postal Curb Today

OTTAWA (CP)—The post office department has announced an embargo on all first-class mail for out-of-town destinations effective at 5 p.m. local time today.

In an announcement Monday, the department said that in view of the nationwide postal strike threatened for 2 a.m. PDT Thursday, embargoes will go into effect today on all classes of mail.

The embargo on second, third and fourth class mail is effective at noon local time, five hours earlier than the first-class embargo.

Second, third and fourth class mail consists mainly of newspapers, magazines, other printed matter, and parcel post. The embargo on newspapers will not be imposed until 5 p.m. local time.

"As the embargoes will affect mail to and from other countries, as well as Canadian mail, arrangements will be made with other postal administrations for the necessary co-operation in the curtailment of their despatches to Canada," the statement said.

Cox Victor In Oak Bay

By JOHN MATTERS

Rejecting Premier Bennett's passionate pleas for a government member, Oak Bay's voters Monday elected Liberal Allan Cox to the legislature.

Mr. Cox won easily over Social Crediter Peter Pollen and Mrs. Myra Yarwood, the NDP's entry.

The results of the byelection in the urban riding did not alter its political allegiance of the past 16 years.

The premier, whose capital residence is in the riding, called on Oak Bay voters during the campaign to at last send someone to the legislature who would not be a government critic. The response was clearly negative.

WIDER MARGIN

His predecessor, Alan Macfarlane, who resigned the seat for an appointment to the British Columbia Supreme Court, was elected with a majority of 54 per cent in the September, 1966, provincial election.

"I'm either two years behind my time or two years ahead of it," said Mr. Pollen, who reiterated a statement he made frequently during the campaign — the Liberals could fragment the political right and thus help bring into being an NDP government.

EVOLUTION BELIEF

"I believe in evolution rather than revolution. It will be an unstable political scene in B.C. if the trend continues."

Mr. Pollen also criticized The Daily Colonist for not involving itself in the byelection "in the depth you should have." The newspaper published only one editorial on the topic and "I think a responsible newspaper should have got much deeper into the thing but you weren't into it at all."

NET RESULT

Mr. Cox said the results showed the people of Oak Bay and North Vancouver-Capilano ridings were not accepting Premier Bennett's invitation to add to the government's Legislature strength.

"The Liberal support seems to be increasing," said the 40-year-old corporation lawyer, who resigned as Oak Bay's reeve last December.

Mrs. Yarwood said Mr. Cox's victory, even from the early returns, appeared undisputed. In the 1966 provincial election, she received 976 votes.

TWO OTHERS

She had hoped for more support this time but "that will have to wait until the next election."

The Oak Bay byelection, like the two others on the Mainland, had scarcely any momentum until after the June 25 federal

'Government Remains Strong'

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

The Liberals and New Democratic Party beat back a determined bid by Premier Bennett Monday night to win at least one of three provincial byelections — making the government score none for four at the polls so far in 1968.

The closest race was in Revelstoke-Slocan where William King won a narrow victory for the NDP. Liberals Allan Cox in Oak Bay and David Brousson in North Vancouver Capilano won handily to retain these two for their party.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in a telephone interview from Revelstoke, said when Monday's voting was considered together with the NDP victory in the Vancouver South seat previously held by the government last May 21, it spells major trouble for Social Credit.

STILL STRONG

Premier Bennett, speaking from Kelowna, said the government remains strong with 32 seats in the 55-seat legislature to 17 for the NDP and six for the Liberals. He noted the NDP made a poor showing in both urban ridings where Social Credit ran second to the Liberals and in Revelstoke-Slocan the New Democrat won by only a narrow margin.

The premier repeated his earlier statement that there would be no provincial general election in 1968 and added that he felt such a statement added stability to the province. He said he knew of no further provincial byelections that might be coming up.

FURTHER PROOF

A spokesman for the leaderless Liberal party, Allan Williams, MLA for West Vancouver Howe Sound, said Monday night's results were further proof of the resurgence of Liberalism in B.C.

In both Oak Bay and North Vancouver, though admittedly Liberal strongholds, Social

WHITEHORSE, Yukon (CP) — Progressive Conservative Erik Nielsen retained his Yukon seat after votes were officially counted Monday—but his lead was narrowed by eight votes to 63. Nielsen had 3,111 votes compared with 3,048 for Liberal Chris Findlay, who said he will ask for a recount.

Out of Warsaw Summit

Red Letter Day for Prague

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four of its East European allies wound up a summit meeting here Monday by drafting a letter to their Czechoslovak counterparts, whose liberal movement has caused them concern.

The Polish news agency PAP announced the formulation of the letter to Prague without disclosing what it said.

However the participants—from the Soviet Union, Poland, Bulgaria, Hungary and East Germany—had publicly expressed fear that the Czechoslovak party leadership was losing control of the democratization process.

TELEVISION ADDRESS

(In Bucharest, the Romanian news agency Agerpress carried a report of a speech by party leader Nicolai Ceausescu in which he endorsed the Czechoslovakian liberalization drive, wishing the Czechs "all success from the bottom of our hearts." Ceausescu said there could be no justification for intervention "to bring Czechoslovakia on a particular Socialist road.")

TROOPS CAUSE CONCERN

The continued presence of these troops—part of 5,000 Russians committed to the manoeuvres—had caused concern among some Czechoslovaks.

The troops began leaving Saturday, but then the movement halted. Official Czechoslovak news media said the interruption was because of heavy weekend traffic. But the delay

Talks Break Off, Walkout Certain

OTTAWA (CP) — Efforts to prevent a nationwide postal strike Thursday appeared doomed early today when government negotiators broke off last-minute bargaining talks through the services of a mediator with union officials.

A government spokesman told reporters that treasury board representative will return to their suite at a midtown hotel later today to resume efforts to avert what now seems an almost certain countrywide walkout at 2 a.m. PDT Thursday.

These were the developments in the dispute Monday:

● Judge Rene Lippe, a crack labor mediator, re-entered the dispute as the personal representative of Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board.

● The 24,000-member Council of Postal Union and treasury board, which represents the government, sent their negotiators to separate rooms at the Skyline Hotel to allow Judge Lippe to flit between the parties in an effort to resolve their differences.

Bill Paying Pedestrian Affair

Runners, Wires Carry Load

Victorians will have to play the postal strike by ear if it comes to pass, according to information gathered Monday by the Colonist.

At least one bank has stopped sending mail to customers. Urgent information will have to be phoned. Bank-to-bank mail will be handled by bank messengers.

Businesses which have accounts payable in other towns may arrange for customers to make deposits in branch banks. The banks can then transfer the money by phone or by wire.

A CPR telegraph spokesman said business would probably double.

"It did during the 1965 strike," he said. "Of course we're very busy right now since we took over CN telegraph business here on June 1."

* * *

Other businessmen said they would just have to wait and see what happened.

"We'll probably have to play it by ear," said Gordon Dunaway of A. W. Jones Insurance Service Ltd. "It's a case of goodwill. We'll do our best to make sure people with new automobile insurance policies are looked after. We're not expecting any problems."

A lot of people are going to be taking to their feet to pay bills they usually mail.

Water bills are out for this month. Victoria city comptroller James Bradley said Monday. If the strike goes on, he said residents would be expected to bring their payments to city hall. If this isn't possible, water won't be cut off, he said.

B.C. Hydro and B.C. Telephone bills can be paid at their offices and at pay stations in various stores.

Pearson's Cabinet Leaked 'Like Sieve'

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., (CP) — Secret information leaked from former Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet "like a sieve," Judy LaMarsh said in an interview Monday.

Miss LaMarsh, former Liberal secretary of state, said cabinet members were afraid to speak frankly at meetings, lest their views became known to newspapers.

At one point, it was suggested the RCMP be called in to plug the leaks, she said.

She said she supports a warning by Prime Minister Trudeau to his cabinet ministers that leaks to the news media will not be tolerated.

election. That gave the campaigners only three weeks.

Mr. Cox won at each of the 32 polls except the one at the Veterans' Hospital. There, the count was 28 for Mr. Pollen, 23 for Mr. Cox and 13 for Mrs. Yarwood.

NOT ONE

Polling Division 22, which generally was the Uplands, did not return Mrs. Yarwood a single vote.

The turnout at the 32 polling stations was far below that of the 1966 election. On Monday, 39.5 per cent of the 22,536 eligible voters went to the polls, compared with a turnout of 76.83 per cent in the previous election.

Compared to that of his Social Credit opponent, Mr. Cox ran a quiet campaign that was directed more at the premier and what he called the "big green machine" than at any single aspect of the government.

MONEY SENT

He claimed Mr. Bennett sent money and troops into the riding to capture it for Social Credit.

Mr. Pollen denied suggestions of massive support from the outside. But he put on one of the most vigorous mailing and sign campaigns of any election in the area.

Mr. Pollen also raised most of the policy issues and had the support of such well-known figures as George Chatterton, who was defeated as Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal election.

Liberals Take Two Seats, NDP One

Credit mounted major campaigns and put up outstanding candidates, yet had still lost by a larger margin than in the 1966 provincial general election, said Mr. Williams.

'OUT OF TOUCH'

"The provincial Liberal organization takes this as a rejection of the premier and his policies and a clear indication that this Social Credit government is out of touch with the voting public," he said.

The urban Oak Bay and North Vancouver ridings were won by the Liberals by larger margins than in 1966. Mr. Brousson, a 48-year-old electrical engineer, had a majority of 2,474 over his closest opponent, Socred Peter Robinson, whereas former provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault won North Vancouver-Capilano in 1966 by 2,450.

BIG SPREAD

In Oak Bay, Mr. Cox built up the largest winning margin—3,205 votes—ever recorded in the riding since its formation in 1941. He polled 7,877 votes, compared to 4,671 for Socred candidate Peter Pollen.

In Revelstoke-Slocan, 38-year-old locomotive fireman, Mr. King, had 2,432 votes to Socred Burton Campbell's 2,267, a margin of 165 votes after 55 of 58 polls had been counted. An upset appeared unlikely because the outstanding polls have few voters.

In 1966, Randolph Harding won the Interior riding by only 135 votes over the same Socred candidate.

GRIT WAKE

In the wake of the Liberal victories there was, inevitably, talk of a carryover of Trudeaumania. However, while the party increased its share of a smaller turnout of voters in Oak Bay and North Vancouver, it did little to improve its position in the Revelstoke riding.

This prompted Mr. Bennett to comment that the Liberals won "in two of their three little pockets of strength—the other one being in Point Grey." The Liberals have no strength in the rural areas and the NDP has proved once more it has a limited appeal to urban voters and by its narrow margin of victory left doubt in many minds that it can win in the interior.

BOUQUETS GIVEN

The premier congratulated the winners and said he didn't want to take anything away from them. He added: "I would liked to have won one seat but it's always difficult for the government to win byelections, particularly when they are held in opposition ridings."

Mr. Bennett said the byelection's results ensure that the legislature will be a good one "with a strong government and an opposition that should make itself heard." He added the only reason the opposition MLAs resigned these seats to create byelections was that they knew them to be safe.

'MOST BRUTAL'

Mr. Strachan, however, accused the premier of "most brutal" treatment of voters in all three constituencies where byelections were held Monday.

"The premier threatened voters in each of these ridings with dire consequences unless they supported Socred candidates," the NDP leader said. "This exposed the panic that is gripping this government.

"I would say that today's byelection results, added to the Socred loss to the NDP in Vancouver South, indicated that in the next provincial general elections, when they have an opportunity to select a new government, more people than ever will vote against Social Credit."

Mr. Strachan said the election in Revelstoke-Slocan was an "up-and-down" struggle, hard fought throughout, which featured "tub-thumping by the premier that surpassed even the 1966 provincial general election campaign."

He added the premier had used language to describe the NDP which he termed "unbelievable" yet had failed in his attempt to prevent New Democrats from picking up one seat in the series of byelections.

'VERY CONFIDENT'

"I'm very satisfied with the results of these byelections — and very confident about the future," Mr. Strachan said.

In North Vancouver, Mr. Perrault said the Liberals would be an alternative to Social Credit in a future election. He added: "The premier called these byelections when he thought he would have maximum political advantage for himself . . . and he has been singularly unsuccessful."

Driver Fined

Mr. Livingstone was fined $250 and his driver's licence suspended for three months.

Diphtheria Case Causes Concern

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — City health officials, fearing a diphtheria epidemic, will carry out a crash program to immunize 1,300 children at a city swimming pool today.

Grain Talks

WINNIPEG (CP) — Negotiators for Lakehead terminal elevators and 1,300 grain handlers have agreed to meet in Port Arthur in their first face-to-face bargaining session since May 24.

Talks Broken

The key wage issue was expected to get a thorough airing for the first time in the dispute. Negotiations between the parties, which began about Feb. 1 and broke off April 24, never touched wages.

The council applied for establishment of a conciliation board. It was appointed and submitted a 10,000-word report Wednesday that made no wage rejected it and called a strike recommendation. The council for 2 a.m. PDT. Thursday.

Adding urgency to Monday's talks was a statement by postal union leaders that it will take at least two days, possibly three, to call off the strike if a settlement is reached.

The council would have to telegraph its locals, of which there are some 600, with the settlement package. The locals would conduct secret-ballot votes on acceptance or rejection and the results would be telegraphed back here and the totals tallied.

The council has been seeking a flat 75-cent-an-hour wage increase. Applied to postal clerks now earning a maximum of $2.75 an hour, this increase amounts to 27.2 per cent. Applied to all categories, the increase would range from 26.1 per cent to 39.1.

The treasury board has branded the council's wage demands "unreasonable." It said in a statement Sunday that if the council accepted the conciliation board report and made "significant adjustment" to earlier wage and job classification demands, "the board will move quickly to wage negotiation."

As well as higher wages, the council is seeking improvement in working conditions.

NDP Rebels Introduce Informality

TORONTO (CP) — Precedent was established in the Ontario legislature Monday when a rebellion by nine members of the New Democratic Party led to approval for members taking off their jackets except on formal occasions.

The nine appeared after the luncheon recess in shirt sleeves, protesting that "actions, not dress," are important in conducting public business in the stifling-hot legislative chamber.

The members voted approval of a compromise proposed by John White (PC—London South) that shirt-sleeves be allowed when the legislature is in committee of the whole, but jackets be required on more formal occasions when the Speaker is in the chair and the mace is on the table.

In this connection, Maj.-Gen. Vaclav Prchlik, a top Czechoslovak defence offical, was quoted as saying during a Prague press conference restricted to Czechoslovak journalists that his country will seek a revison of the Warsaw pact that would prevent members from forming blocs within the alliance.

Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin attended the Warsaw conference, which was originally expected to end Sunday.

COMMON LETTER DIRECTED

A PAP communique said the delegates exchanged information "on the situation in their countries and the development of events in Czechoslovakia and directed a common letter to the Central Committee of the Communist party of Czechoslovakia."

They were reported to have "turned particular attention to the activization of aggressive imperialist forces aiming by subversion at undermining the Socialist (Communist) system in various countries and weakening the alliance ties linking Socialist states."

Although Czechoslovakia was not mentioned by name in this passage, it seemed certain that country was meant.

The communique said there was an exchange of views on the "most important problems of the international situation." The absence of a statement that there was agreement suggested there was some disagreement on the issues.

Political analysts speculated that Hungary, which has represented a softer line on the liberalization process in Czechoslovakia, may have opposed the tougher stands of the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany and Bulgaria.

Coinciding with the end of the summit meeting, a top Czechoslovak defence official said on Prague television that the Soviet Union would delay by five more days the departure of a large contingent of its troops from Czechoslovakia, arriving at the Soviet border July 21 instead of July 16.

The Czech news agency had said earlier that Soviet units involved in Warsaw pact manoeuvres in Czechoslovakia last month resumed their departure during the night for Poland and East Germany.

Skipped Heartbeats Serious When Occurring Too Often

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: The other night I was frightened when my heart beat normally for about a minute, then gave a hard beat, and then skipped a beat.

This continued for about 20 minutes. I had experienced skipped beats before, but never that long.

Can this occur when one is extremely tired, or is it caused by gas, or by high blood pressure? — A.C.

These skipped beats, which actually are extra beats, or extra systoles, may or may not be serious. Ordinarily they are not, but if they continue, and especially if they increase in frequency, an examination and electrocardiogram are in order.

What happens is that the heart gives an extra beat, which is followed by a brief but noticeable pause. Instead of a regular thump, thump, thump, the heart goes thump, thump, thump and a short pause.

Being tired can cause it. So, certainly, can nerves. Excessive coffee, tea, or tobacco can do it. So can an overactive thyroid.

A change in position sometimes causes it. Certain stimulating drugs and high blood pressure also can be involved.

All some patients need is a reassurance — but the doctor cannot honestly reassure a patient until he has examined him and can say that in that particular case the irregularity is not the result of some faulty heart condition. For occasionally — not often, but occasionally — it is a sign that the heart needs attention.

If the periods of extra beats increase in frequency or duration, see your physician.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is 83 and when he smells strong odors such as paint, gasoline, shoe polish, and so on, he says it makes him sick. He thinks it affects his lungs. I would appreciate your view on the subject. — Mrs. D.E.

Call it an eccentricity. Odors do bother some people, but merely the smell — as opposed to deep inhalation of fumes — of such substances is not harmful. The best suggestion I can make is to try to reassure him that his lungs are not being harmed.

I would suspect that somehow he has acquired such a fear, and what he really needs is to be gently told — probably repeatedly — that the odors can't hurt him.

Nanaimo Helps Lacrosse

New Industry Starts On Reserve

NANAIMO — A new home industry for Indian women has started on Nanaimo reserve which may replace the famous Cowichan sweaters as a main income source.

The women are finding they are a "natural" for lacing lacrosse sticks. Their long experience of weaving and knitting Indian sweaters is helping them to cope with intertwining the heavy leather thongs.

It is no easy job. The work demands patience, skill, dexterity — and a strong hand.

SMALL SLITS

A scalpel is used to make small slits in the thongs and a wooden awl enlarges the slits. The thongs are woven onto the sticks in an intricate woven pattern. About 18 feet of leather is used for each stick, plus an additional 11 feet of rawhide gut.

There appears to be a big demand for lacrosse sticks — sufficient, some believe, to keep the women busy for years.

There is a plan underway to train some women on the job after which they will be able to continue in their homes and teach others.

The first five are attending courses in the old schoolhouse on the reserve. This is their second week and already most have learned the art.

FULL SUPPORT

Jim Cole, the Indian affairs employment officer at Nanaimo, has given full support to the project. His department will subsidize up to 50 per cent of the wages for a maximum period of six months.

He has a secret formula for glass fibre lacrosse sticks which has been tested and proved over three years.

The stick, the first of its kind in Canada, has been approved by the B.C. Lacrosse Association. Mr. Stevens says the glass fibre sticks are superior to wooden sticks because they are strong and last longer.

Lacrosse Offers New Industry

Mrs. Elaine Wyse, left, and Mrs. Hannah White, both of Nanaimo Indian reserve work on lacrosse sticks. Officials hope that new industry will provide a major source of income for Indian women and special classes on stringing sticks are being held in old schoolhouse on reserve. Eventually the women will be working at home and teaching others.—(Agnes Flett)

Funeral Monday

DUNCAN — Charles Harold Bell has died in Cowichan District Hospital, aged 88. Born in Ontario, he moved to Regina, Sask., in 1903 where he homesteaded.

Mr. Bell went to Prince Albert, Sask., in 1906 where he logged and prepared railroad ties. Later he did construction carpentry work.

Services were at Hirst Funeral Chapel, Monday at 1:30 p.m. followed by interment in Mountain View cemetery.

Crash Sends Car Flying

NANAIMO — Spectacular car accident on Nanaimo's George Pearson bridge Saturday morning resulted in minor injuries and extensive vehicle damage.

A car driven by Terry Kelly, 19, of 212B Haliburton Street was in collision with a Californian vehicle.

RCMP said Mr. Kelly's car smashed through a guard rail following the crash, flew 70 feet into the air, and came to rest in front of the Civic Arena.

He is in the Nanaimo Regional Hospital with cuts and bruises. The Californian couple were not injured.

Firms Merge

No Permits

Last year's June building permits amounted to $101,300. Six-month totals for 1967 and 1968 are $333,045 and $358,825.

Rock Hounds Show Work

DUNCAN — A total of 47 different varieties of petrified wood were some of the items on display Saturday at the Cowichan Valley Forest Museum.

The display was sponsored by the Cowichan Valley Rock Hounds, who have been active in the district for the past seven years. The organization has about 30 members.

Visitors at the museum were able to see a 98-pound piece of colorful rhodonite, a local rock, and displays of rough rock material, fossils and rock jewelry.

Also on display is the machinery which the Rock Hounds use in preparing their specimens. The machines include a tumbler, saw, grinder and polisher.

Earl Jacques, of Duncan, gave demonstrations on how the machinery works, and Sunday he was ready again to tumble, saw, grind and polish different varieties of rock for interested spectators.

★ ★ ★

Behind the displays are murals. Three depict the dinosaur age, panning for gold, and how the Chinese carried jade out of British Columbia rivers.

Two others portray grafts on rock-forming minerals and types of rock.

Youth Fined $30

LADYSMITH — Nineteen-year-old Allen O. Swartz of Ladysmith had his licence suspended for 14 days, and a $30 fine levied after he pleaded guilty to a charge of unnecessary tire squealing.

He was checked by police June 29 on Symonds Street, Ladysmith. Swartz also paid a voluntary penalty of $25 for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Operating a boat over 26 feet, and under 40 feet, without lifejackets cost Charles Herbert Lumley, 45, of Ladysmith, $25.

Police said he was recently checked when his boat was occupied by three persons.

He was fined an additional $25 for being the owner of a boat with a motor of more than 10 horse power without markings on the outside of his craft.

He pleaded guilty to both offences.

Salt Spring Crash

Three Escape Car Blaze

FULFORD—Three people were rescued from a wrecked car on the Fulford-Ganges highway Sunday, seconds before the vehicle burst into flames.

The car, driven by Hanning Saterno, 19, of Parks Drive, Ganges, had been travelling south when it left the road, hit a ditch, and rolled over twice. There were two passengers, Miss Merilee Sawyer, 18, and Fred Hall, 22, both of Ganges.

★ ★ ★

Two Fulford men, Roger Hughes of Burgoyne Bay and C. M. Gatley of Ganges saw the accident and helped the three from the car before it caught fire.

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Gatley called the fire brigade, police and ambulance.

Mr. Saterno's injures included a broken collarbone. Miss Sawyer sustained lacerations and slight shock and Mr. Hall received facial lacerations.

They were taken to Lady Minto Hospital where Mr. Saterno and Miss Sawyer stayed for treatment. Mr. Hall was discharged after being treated.

Victorious Durante Leaves Silently

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI — Successful Liberal candidate Richard Durante slipped quietly into Port Alberni late Saturday, and slipped away again Sunday without any of the fanfare or celebrations which many Liberal supporters had hoped to arrange for him.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Durante has been attending summer school at UBC, working toward his Master's Degree in education.

He says he hopes to finish this year's seven-week course before he has to leave for Ottawa.

Mr. Durante gained the Comox-Alberni seat after a judicial recount gave him a majority of nine votes over long-time NDP incumbent Tom Barnett.

Mr. Durante said he took time only to make a prepared statement for press and radio, and attend briefly to business matters, before dashing out to visit his family who are on vacation at the family's summer Island hideaway.

There he relaxed with his wife, Bernita, and two children, Mark, 15 and Nadine, six.

By early Sunday evening, he was on his way back to UBC where a heavy course of studies waits for him.

In his statement, Mr. Durante thanked his supporters, and praised his campaign workers.

He congratulated his opponents for the clean campaign they waged, free of the mud-slinging which, he said, so often mars a federal election.

"I hope I will never let anyone in Comox-Alberni riding down" Mr. Durante continued. "Once a member has been elected, party lines must cease, and that member must be truly representative of all in his constituency.

"This I promise I will do."

Although he has been elected, Mr. Durante said he has every intention of continuing his efforts for his Master's Degree.

★ ★ ★

"When the other members are on vacation, I'll be here at summer school," he said in a telephone interview from Robson House on the UBC campus.

"Most members of parliament feel free to take four or five weeks to enjoy a summer holiday during the summer months when the house is not in session.

"I shall, of course, visit the continuency during this time, but I don't believe my constituents can object if I choose to spend the time that other MP's spend on vacation at work at summer school." He has been the principal of Eighth Avenue elementary school, where he is responsible for 700 pupils and about 23 teachers. His resignation was given to the school board Monday.

Mr. Durante said that while he was delighted by the result of the judicial recount, he was not surprised in the usual sense of the word.

"In an election, no one should ever assume they have lost when such a few votes separate the contenders. We went into the judicial recount almost tied, and a very close margin either way was inevitable" he said.

★ ★ ★

While Mr. Durante was a hard man to locate over the weekend, he says he has plans for keeping in constant touch with the constituency once he begins the actual work of being an MP through regular reports to local press and radio.

Nanaimo Told

Health Unit Needs Staff Help

NANAIMO — City council was urged Monday to petition the provincial government for more staff for the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit.

The plea was made by Ald. Ted. Jenkinson who said that there should be one nurse for every 875 children. That meant there should be 35 nurses, where now there were only 33.

He pointed out that there should also be one public health inspector for every 35,000 people in the area, giving the unit five. Now there were only four.

Ald. Jenkinson said the unit is the second largest in the province.

All the inspections needed in the vast unit are not being carried out by the board of health because of staff shortages he said.

Aldermen endorsed a resolution from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities urging continuation of the winter works incentive program for not less than five years.

The resolution is to be sent to local members of Parliament, Prime Minister Trudeau and the minster of manpower and immigration.

Jenkinson

CRASH PROGRAM

Mayor Frank Ney reminded council that in the past 10 years, Nanaimo had received over $1,000,000 under the program. He advocated "a crash winter works program this year for new boulevards and the beautification of the main street.

"We must pull out all the stops and get all the grants we can for our community."

Ald. Sandy MacKay successful urged council to ask the provincial liquor board to allow Nanaimo liquor stores to remain open until 11 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

"If we are going to promote our city to the tourists, this should be a service we should ask for," he said.

NO GRANT

Council is to tell Nanaimo Neurological and Cerebral Palsy Association that it cannot make a grant to cover the association's property tax payment for 1968.

The decision followed a finance committee recommendation.

Ald. Gertrude Hall said council's chief request was "that our civic purse is not so large as our sympathy."

Council has approved a recommendation from the streets and storm drains committee to allow a private company to erect benches on Nanaimo's streets.

The benches will not cost council anything and will bear advertisements.

The company will provide 12 in the first year.

The areas of Departure Bay, Wellington, Northfield and Harewood will vote July 31 on continuation of the present bus service.

Ald. Hall urged that the buses should be kept limping along until the regional district can review the service.

Ald. MacKay said the buses would carry meters to record the amount of money collected, passengers, and milage to help determine their future.

Cook's Course

Honors Go To Indian

NANAIMO — For the first time in the history of Nanaimo Vocational School, an Indian graduate has walked off with top honors in his class.

He is Bill White, of Nanaimo Indian Reserve who has named outstanding graduate during the school's graduating dinner Saturday.

'LEARNED MUCH'

Mr. Cooper said he had learned a great deal from his relations with the native people.

"While they don't say too much, they're the most communicative people I've ever met in my life. I learned a great deal from them," he said.

Mr. Cooper said that vocational training is not yet fully appreciated by Canadians.

"What has been accomplished by these young people tonight is real. These people have produced a memorable occasion, and have been justifiably honored."

"Vocational training is vital to education. It's measurable. There is instant assessment."

It sent him a congratulatory message saying "This honor . . that has come to one of our members . . . is a moral victory for the Indians of Southern Vancouver Island Federation.

HIS ADVICE

Mr. White has definite advice for the young people of his band.

"They should try to finish high school like I did," he said.

"If I could do it . . . I know they could. But they all seem to be dropping out.

CALGARY JOB

"They are influenced by the older boys of our band who left school some years ago and are working and making good money. They persuade teenage boys to quit school. It's too bad."

Mr. White said he could never have won top honors at the vocational school if he had not finished high school.

Smiles Of Success

Proud mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Roy George congratulate Bill White of Nanaimo Indian Band who has won coveted trophy in cook's course at Nanaimo Vocational Training School. Mr. White, who is first Indian to gain top honors at school, will keep smaller trophy and have his name inscribed on large one. He led a class of eight students to win trophy. Awards were presented to him during graduating dinner Saturday.

Artist Will Stage Two-Week Show

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Painter Mrs. Herbert Hammond is in the midst of preparing for her two-week show at the Silverbridge Inn starting Sunday.

Some of her paintings may not appeal to the general public, but painting to please is not Mrs. Hammond's intention.

NO PRETTY PICTURES

She said: "I don't paint for other people. I don't try to paint pretty pictures."

"I am interested in everything not only one line.

"The more I do, the more I realize how much there is to learn.

"I feel about things and I want to say something about them.

"Naturally, it is wonderful to sell because then I know I got my message across to someone."

She describes an artist as a person who wants to create "a tiny bit of life," and in the process, absorbs the things that matter.

Mrs. Hammond said: "As an artist you are more aware of color, form and of other people's feeling.

DISAPPEARING GOAL

"I cannot paint pictures on commission.

"I must paint as I see it or it is no longer my picture."

She said to paint is a continuous drive to reach a goal which sometimes seems to disappear in the distance. That in turn produces the urge to surge ahead and yet it never can be reached.

NOT EASY

"I don't think to be an artist is easy. It is a lonely road.

"I can see my limitations in myself. I feel so often that I cannot create what I want to create and I am never really satisfied.

"I am always searching and experimenting, and I think art is a way of life."

While her landscapes and interiors express her deep conviction in a never-ending struggle to hold a fleeting glimpse of "the tiny bit of life," her portraits unveil the sincerity of human faces.

Mother of three girls, Margaret, 20, Dana, 18, and Lucy, 14, Mrs. Hammond still likes to paint children's portraits.

ART GROUP

"I have always been interested in painting, but not until 14 years ago did I really start to work." She then lived at Crofton with her architect husband and met three painters, Eloise Kearney, G. T. Sharp and Mrs. Trousdell.

The quartet eventually became the nucleus of the Crofton Art Group which is still very active, producing two shows every year in the Duncan and Crofton areas.

FORMER MAYOR

While Mrs. Kearney, who now lives in the U.S., helped Mrs. Hammond to start, two other painters Arnold Burrell of Duncan and Jack Wildinson of Victoria advanced her training.

Born at Sooke, Mrs. Hammond is related to well-known Victoria families. On her father's side she is related to the Gillespie family and her mother is the former Nelly Todd, a member of the family that produced one of Victoria's mayors.

Speaking of her husband, Mrs. Hammond said: "he has been giving me all the encouragement. He puts up with all the mess.

Port Alberni

Garbage Dump Poses Riddle for Aldermen

PORT ALBERNI — It's a bit embarrassing when a city as pollution-control minded as Port Alberni has to admit it has a pollution problem all of its own.

Ald. George McKnight, an active anti-pollutionist for many years, and chairman of the city's health and welfare committee, has had the garbage problem dumped in his lap.

Not literally, but close enough to be objectionable, he admitted

McKnight

Closure of the old Port Alberni city dump had caused a double load on the Nanaimo highway dump, located in the former Alberni area. Ten days of exceptionally hot weather hasn't helped the problem.

It was never city council's intention to use the former Alberni dump for the whole city. Council plans to move the garbage dump to a landfill location, considered to be a more effective and efficient form of garbage disposal.

"We plan to act with all possible dispatch," said Ald. McKnight. "However, only household garbage can be disposed of by landfill methods. Wood and brush will still have to be burned.

New Equipment Sought By Cumberland Hospital

COURTENAY — Comox-Strathcona regional district board has dealt with three hospital items.

A request from Cumberland General Hospital for new and replacement equipment for various sections of the hospital amounted to $34,954, less government grants of $10,802.

The request was referred to the hospital advisory committee for study.

The advisory committee recommended to the regional board that presentations from Gold River and St. Joseph's General Hospital for third floor completion should be dealt with following regional survey.

The board agreed to review the two items when the survey is completed.

An equipment request from Campbell River and District General Hospital was tabled until similar requests from other hospitals have been received by the board.

Cowichan Wins

VANCOUVER (CP) — A dugout canoe representing the Cowichan Bay tribe Sunday won the three-mile Stanley Park canoe race during Indian Day at the Vancouver Sea Festival.

The 11-man canoe was skippered by Herman Henry and beat six other entries to win the Chief August Khatsahlano trophy.

Second place went to the Vancouver Musqueam Reserve canoe skippered by Ernie Campbel and third place was won by the Burrard Reserve team led by Chief John George.

A canoe piloted by Robert Davis of Lummi, Wash., was fourth followed by the North Vancouver-Squamish Reserve. Sixth was an entry from Neah Bay, Wash., followed by the Salish Tribe entry from Nanaimo.

The program included a salmon barbecue, lacrosse game, and a performance by the Nanaimo masked dancers. The sea festival ends Monday.

Beauty Pageant Set for Sunday

CAMPBELL RIVER — Fred Wood, chairman of the Miss Campbell River contest committee, reports that plans are well in hand for the annual beauty pageant.

It will be held in the junior secondary school auditorium Sunday.

The contest is sponsored by Campbell River Royal Canadian Legion, and will include an evening's entertainment by local artists.

Tanker Sold For Scrap

PORTLAND (AP) — The tanker Mandoil II, one of two ships that caught fire at sea after a collision Feb. 28, was sold for scrap Monday for $53,000.

N. W. Kennedy, owner of N. W. Kennedy Ltd., Vancouver, made the winning offer for the vessel which is anchored off Nootka Sound, Vancouver Island.

Curtis Cuttsford, Portland lawyer who conducted the sale for the tanker's owner, said before title could be transferred, a settlement had to be made with Island Tug and Barge Co., which has filed suit for towing and salvage charges.

Zidell, Explorations, Inc., Portland, bid $52,000 and Leonard Snitzer, Portland scrap steel dealer, made a $46,000 offer which he said was for a Japanese firm. A $46,000 bid was made by H. Yasunago of Mi Smi Co., Vancouver.

Teacher Goes Abroad

Principal John A. Young, whose ideas on education have created considerable comment, has left on a summer teaching assignment that will take him around the world.

Mr. Young will participate in Project Overseas, sponsored by the Canadian Teachers' Federation, which assists underdeveloped countries in organizing and developing their educational programs.

He will spend a month in Sarawak, North Borneo, where he taught school from 1957 to 1960 as the first Canadian teacher sent overseas under the Colombo Plan.

Socred Setback Their Cue

Four Mayors in Wings Of B.C. Political Stage

By JOHN MATTERS

Political metamorphoses of four Greater Victoria mayors could be a sequel of the byelections Monday in British Columbia.

It has been widely rumored in the past two months that Hugh Curtis, Hugh Stephen, Ray Bryant and J. B. Cumming all have their sights on the provincial legislature.

All they now are awaiting is one or two signs that Social Credit is on the skids. If that is indicated in the results from the three byelections, the mayors would be the local Liberal candidates in the next provincial election.

* * *

By the time the next provincial election rolls around, and even if it's two or three years away, it is unlikely there will be any tangible relief to the hospital bed shortage. The Liberals see a ready-made election issue in this.

It does not come as a surprise that Hugh Curtis would accept a provincial Liberal nomination — he indicated in late April that one day he would consider moving out of municipal politics.

However, it is unlikely he will be the candidate in Saanich and The Islands, the riding which overlaps most of his Saanich municipal jurisdiction. Instead, he would be running in one of the two seats in Victoria.

The Liberals want him in Victoria because they see him as a politician with more appeal to the urban than the rural voter.

Some party spokesmen expect his background as the mayor of Vancouver Island's largest municipality would arouse the suspicions of people on the northern end of Saanich peninsula and the Gulf Islands.

The party instead would leave that territory to J. B. Cumming, the mayor of North Saanich.

He is gaining a reputation as a skilled campaigner — especially since he overcame a slate that rose up against him in last December's municipal election — and a solid party worker.

However, at least two of the prospective candidates have indicated there must be a reasonable chance of sitting on the government side of the Legislature before they would let their names stand.

Machine Shines on Elk-Beaver Lake

Weed Killer Hailed

By DON GAIN

The Dugong 58 may look like a floating bedstead surmounted by an old cream separator and pushing a hay-mower, but actually it's the answer to an expensive and frustrating problem — the clearing of weeds from Elk-Beaver Lake, Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis said Saturday.

ONE CHANNEL

"It's cleared the channel between Elk and Beaver already," the mayor said. "It was impassable last summer, even in a boat, let alone by swimmers. Outboards would have been badly fouled."

The machine was bought by the Regional District Board and, while its primary purpose is for use on Elk-Beaver Lake, it will be available to other municipalities, said Mayor Curtis, who is also chairman of the regional board.

TOUGH GRIND

While the machine is propelled slowly through the water, the cutter lops off weeds at a depth of five feet, in a swath eight feet across. The weeds catch on gates at the side and are cleaned off at the beach. They will probably make good compost material, according to Mayor Curtis.

The history of underwater weed control in Elk-Beaver Lake has been expensive, frustrating and ineffective, he said.

"Laterly, chemicals were used with an annual expenditure of $2,500 to $3,000," Mayor Curtis said. "This was generally unsatisfactory because it didn't really do the job on the weeds."

In a detailed study, Saanich design engineer Frank Neate urged that a more effective way of clearing the weeds be sought. Word of Dugong 58 was received along with convincing testimonials, and purchase was arranged.

The machine is well named, after a swimming mammal of the East Indian seas which browses on submarine pastures of seaweed.

Atlantic Trip Missed But Not Banquets

Oak Bay's national quiz champions may have missed a chance at international fame, but they have earned places of honor at two banquets.

They will be dined and praised by the provincial government and the Greater Victoria school board.

The champions — Jim Dempsey, Robert McDougall, Bruce Izard and Chris Odgers — won the CBC's quick-recall television quiz Reach for the Top a week ago at Vancouver, in competition that involved teams from all provinces. The four boys, all 17, just graduated from Oak Bay senior high school.

A storm of protest followed the CBC's admission that three teams from Eastern Canada had been picked in advance for an international meet.

The network has since announced that it plans to send the Oak Bay boys on a separate trip to Singapore, most likely in the fall.

In the meantime, Premier Bennett has announced that the province will honor the team at a dinner. The date has not been set.

No-Turn Still Ignored

No left turn signs have recently been sprinkled around the city to speed up traffic. They are on Government, at View and Blanshard, at Quadra and Hillside, and at Douglas and Hillside.

City traffic patrolmen are issuing six to eight tickets a day to motorists who make the turns during the forbidden hours of 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. Monday to Friday.

Insp. Richard Berry said: "We spent weeks warning people about these signs. They have had ample opportunity to become familiar with them, but the violations continue."

For Strike

Postal Curb Today

OTTAWA (CP)—The post office department has announced an embargo on all first-class mail for out-of-town destinations effective at 5 p.m. local time today.

In an announcement Monday, the department said that in view of the nationwide postal strike threatened for 2 a.m. PDT Thursday, embargoes will go into effect today on all classes of mail.

The embargo on second, third and fourth class mail is effective at noon local time, five hours earlier than the first-class embargo.

Second, third and fourth class mail consists mainly of newspapers, magazines, other printed matter, and parcel post. The embargo on newspapers will not be imposed until 5 p.m. local time.

"As the embargoes will affect mail to and from other countries, as well as Canadian mail, arrangements will be made with other postal administrations for the necessary co-operation in the curtailment of their despatches to Canada," the statement said.

COX VICTOR IN OAK BAY

By JOHN MATTERS

Mr. Cox won easily over Social Crediter Peter Pollen and Mrs. Myra Yarwood, the NDP's entry.

The results of the byelection in the urban riding did not alter its political allegiance of the past 16 years.

The premier, whose capital residence is in the riding, called on Oak Bay voters during the campaign to at last send someone to the legislature who would not be a government critic. The response was clearly negative.

WIDER MARGIN

His predecessor, Alan Macfarlane, who resigned the seat for an appointment to the British Columbia Supreme Court, was elected with a majority of 54 per cent in the September, 1966, provincial election.

"I'm either two years behind my time or two years ahead of it," said Mr. Pollen, who reiterated a statement he made frequently during the campaign — the Liberals could fragment the political right and thus help bring into being an NDP government.

EVOLUTION BELIEF

"I believe in evolution rather than revolution. It will be an unstable political scene in B.C. if the trend continues."

Mr. Pollen also criticized The Daily Colonist for not involving itself in the byelection "in the depth you should have." The newspaper published only one editorial on the topic and "I think a responsible newspaper should have got much deeper into the thing but you weren't into it at all."

NET RESULT

Mr. Cox said the results showed the people of Oak Bay and North Vancouver-Capilano ridings were not accepting Premier Bennett's invitation to add to the government's Legislature strength.

"The Liberal support seems to be increasing," said the 40-year-old corporation lawyer, who resigned as Oak Bay's reeve last December.

Mrs. Yarwood said Mr. Cox's victory, even from the early returns, appeared undisputed. In the 1966 provincial election, she received 976 votes.

TWO OTHERS

She had hoped for more support this time but "that will have to wait until the next election."

The Oak Bay byelection, like the two others on the Mainland, had scarcely any momentum until after the June 25 federal

'Government Remains Strong'

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

The Liberals and New Democratic Party beat back a determined bid by Premier Bennett Monday night to win at least one of three provincial byelections — making the government score none for four at the polls so far in 1968.

The closest race was in Revelstoke-Slocan where William King won a narrow victory for the NDP. Liberals Allan Cox in Oak Bay and David Brousson in North Vancouver Capilano won handily to retain these two for their party.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan, in a telephone interview from Revelstoke, said when Monday's voting was considered together with the NDP victory in the Vancouver South seat previously held by the government last May 21, it spells major trouble for Social Credit.

STILL STRONG

Premier Bennett, speaking from Kelowna, said the government remains strong with 32 seats in the 55-seat legislature to 17 for the NDP and six for the Liberals. He noted the NDP made a poor showing in both urban ridings where Social Credit ran second to the Liberals and in Revelstoke-Slocan the New Democrat won by only a narrow margin.

The premier repeated his earlier statement that there would be no provincial general election in 1968 and added that he felt such a statement added stability to the province. He said he knew of no further provincial byelections that might be coming up.

FURTHER PROOF

Out of Warsaw Summit

Red Letter Day for Prague

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four of its East European allies wound up a summit meeting here Monday by drafting a letter to their Czechoslovak counterparts, whose liberal movement has caused them concern.

The Polish news agency PAP announced the formulation of the letter to Prague without disclosing what it said.

However the participants—from the Soviet Union, Poland, Bulgaria, Hungary and East Germany—had publicly expressed fear that the Czechoslovak party leadership was losing control of the democratization process.

TELEVISION ADDRESS

(In Bucharest, the Romanian news agency Agerpress carried a report of a speech by party leader Nicolai Ceausescu in which he endorsed the Czechoslovakian liberalization drive, wishing the Czechs "all success from the bottom of our hearts." Ceausescu said there could be no justification for intervention "to bring Czechoslovakia on a particular Socialist road.")

TROOPS CAUSE CONCERN

The continued presence of these troops—part of 5,000 Russians committed to the manoeuvres—had caused concern among some Czechoslovaks.

The troops began leaving Saturday, but then the movement halted. Official Czechoslovak news media said the interruption was because of heavy weekend traffic. But the delay

Lippe

Talks Break Off, Walkout Certain

OTTAWA (CP) — Efforts to prevent a nationwide postal strike Thursday appeared doomed early today when government negotiators broke off last-minute bargaining talks through the services of a mediator with union officials.

A government spokesman told reporters that treasury board representative will return to their suite at a midtown hotel later today to resume efforts to avert what now seems an almost certain countrywide walkout at 2 a.m. PDT Thursday.

These were the developments in the dispute Monday:

● Judge Rene Lippe, a crack labor mediator, re-entered the dispute as the personal representative of Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board.

● The 24,000-member Council of Postal Union and treasury board, which represents the government, sent their negotiators to separate rooms at the Skyline Hotel to allow Judge Lippe to flit between the parties in an effort to resolve their differences.

Bill Paying Pedestrian Affair

Runners, Wires Carry Load

Victorians will have to play the postal strike by ear if it comes to pass, according to information gathered Monday by the Colonist.

At least one bank has stopped sending mail to customers. Urgent information will have to be phoned. Bank-to-bank mail will be handled by bank messengers.

Businesses which have accounts payable in other towns may arrange for customers to make deposits in branch banks. The banks can then transfer the money by phone or by wire.

A CPR telegraph spokesman said business would probably double.

Other businessmen said they would just have to wait and see what happened.

"We'll probably have to play it by ear," said Gordon Dunaway of A. W. Jones Insurance Service Ltd. "It's a case of goodwill. We'll do our best to make sure people with new automobile insurance policies are looked after. We're not expecting any problems."

A lot of people are going to be taking to their feet to pay bills they usually mail.

Water bills are out for this month. Victoria city comptroller James Bradley said Monday. If the strike goes on, he said residents would be expected to bring their payments to city hall. If this isn't possible, water won't be cut off, he said.

B.C. Hydro and B.C. Telephone bills can be paid at their offices and at pay stations in various stores.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., (CP) — Secret information leaked from former Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet "like a sieve," Judy LaMarsh said in an interview Monday.

Miss LaMarsh, former Liberal secretary of state, said cabinet members were afraid to speak frankly at meetings, lest their views became known to newspapers.

At one point, it was suggested the RCMP be called in to plug the leaks, she said.

She said she supports a warning by Prime Minister Trudeau to his cabinet ministers that leaks to the news media will not be tolerated.
